Stones, Bricks and Dirks Brought Into Play.

More Trouble Is Expected Before the Summer Season Is Ended.

Waltham, Mass., May 1 .- A typical Italian melee occurred yesterday afternoon at the big Cambridge water basis now in process of construction in the back part of this city. Primarily it was caused by one Italian asking another for a chew of tobacco, which was refused The two men began to fight, and in less time than it takes to tell it, several of the friends of each contestant joined Stones and bricks began to fly about, and the dangerous dirk knife was brought into play several times. The fight had hardly got fairly under way however, when Officer Harry Newis o the Cambridge police happened along and arrested four men, whom he too in a wagon to the Waltham police sta tion, where they spent the night.

City Physician Hoyt was called and Francis Fedirico and sewed up a deep gash on the head of Geuippi Iavasile The man who is supposed to have used the knife on Fedirico is Donato Gag liaiclo, while Pasquale Catone is held or the charge of inflictng the wound on the head of Iavasile. Neither of the wound are of a serious nature.

More than 1500 Italians are now em ployed at the water basin, and this num ber will soon be increased to more than 2000. The Waltham police expect that before the warm season is over there be serious trouble in that neighborhood

Chinamen In Big Fight.

Boston, May 1.-The Lea Lea compan of New York, the new Chinese laundr company, has opened its fight again the Six Companies of San Francisco, the concern supposed to control nearly al the laundries in the country. Alrea has been made here, and a bigger cu with a Chinese mission here, says the fight means a demoralization of the laundry business for the old concern at least. A Queer Law.

Providence, May 1. - A remarkable legal complication was brought to ligh in the legislature yesterday. It comunder the new laws adopted Feb. 1, and in effect is that a man sentenced to county jail for non-payment of a fine practically sentenced to life imprison ment, because there is no provision for his working out the amount of the fir in yesterday's incident it was shown that a man fined on Feb. 1 for keeping as unlicensed dog was still serving sentence with no prospect of being released. The legislature voted to release him and or dered the amendment of the new laws. Schoolboys On Trial.

Ellsworth, Me., May 1 .- The Otis manslaughter case came up for hearing yes-terday. Last October, Harry Salisbury and Daniel Young, two schoolboys of Otis, quarreled with John Jordan, and, according to several witnesses, Jordan attacked Young and then turned to Salisbury, who struck Jordan a blow on the head with a stick. The next day Jordan died. Counsel for defense argue that the blow was struck in self defense Several witnesses testified to the quar relsome nature of Jordan and the good reputation of Salisbury.

Police Acted Promptly.

Providence, May 1.-The ringing of the burglar alarm at the jewelry store of James A. Foster & Co., at 10:30 o'clock last night, an hour after the store closed, stirred up the police. The evidence be ing that a man had been shut up in the store, and afterward gotten out, caused an investigation, followed, half an hour after the alarm, by the arrest of Timothy Tyrrell, a former porter in the store, at his home, and the recovery of a large quantity of watches, diamonds, mone and jewelry.

College Oratorical Contest.

Boston, May 1.-The Fulton Debating society of Boston college held its seventh annual debate last night. The question, "Could arbitration be made a substitute for war?" gave opportunity for varied argument, and the four speakers did excellent work. The debaters were W. J. Hasson and L. J. Potts on the affirmative and F. J. Carney and M. J. Splaine for the negative. The gold medal was awarded to Splaine.

The Coolidge bill also makes provision for an investigation of the affairs of a company by a commission of policy holders to be appointed by the governor. This was what Commissioner Merrill so strongly opposed at the last hearing, and was the main topic at this hearing. The policy holders evidently means business, however, for Mr. Coolidge said that if the legislature did not provide for an investigation by a policy holders' committee, the men who are back of him would exhaust their resources to accomplish their purposes. There is another hearing today.

McKinley the Expressed Preference of Republicans of Illinois.

Reed's Managers Disturbed by the McKinley Gains.

Brice's Prophecy Bids Fair to Be Fulfilled at the Chicago Convention.

Springfield, Ills., May 1 .- McKinley is the choice of the Republicans of Illinois expenditure of the central observatory confor President of the United States. He was so declared by the state convention here yesterday. The contest was between the Republicans of the state who Ninety Per Cent. of all the people need believed that Senator Cullom should to take a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla at have been honored as the standard bearthis season to prevent that run-down condier in the presidential contest by the people of this state on the one hand, and the Republicans who favored Mr. McKinley Hood's Pills are purely vegetable and on the other. As soon as Cullom's name was mentioned, there was enthusiastic cheering from his friends and followers. But when the amendment substituting more about Annuities, please the name of McKinley for that of Cullom was offered, the outburst of applaus was simply tremendous. From this time, Senator Cullom's friends gave up teria and heart hope. They saw nothing could stop trouble, fainting

Personally, I have no fault to find. Some months ago, when the conditions seemed such that my friends believed it would be advantageous to Illinois to have my name presented as a candidate at St. Louis, I left the matter in their hands. My public duties have kept me constantly in Washington, and I have made no canvass. The preference which the Republicans of the state have shown will be faithfully carried out in the national convention. If Major McKinley should be nominated, it is because of the popular belief that he most thoroughly typifies those cardinal #### points of the Republican party which are embodied in our platform. AT WASHINGTON.

Reed Men Are Downcast While Democrats Gain Courage,

Washington, May 1 .- The result in Vermont, although not a surprise, is very disheartening to the Reed managers here. Representative Powers of that state was some days ago summoned home by an alarm that only radical action could save the state. Although chairman of the Pacific railroad committee, now very husy, Powers went home to make a losing fight.

Smalley, the Democratic magnate of the state, said some months ago that Vermont Republicans were invariably for the man they thought would win. They were originally Harrison men in 1888, and they want to be in line this time There is a practical value of being on the winning side, which Vermonters appreciate. Grosvenor's recent interview. in which he declared that McKinley's financial views would not be revised to suit Vermont when the great majority of delegates now to be elected were from the west, exhibited an unwarranted

Although Speaker Reed will doubtless be the first man upon whom the McKinley opposition will seek to combine, the impression prevails here that no candidate, except one who can detach some of McKinley's own strength, would be able to muster a majority against him. McKinley is the second choice of so many favorite son delegates that the outlook for a combination on any one wholly outside of McKinley lines is not now so hopeful. The 192 delegates yet to be chosen may change materially the outlook, however. Representative Hooker's conversion to McKinley is a considerable disappointment to the speaker's friends. Hooker was originally a strong Reed man, and was given the post of chairman of the river and harbor committee over Binger Hermann, the ranking member. This fact contributed largely Joseph T. French, to Hermann's defeat for renomination and now Hooker declares his preferences much elated, said: "This means that my prediction of the triumph of the sound money men at Chicago will come true. Wiser counsels are prevailing in the party, and when the national convention meets there will be no danger of a free silver platform."

Another verification of Brice's proph ecy is found in the attitude of Elliot G. Stevenson, first delegate-at-large. Until Wednesday, Stevenson had been in-Cars are due at Beale street, Wollaston, ten minutes after leaving Neponset and seven minutes after leaving Quincy.

Brice's prediction of the way the responsibility of a national declaration would affect life-long free silverites.

Senator Jones of Arkansas, who is running the campaign to control the Chicago convention for silver, was much downcast as the bulletins came in, and was able to extract comfort only from the narrow margin of 58 votes in a total of 800 by which the administration people had the convention.

Don M. Dickinson wins great applause for the outcome. He has held the sound money forces together, and by skilful management controlled the convention A telegram to the president from Dickinson three days ago gave notice that the convention would be all right, but the same authority has so frequently be fore jumped to happy conclusions which the sequel events did not justify, that his news was somewhat discounted.

Makes Another Characteristic Attack on the Administration.

He Turns a Hot Battery of Words Upon Hill.

Colloquies Between the Two Senators Made a Rather Lively Session.

Washington, May 2.- The debate in the senate yesterday was of a dramatic and sensational character, recalling the famous Ingalls-Vorhees contest of some years ago. Senator Tillman of South Carolina again brought his unique personality into the debate, his speech being the first of any length since his memprable maiden effort attacking public officials high and low. While he spoke the silver pitchfork presented to him in the west was conspicuously displayed or his scarf. The senator used the blunt words characteristic of his utterance arraigning the president and cabinet offiers with unsparing criticism and per sonal invective. Senator Tillman frank ly declared that if the senate would give him a chance to vote for a bill for building any number of battleships and gunboats, with the proviso that they should be paid for by the issue of greenbacks, he would vote for it.

"Now," he added, "I am going to follow the example of some of the senators who have had the bad taste to inject into this debate their views on finance and the tariff, and I am going to take up and answer some of the recent utter ances of senators and others. We are told that there is no law against the president's issuing bonds whenever h wanted to. Is this true? Is there an law that authorizes the president to hocus-pocus, and bamboozle and fool about so as to blind the eyes of the peo ple to what he is doing? I don't believ it, though some of these gentlemen say

Mr. Tillman went on to abuse the ad ministration in his characteristic style As he grew more warm in his work, h dissected the bids on the recent bone issue, to show that the states which con tained mostly common people mad small subscriptions, while those which contained the great capitalists made nearly the whole bid, New York offering $450,000,000 of the $551,000,000 offered You, gentlemen," he said, turning to Senator Hill and others, "are making a sectional issue of this thing, and I wan you to remember what a sectional issue led to a few years ago. Oh, I know whereof I speak. I know the west as well as the south, and I tell you that in the states west of the Mississippi, ther is more deep-seated hatred of New Yor and Wall street than there ever wa against the south in the war times. know how the agricultural interests fee about these things. You will drive then through starvation to bloodshed, and then may the blood be on your own head not on mine.

Goods received daily. Correct styles and This is what is coming of the policy of Grover Cleveland, who vetoes a bill giving a miserable pittance to a few poor tramps who were once Union soldiers and then turns around and gives $10,000, 000 to one Jew."

The senator drew a comparison be ween Andrew Jackson and Grove Cleveland. One was the man of the people, he said. "but Cleveland stands as the tool of the classes," he declared, addmoney, the almighty dollar. The president had no policy, he went on, except the policy of the senator from Ohio (Sherman).

"If Grover Cleveland," he shouted with an emphasis that fairly made the chamber ring, "ever goes before the peo ple again he can bear on his brow the eulogy of the senator from Ohio (Sherman), who declared on the floor of this chamber that the president had simply done his duty. They are linked together Grover Cleveland, John Sherman and John Carlisle are affinites. The question is, will the people be so damnably oolish as to trust him again." The senator added that the Democracy could not win in the coming election. If the farmers could be fooled into voting that ticket any longer let them do it. "And what will I do?" the senator asked of himself, and then answered, "I expect to go to Chicago as a delegate. xpect to try to get my party to throits rottenness. If we have to bid goodby to New York and Tammany I may shed a few tears, but if they succeeded in buying a few more delegates—as ! understand they did in Michigan the other day-so as to be able to endorse Grover Cleveland and sound money, then I am going to take my hat and bid the senator from New York and all like him a long farewell. Where I'll go I don't know. I can't go to Populism. Populism is only an explosion of wrath. The Populists tried too much and sputtered themselves on the wall." The senator declared that the Democracy was on its final trial. If it did not pronounce for Filver at Chicago, it was gone forever. "We may not beat you this year," he continued, "it would be marvelous if a disorganized mass held together by any idea could defeat at the polls a welldisciplined, compact organization. backed by money. But, so help me God we will serve notice on you that our slogan is 'America for Americans; to hell with Britain and her Tories.' If we don't defeat you this year we will serve notice that we will interest you in 1900." With these words Mr. Tillman threv his arms up in the air with a gesture as if to say: "I am done," walked over

breath, Mr. Hill took the floor. At the outset, Mr. Hill characterized Mr. Tillman's speech as a "Remarkable performance," and expressed doubt as to Call and see some whether he did not err in making any response at all to anything that had been said. He, however, assured the senate that he should not go into all the questions raised by Mr. Tillman, but should Prices to suit every confine himself to some of the gratuitous, uncalled for and undignified remarks

"of his friend who loved him." "The senator has denied here today that he was a Populist," Mr. Hill proceeded. "Let me say to him that what he said leads on the straight road to Populism or (after a pause) to some worse place." As to what the Demoeratic party would do at Chicago, Mr. Hill declined to make a prediction, in view of the rapidity with which events were at present marching. As to Mr. Tillman's statement that he (Hill) no

TILLMAN HAS HIS SAY, songer spoke for New York, he admitted smilingly, that that might be true. He recalled the fact that previous to 1893, New York had remained in the Democratic column for eight years. But in 1892, he said, state after state instructed for Grover Cleveland and free silver over the protest of the regular Democracy of New York. Despite the serious reverses the Democracy had since s stained, he announced that in sunshine or in shadow. in weal or woe, he would be for the Demceratic party, and would support the nominee no matter what the platform might be. This announcement was greeted with a marked demonstration of approval from the galleries.

Mr. Tillman broke in at this point to say that if there was a split in the Democratic party at Chicago, as there was at Charleston in 1860, it would be because northern states are hopelessly Republican, as Pennsylvania would seek to control the policy of the party and give it poison under the name of Democracy. "Do you contend that while congress is in session, charged with the duty of raising revenue, that the president has the right to take matters into his own hands?" inquired Mr. Tillman.

"I don't come from a state where the executive believes in taking the law into his own hands," returned Mr. Hill. This seemed a hard one for Mr. Tillman, and he sat down, but Mr. Stewart (Nev.) rushed to his rescue, and asked permission to propound a question. "No! no! said Mr. Hill, waving him off. "I draw the line at the senator from Nevada." The galleries, and even the senators on beidjin. On his accession he was for the floor, roared with laughter, and Mr. Stewart, who evidently was very angry, insisted on his repeating Mr. Tillman's question and then answering it, saying that the executive had no right to raise

Mr. Hill agreed with him, contending, however, that the president had a perfect right to issue bonds to protect the gold reserve Mr. Tillman interrupted to say that when a private citizen used another's funds it was called stealing. Now what right had the presidnt to take money raised for one purpose and use it for another? "Perhaps the New York senaor can understand that, but you can't get it into the head of a farmer. "I would despair after the senator's exhibition here," replied Mr. Hill, "to get anything into his head." Called Down.

The colloquies had come so fast, Mr. Tillman rising and taking his seat alternately, that the presiding officer, Mr Frye, rapped loudly with the gavel and called attention to the rule providing that no senator should interrupt in debate until first addressing the presiding officer and securing the permission of the senator having the floor, whereat Mr. Tillman apologized.

Mr. Hill went on, but within a minute was again interrupted by Mr. Tillman, netwithstanding the warnings of the chair, while senators and spectators roared. Mr. Hill turned his attention to Mr. Tillman's statement as to quitting the Democratic party, and said the essential principle of the Democratic party was its recognition of the rule of the majority. "The South Carolina senator declares he will go to the Chicago convention. I suppose the senator, like a true Democrat, will abide by the decrees of the convention. If he goes there with any other idea," exclaimed Mr. Hill, with ringing vehemence, "he ought not to be admitted, and he will not be admitted." Mr. Tillman interrupted, this time securing the permission of the chair. He said the Democratic party had split once before, and in his judgment it was going Mr. Stewart interrupted, and Mr. Hill at first objected. Mr. Tillman pleaded for Mr. Stewart, saying the latter had hispered his question to him. When Mr. Hill declined to yield Mr. Stewart with feeling, remarked: "It's well for "Since you threaten, I'll yield," said Mr.

Mr. Stewart's question as to Mr. Hill being the defender of the administration lasted about 10 minutes. At its close Mr. Hill convulsed his hearers by inquiring: "Do you mean to say you whispered all that to the senator from South Caro-

Mr. Hill went on to say that as "Democratic linen is being washed, we better | fled. have it out," and he spoke of his association with the administration. It was not true that he was its defender.

Replying to a remark of Mr. Allen (Pop., Neb.), Mr. Hill asserted that the Populists of Kentucky could have elected Blackburn, but there, as here they peddled out their votes first to one party, then to the other.

Mr. Allen resented this insinuation. In answer to Mr. Hill, as to what would keep him in the Democratic party. Mr. Tillman said: "Sixteen to one, or bust." "Then you will bust," returned Mr. Hill, contemptuously. "The idea of a great political party being founded on

Mr. Hill protested against the reckless attacks on the president, the dragging in of minor pension vetoes, merely to express personal venom. "In my judgment he is not a candidate for renomination. The national convention will assemble in a few weeks. Let us prepare ourselves against the common enemy, instead of quareling among our-

POLITICAL FIGURES.

Seventy-Six More Votes Will Practically Give the Nomination to McKinley.

Wahington, May 2.-William McKinley has surprised even his own sup- ! porters, and added greatly to his chances for gaining the Republican presidential nomination, by capturing the Illinois delegation-at-large. Senator Cullom's success in controlling the organization of the state convention and the results of the first day's session led to a general belief that the delegates to St. Louis would be sent without instructions. The Republicans of the First Vermont district endorsed McKinley, and he also won instructed delegations in three Michigan districts. These and the Illinois success made a material change in the total of McKinley's vote at St. Louis, and his adherents are confident that their effect will be very marked in his favor in the conventions still to be held. As the figures now stand McKinley has 379 votes, or only 76 less than the number necessary to nominate. As the Illinois convention has declared for Mc-Kinley, it may be that Senator Cullom's name will not be presented in the na-

Unexpected Verdict In the Case of the New Hampshire Doctor.

The Respondent Did Not Go Upon the Stand.

Sentence Is Reserved and Bail Furnished In the Sum of $10,000.

Nashua, N. H., May 2.-The Dr. Moore trial was ended yesterday.

Roger G. Sullivan told how he received the 20 shares in October, 1893, and had no recollection as to when he returned them to Dr. Moore. No. 111 was a purthase outright, so far as he was concerned. There was no talk of an exchange. He held the other as collateral. The only certificate he held was issued to Dr. Moore and endorsed by him in blank. He received it the day he received the

The state rested and Dr. Moore and his counsel withdrew for consultation. After the state's counsel returned, the defense decided to cross-examine Mrs McElroy as to certain signatures. She testified that No. 111 was filled out by Mr. Kelly, a clerk of the Union Publishing company.

Then the hope of securing Dr. Moore on the stand was destroyed. Mr. Streeter said: "The respondent rests and will go to the jury on the case as put in." The argument then followed, counse agreeing on the usual time. General

Burns made the plea for the defense Dr. Moore was found guilty by th jury in the afternoon at 3:40 o'clock, and was remanded for sentence. Judge Wallace said, in view of numer ous exceptions raised during the trial, conia and Frank Davis of Canterbury were accepted as bondsmen. The ver agreement or acquittal being looked for

YALE IS HAPPY.

Came Out Ahead In the Debate With Harvard Orators.

New Haven, May 2.-There is unrestrained jubilation in this city over the victory won by the sons of Eli in the annual debating contest between Harvard and Yale last evening. In the seven pre vious debates between the two rivals Harvard invariably downed her op ponent, and has often had an easy time in the forensic struggle. The debate last evening, however, was one of the most closely contested in which the Crimson and Blue have ever participated. The Yale boys did not deliver any set and memorized arguments, but depended upon their ability to spontaneously combat any arguments pre sented by Harvard. On the other hand. the latter confined themselves to the course of argument they had prepared and did not manifest the ease or contro of the subject of their opponents. The judges were less than three minutes in arriving at a decision

The subject was: "Resolved. That : permanent court of arbitration should be established between Great Britain and the United States."

Harvard had the affirmative, and Yale the negative. The debaters were: Harvard-Frank R. Steward, A. M. Sayre and W. B. Parker; Yale-R. S. Baldwin, W. H. Clark and A. P. Stokes The judges were: Elihu Root of New York, Walter H. Page, editor of The

Compromising Telegrams Produced In Court

Expose Plans Arranged by Chartered Company and Reformers.

London. May 1.-It would be difficult to overestimate the sensation which has been caused in England by the publication of the substance of the telegrams and documents which have come into the possession of the authorities of the South African republic. The Times, in an editorial on the subject, says: It is impossible to ignore the gravity of the conclusion to which the published telegrams point. They establish beyond the possibility of a doubt that Hon. Cecil Rhodes, the then premier of Cape Colony; Mr. Alfred Beit, a director in the British South Africa company, and Mr. Rutherford Harris, secretary of the British South Africa company, were privy to the movement against Johannesburg. and that the leaders of the movement counted upon their help and countenance must be taken to prove that Mr. Rhodes approved the revolution, which was inspired in Johannesburg, but nothing in the correspondence goes to show that Dr. Jameson under the circumstance: under which it eventually occurred, was his approval. The Times' editorial article then proceeds to justify Mr. Rhodes for consenting to an armed force on the frontier, on the ground that it was a foregone con clusion that in several years an attempt to obtain a redress of Uitlander grievances by force might be necessary. conclusion, The Times says: Nobody will seriously blame Mr. Rhodes for regarding this movement without disfavor, but his position as premier should but it could not have justified, the part right. Reply to Lionel Phillips." he played.

The Times has a dispatch from Paris Pretoria, which says: The government has found among the papers of Lionei Phillips, president of the Johannesburg "Harris, Cape Town, Dec. 23, to Jame-Chamber of Mines, a letter bearing date of July 1, 1894, to a London financier, proving that during a visit to Johannes burg, Sir Henry Broughman Loch, the governor and high commissioner of Cape Colony, asked Mr. Phillips whether Johannesburg could hold out for six days. and what arms she possessed, and that he offered to spin out the Sweziland conenable Johannesburg to prepare, and night." then to bring troops for an invasion of the Transvaal.

A Pretoria dispatch to The Daily Telegraph gives the substance of an interview held with President Kruger, in which he said that he had scratched the death sentence at once, to show that after the law had been vindicated there was n personal feeling on the part of himself or the government. The executive council would find difficulty, he thought, in classifying the offenders, with whom they intend to deal on the principle of a great numbers were exchanged between the four reform committee leaders already mentioned at Johannesburg, and Cecil Rhodes, then premier at Cape Colony, and Rutherford Harris, secretary of the British Chartered South Africa company at Cape Town, and Dr. Jametween Dec. 7 and Dec. 31, when the raiders were being organized and actually in, movement. Their contents, although in guarded language, evidently referred to the intended invasion of the terriitory of the Transvaal. The raid was alluded to under such expressions as "shareholdrs' meeting," "floating company," etc.

Mr. Hammond, it seems to be clearly established, played an active part in the preparations for the Transvaal force, although it is difficult to see how he could have done otherwise, being the confidential employe and friend of Cecil Rhodes, and apparently only attending, possibly too zealously, to the interests of his employer.

In one case, for instance, it is shown that Hammond was instructed by Dr. Jameson to "inform weak partners" that 'any delay would be injurious." Further telegrams submitted in evidence show that Dr. Jameson was urgently instructed to start the raid at midnight, Saturday, Dec. 28, and was enjoined to "keep the telegraph silent," as it was suspected the Transvaal was "getting wind" of 'he affair.

Other telegrams produced in court show that the British Chartered South Africa company was the actual authority for the raid. They refer to getting arms and ammunition from the De Beers mines, where they had been previously secretly stored.

At the last moment, however, a hitch seems to have occurred, and dispatches were sent to Dr. Jameson telling him to postpone the floatation," owing to the difficulties experienced in getting Cecil Rhodes to absolutely pledge that the authority of the imperial government need not be insisted upon in order to cross the Hammond, evidently, was among those who were opposed to any breach of the law, for a telegram from him was produced, dated Dec. 27, in which he condemned any further developments of the contemplated movement. Subsequent dispatches exchanged between the various people interested in the raid show that it looks very much as if Dr. Jameson cut the telegraph wires so as not to receive any further messages throwing Kruger had really "got wind" of the affair and succeeded in intercepting the messages or that "Dr. Jim" willfully disregarded the instructions sent him to postpone the raid and crossed the border on his own responsibility.

Previous to crossing the border, the raiders had been drilled with the Lee-the Chartered company, and preparations had been made to support the raiders with other forces from Cape Colony, but the hasty action of Dr. Jameson up-The Jameson Raid Was the Result of set the plans Additional testimony showed that on Dec. 28 the Uitlanders of Johannesburg were arming and making other preparations to receive Dr. Jameson, all steps being taken under the direction of the reform committee. Colonel Rhodes, at the Goldfield company, soffices, on Dec. 28, curtly told a representatives of the Boers, who called upon him for an explanation as to what was going on, that they, the Uitlanders, had brought the country into a flourishing condition by means of their capital and enterprise, and that it was "hard to be governed by a lot of stupid Boers."

The colonel is also said to have admitted that the reform committee had asked Dr. Jameson to come to Johannesburg to protect them. The text of the telegrams produced in court at the trial of the reformers was published later yesterday, and caused a decided sensation among the burghers who have been using their influence with the president in order to obtain elemency for the prisoners. The following are a few samples of this wire correspondence: "Chartered, Cape Town, Dec. 7, to Meline's Policy.

Paris, May 1.—At the opening of the It has been proved that telegrams in chamber of deputies yesterday, M. Meline, the new premier, read a statement, in which the government recog nizes the preponderance of the chamber of deputies, but affirms that it is impossible to govern without the senate M. Meline said that the government desired to pursue a pacifying policy, and son, when the latter was at Pitsani, be- appeal to the good will of the Republican majority for a settlement of urgent questions, as the best means of preventing the spread of revolutionary doctrines. Continuing, the premier said that the government would not fail in its duty to enforce respect for the laws and maintain public order. M. Meline concluded with adjuring parliament no to raise irritating questions, in the interest of France, who, he asserted, thirsted for peace and tranquility.

Cleveland, May 1.-The old struggle with the Society of Christian Endeavor influence came up yesterday in the meeting of the board of control of the Epworth league, and lasted until adjournment. A report recommending that the Epworth league enter into certain co-operative work with the Christian Endeavor society was submitted by a committee which had been appointed to confer with Christian Endeavor representatives on the subject. After a long and warm debate, the report was rejected, and a resolution adopted pledging the fullest and most fraternal co-operation in all Christian work with the Christian Endeavor and all other young people' societies, and hailing with delight the growing spirit of fraternity and antici pating the future federation of all evangelical young people's societies.

Wife Wanted to Follow Him.

Denver, May 1.-Robert Campbell, aged 40, committed suicide by shooting himself through the heart at his residence here yesterday. He was despondent on account of having lost practically all his possessions in mining stock speculations and in the fire at Cripple Creek. He was recently considered worth $100,000. The widow attempted to shoot herself after discovering the act of her husband, but was restrained.

Goff May Have to Go.

New York. May 1.-The antiquated office of recorder, now filled by John W. Goff, will, it is stated, be wiped out when the commissioners frame the laws for the government of the Greater New York. The title recorder will nowhere be found in the consolidated bill, and dampers on the scheme, that President | the judicial functions Mr. Goff now exercises will devolve on a judge elected to the general sessions bench.

Strike Order Ignored.

Philadelphia, May 1.—The strike of the motormen and conductors of the Union Traction company nominally went into effect at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, but Metford rifles, the weapon adopted by failed. Nearly all the cars are running.

This is fastened in position so that part of the manufacturers are a unit in papers drew lots for the privilege of its lower end just crosses the center of saying that business is not what it should

Several causes are given for the condition of trade. One that it is Presidential year, and business is always dull then, but the main reason is that people who want monuments do not want to pay what they are sent out all over Quincy to be figured contal with its spear in front, and if it on and every manufacturer desiring to comes across another kite it will spear keep his men at work will figure as close as possible, and as a result the profit is much smaller than several years ago, when there were not as many firms to

Then again when an order is taken, in many cases, the manufacturers must wait for their money, and the result is that modern kite flying: To fly tandem kites | when the regular pay day comes around | which fly perfectly, and then to have an work to raise money enough to pay off

However, the manufacturers are not all discouraged, and while they all agree that business is quiet at present they also are of the opinion that there is to be a decided change for the better in the near future.

Last Sunday forenoon the Boulevard was crowded with cyclists, at whom the think it far pleasanter to be flying along under cloud'ess skies of a spring day than shut up within stone walls. For a long time the preachers have had formidable rivals in the Sunday newspapers. Now they have more dangerous Catarrh ones in the wheels. It is estimated that there are 300,000 riders in the city and vicinity. Allowing five feet for each rider, this army would extend 71 miles if they were to ride four abreast. JOSEPH RUSSELL.

Spaniards on the Defensive, Waiting For Something to Occur.

Habana, May 4.-General Bernal has been summarily relieved from his command and ordered to report in Habana. Presumably this is due to the fact that General Bernal and his column were not on hand to co-operate with General Ynclan in his engagement with Maceo at Cararajicaras.

Maximo Gomez, the rebel commander in-chief, has already begun his march for the western part of Cuba, the New York Herald correspondent in Sanct Spiritus writes. He says: "It is hoped here that General Carillo will take a large force from the Orient. General Maximo Gomez, whom I left five days ago, is in good health. He is pleased at the outlook, and has appoint ed as chief of the operations in Sancti Spiritus by the First brigade of the first division, Jose Miguel Gomez, who is familiar with the territory.

"The first operation ordered by the new general was undertaken by a small force of cavalry under Tella Salchez, a brothe of Serafin. Between Arroya Blanco and Fort Elespejo they met a company of Spanish at close quarters. They dis charged their rifles, and rushed upon the foe with machetes. Lieutenant Sants Lucia and 15 soldiers were killed, five prisoners were taken, but they were re leased. Rifles, revolvers and 2000 cart ridges were captured. Several of the Spanish soldiers escaped to the fort wounded. Only one insurgent wa

"In Remedios, where I stayed for 31 months, the Spanish troops stick to thei fort, rarely leaving it, although the weather is fine and the enemy near. Sancti Spiritus nearly the same condi tion prevails. Spanish remain on the defensive, hoping for something to occur believe the war will soon end. Spain i said to be poverty stricken.

"All is dull in Camaguey, which only n und r General Gomez. From the ets obtai d. I think a safe estimate of the insurgents should give 100,000 in camp, 30,000 well armed and 70,000 having machetes and revolvers, but no much ammunition, as it is hard work t get it. A filibustering expedition, led by Braulio Pena, has landed in Camaguey.'

Latest From Buluwayo.

London, May 4.—The Daily Telegraph has a dispatch from Buluwayo which re ports an interview with F. C. Selous He believes that the natives will retire north, and that it will be difficult to follow them through the thick forests He expects that there will be big danger ous guerrilla fighting in the Matopp hills. "The Matabeles must be punished, says Mr. Selous, "and examples made them before any peace proposals are en tertained. Otherwise, it will be quit unsafe for the whites for many years The outlook, therefore, is still seriou the field of operations being unlimited A dispatch from Palapye to The Timsays: Trustworthy natives report that two white outlaws, named Dixon and Grobber, are assisting the Matabeles i their operations. King Khampan, th friendly chief, believes that the Mata beles are divided in their counsels, and will, therefore, not make a concerted attack on Buluwayo. His scouts re port that the Matabeles are likely to re tire to the Zambesi before the arrival of the relief column at Buluwayo. King Khampan complains that his people are ruined by the famine and the death or their cattle. This is true, and on that account the authorities ought to prepare measures of relief.

A Grand Display. Buda-Pesth, May 4.—Ceremonies attendant upon the millennial celebration were held yesterday. Emperor Francis Joseph and Empress Elizabeth, the members of the court, the diplomat. and a large number of aristocratic personages attended a solemn thanksgiv ing at the Mathias cathedral, making the most brilliant spectacle seen in Austria-Hungary since the coronation of the emperor. The procession through the streets was a brilliant pageant. Many of the equipages had been made especially for this parade, and were splendid with gilt and color. The Hun garian ladies who rode in them wore the national festival costume, with high laced bodice, an apron and a veil fixed with a diadem. Primate Cardinal Vaszary delivered an eloquent address to the emperor in the cathedral.

Boston, May 4 .- The new Tremont Temple, the largest and most magnificent Baptist house of worship in New England, was thronged all day yesterday and last evening, it being the opening of the week of dedication. In the course of his dedicatory sermon, the pastor, Rev. Dr. George C. Lorimer, announced that the building and appointments had cost $510,000, and this, with the value of the land upon which the temple was erected, brought the value of the property to over $1,000,000. The service opened with a doxology, followed by the invocation, which was asked by Rev. Dr. William Howe. Dr. Lorimer then led in a responsive reading, entitled. 'God and His Temple." Rev. A. J. Rowland, D.D., of Philadelphia, read Psalm cxxxii. The statement of the chairman of the building committee was read, after which Rev. J. N. Murdock made the dedicatory prayer. #### PROTECTION UPPERMOST.

The Literary Club Debate Free Trade

and Protection and Favor Latter. At the weekly meeting of the South Quincy Literary club, May 1, "Free Trade vs. Protection" was very warmly debated, Mr. A. Grassick led for protection confining the issue to this country. Mr. Grassick contended that, in order to prevent wages, and incomes generally, from reaching a point below what is necessary to maintain comfort and decency among our people, it is necessary to raise the price of foreign products, before they are allowed into the markets of this country. Subscription Price, $6.00 per Year. Without this shield the condition of the A Discount of $1 when paid in ad- American people would, in a short time, be as miserable as those of European nations. Bearing out his argument Mr. Grassick pointed to the effect on our woollen industries, etc., under the late system of reduced tariffs. To maintain our social and material superiority we must exclude as far as possible all foreign products produced at starvation wages, and also The Braintree Observer, cease to admit into this country all who would be content to live in the state of equalor from which they had just emerged. Mr. A. M. Craig followed with a word for free trade. In substance Mr. Craig said it was not fair or reasonable to speak of free-trade as a theory, considering it The week has started in with warmer was in practical operation among us every weather than last week, the temperature at day. We do talk of protection and its noon Sunday being 24 degrees higher, and benefits, but in our individual affairs we today the mercury is at 82. Below is the demand nothing short of unrestricted exchange, and, in that, we find profit and satisfaction. The fundamental law of freedom applies as forcibly to trade as to anything else, and why we should seek to set up restrictions in the way of exchange between individuals or nations in something which has not been very clearly explained. No doubt, the price of a commodity can be so enhanced as to raise the exchange of commodities between man and meeting shortly to be held in Boston.

Republicans Have Begun to Figure on Who Shall Be Named.

McKinley Must Fight Hard, Say His Opponents.

Senator Proctor Frankly Speaks of Reed's Loss of Vermont's Delegates.

Washington, May 4.-Privately, nearly all of the politicians here admit that the campaign against McKinley has collapsed.

fact that most of the discussion now is as to the second place on the ticket, and that only southern and eastern names are mentioned. Governor Morton's name is frequently used, partly because his nomination would be a vindication for having been dropped four years ago, and it is believed his name would strengthen the ticket in the east. The McKinley men do not show any great enthusiasm for York is to furnish the vice president. Southern Republicans are talking of H.

Clay Evans of Tennessee as a recognition of that section, and the names of Governor Bradley of Kentucky and Governor Lowndes of Maryland are also mentioned. It has also been suggested that He had evidently attempted to descend, Senator Proctor of Vermont would round off the ticket very nicely.

The McKinley men say their candidate will be nominated by acclamation; the opposition still talks of keeping up the fight, of going to St Louis and contesting every inch of ground, and finally only yielding after the nomination has been made. The McKinley people say that if Mr. Reed and the other candidates are wise they will agree to the nomination being made by acclamation, as in this way they will be spared a good deal of humiliation.

It will be rather a sorry spectacle, say the McKinley boomers, to see McKinley get more than enough votes to nominate on the first ballot, with Reed, Allison, Bradley and a few more dividing between them a handful of votes, and which will emphasize more strongly than ever the difference between a genuine "spontaneous call" of the people and the manipulations of would-be political

But this kind of sugar-coated argument has not caught any flies yet. It McKinley gets the nomination, say the opposition, stubbornly, he must fight for it, and they declare that no attention will be paid to "spontaneous calls." From the McKinley side comes the

Reed will probably withdraw before the convention meets, but this suggestion is hotly resented by the speaker's supporters. They say he will not withdraw, and that he has no intention of so doing While there is not much fighting ground left, both sides are concentrating their forces on Indiana, where a pretty hot contest is going on. The McKinley men have counted upon the solid delega-tion from that state from the outset, and it has all along figured in General Grosvenor's estimates, but the opposition is and it is hoped that he will go into the

A Perilous Trip. Niagara Falls, May 4.-F. C. Heine, a Prussian, 50 years of age, in a canoe-shaped boat, 10 feet in length, yesterday sailed from the milling district through the hydraulic canal, out into the rapids, and over to within 300 feet of Goat island, then returned without any mishap whatever. The river was full of ice, and everybody thought Heine and his boat would get wedged in it and be carried over the falls. When within a stone's throw of Goat island the boat seemed to be wedged in a rock, and as it swung round and round with the current the 2000 spectators expected to see it overturned and Heine sent over the falls. After resting about 10 minutes he started on the return trip. This was slow work, and a painful suspense hung over the crowds that watched Heine. He finally gained his point, and passing the Niagara Falls paper mills drifted down again and slowly turned into the quiet waters of the canal.

Following we give a statement from a lady who went through three such operations. What was the good? We call it cruelty.

"For nearly eight years I suffered with headaches, spinal weakness, painful menstruations, faintness, dizziness, weakness of the stomach, nervousness and sharp pains darting through my whole system. I was doctoring all the time, and had three operations. I was completely discouraged, and with little faith I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken five bottles, and now find myself well. I feel it my duty to tell these facts, for I owe my life to the Vegetable Compound, and if 1 had only had faith before, I would have avoided those fearful and useless operations; let every woman take warning from me."-MRS. Lynn, Mass., May 4.-A row over a girl took place at 1 o'clock Sunday morning in the Armenian colony, and one of the participants received a serious wound The girl who was the occasion of the trouble was Viola Hamel. She was passing the night at an Armenian boarding house, and was playing on the plane when one of the Armenians became jealous, and he struck her. This was resented by another Armenian, and the men adjourned to the street to fight it out. Peter Charkna stabbed Martin Sayroyan in the side, inflicting a wound about an inch deep. Peter was arrested.

Finally Found Snug Harbor.

New Bedford, Mass., May 4.—Captain Texeira of the schooner John E. Shatford brings word from Brava, Cape Verde islands, that Captain Benson and several of the crew of the schooner Gracie Benson, recently reported as wrecked off Cacheu, west coast of Africa had arrived there. The wrecked party put in toward shore, but the hostile actions of the natives led them to cruise until they reached a settlement near Goree, where they landed and were well treated, and finally assisted to Brava.

Weymouth, Mass., May 4.-The drug stores and waiting rooms maintained dry soda fountains yesterday, in pursuance to the orders of the authorities. Scores of wheelmen passed through the town, but were unable to quench their thirst at the soda fountains, and thos who had forgotten to bring along a supply of the weed were obliged to defer smoking until they reached some other town. No cigars, no soda, no soft drinks of any kind was the order, and a majority of the dealers lived up to it.

Fatal Hotel Fire.

Cheshire, Mass., May 4.-In an at tempt to save property, Frank Welch last night lost his life in a fire that dam aged the Hoosac Valley hotel. Welch had been left in charge of the hotel b his brother, the proprietor. He rushe into the office, it is presumed, to save the books and money. When he did not re appear, firemen made their way in and found him badly burned and dead. The monetary loss by the fire was $1000. The origin is unknown.

Dwellings In Danger.

Bucksport, Me., May 4.—A flerce fores fire is raging near the town line, between Orland and Ellsworth. Already ove eight acres of valuable timber land have been burned over. Several dwellin houses are in great danger. A crew of 70 men has been sent to fight the flames Already the flames have destroyed thou sands of dollars worth of property.

ESTATE IN A TANGLE,

No One Knows Who Are the Heirs of the Late John Stetson.

A Contest If All Was Left to His Wife.

Her Death Has Given Rise to Considerable Speculative Gossip.

Boston, May 5.-With the sudden death of Mrs. John Stetson yesterday trouble looms up for the Stetson estate The new Savoy hotel was closed summarily last night, the guests, with scarcely a moment's warning, being turned into the streets. The order to close came from Melvin O. Adams, who only a few days ago was selected by Mrs. Stetson herself as an auxiliary executor of the estate. There are serious difficulties in sight.

$1.00 At this moment it cannot be definitely stated who owns, who has an interes even, in the estate John Stetson left Not even the lawyers directly interested mow who owns the magnificent resience on Commonwealth avenue, near the Charlesgate and the fenway; the magnificent new Savoy hotel, standing on the old Globe theater site on Wash ington street; the beautiful summe home at Beverly; the profitable old Bos ton Job Print in Alden court, and the personal property, whatever and wher ver that may be. John Stetson left a will. That is certain. But it has not been probated yet Indoubtedly all the property Mr. Ste n owned-estimated to have a valu $2,500,000, but a shrinkable value-wa left to Mrs. Stetson. It is believed Mrs Stetson did not leave a will. Then what becomes of the property? Does it go to Mrs. Stetson's nearest relatives, or revert to John Stetson, Sr., an aged man, who lives quietly in Charlestown? Old Mr. Stetson has a daughter, an she, too, has an interest to protect. The there is a third person, whose claim, made, will have to be adjudicated before any valid opinion regarding it can b expressed. This person is a woman wh was very close to Mr. Stetson years ag and took a sympathetic interest in hi earlier career. She has a son, who ilso, feels an interst in the property.

It has been intimated that Mr. Stet on's will cannot be found. True it is that it has not been offered for probate or even read, but this is due to the fact that Mr. Pattee, Mr. Stetson's friend and lawyer, has been and even now is confined to his home by pneumonia. The will, a well-known lawyer says, is in the vaults of one of the local trust compan

A lawyer, who will be connected with the winding up or settlement of the Stetson estate, declares that if the will shows will be contested. When asked on what grounds, he said: "If Mrs. Stetson was to receive a life interest in the estate, he heirs have no more right than $5000 as dower, and the rest of the property will go to John Stetson, Sr. Then, if this woman and her son come along and can prove their interest, they will take everyeverything. But we shall have to wait for Mr. Pattee's recovery."

Mrs. Stetson died at her residence, 461 Commonwealth avenue, a little before 10 'clock yesterday morning. To those who knew her the announcement came as a surprise, as it was believed that she was out of danger. One who has been in almost constant attendance upon Mrs. Stetson told a reporter, however, that her sickness from the first was far more serious than was known to anyone except her physician and very near rela-

He was unable to find Lyall, however, and then went to the bank of Konkapot river, where he lay down and ate some food that he had induced a boy to bring him Meanwhile, news of the tragedy had spread, and a crowd of excited townspeople attempted to capture the murlerer, whose whereabouts had beer quickly learned. With his revolver, how-Eddy, America, Gurney, others; a big dis ever, he kept the crowd back. Great Barrington officers had been apprised of the murder, and Deputy Sheriffs Norton, Cropper and Douglass started for the scene with all possible haste Plant threatened to kill the first man who attempted to lay a hand on him but the officers closed in upon him, and eeing that capture was inevitable, he fired a bullet into his left side, fell to the ground and rolled down the bank into

> Deputy Sheriff Cropper, not knowing the nature of his wound, called to him to come out of the water, to which Plant replied, "I can't, I'm dead," and disappeared beneath the surface. When the deputy sheriff took him out a moment later he was, in truth, dead.

THE COMMITTEE after weeks of careful deliberation made but very few changes hour. in the annual appropriation order reported. They increased the total but $36. The only absent members. Managers of Public Burial Places asked for a separate appropriation of $200 for MILLINERY PARLORS foundations and it was instead added to the $4000 for cemeteries. The item of $2000 for miscellaneous fire expenses was increased $142 to provide for the new fire alarm boxes recently asked for, making the total for fire department just $19,700. polling place. The appropriation for street lights was increased $200 to $15,900, the $18,000 for streets, etc., was increased $300, and the sum for street watering to $4400. The item of $3000 for special police was reduced

The amount to be provided by the income and within the $12 limit is $237, 968.00, and to this is to be added $97,-822 65 for maturing debt and interest. Outside of this the water income provides for maintenance $14,500, and for interest on water debt, $29,110.00. If the order passes, the tax rate will probably be from $1 to $2 more than in 1895 with the natural increase in valuation.

City of the Dead.

The Mount Wollaston cemetery is very attractive. The plants and lawn are not quite so forward at this time, as in some other years, owing to the dry April, but are looking well. The plan the present superintendent has of doing away with the paths at the sides of the lots, and making six or eight lots in one large lawn is quite an improvement. It not only takes much less time to mow and take care of the lots, but the grass will keep greener and more attractive throughout the season. The Thayer----Adams Game Intensely Exciting.

The Braintree Boys Win by a Score of 18 to 17.

Both Sides Make Numerous Errors: Those of Adams Being Most Costly.

Adams and Thayer played the second in the championship series of ball games at Merrymount Park Monday. The game was an intensely exciting one and the finish was particularly close. The Adams boys had plenty of chances to pull the game out of the hole in which they allowed it to be deposited, but they seemed to prefer to let it stay there.

The object of the game seemed to be to see which side could make the most errors, and though Thayer succeeded in outdoing their opponents in this feature they were wiser in choosing their opportunities, and consequently came out ahead in the matter of making runs. The fall score, given below, will tell the works being stored in the building, and also about dynamite and ammunition, so that there were several stampedes in the immense crowds on reports about other explosions likely to follow. Several people were slightly hurt in these stampedes. The ground story of 432 Walnut street was occupied by A. G. Drach as a saloon. He owned that part of the building, and the other was owned by M. Goldsmith, and the first floor of the building at 430 Walnut street was also occupied by a saloon, run by Louis Fay. The upper floors of the fivestory building were occupied as flats. It is not known how many people were in the flats, or how many were in the saloon, but none escaped, as the building immediately collapsed. There was no fire to consume the debris and make certain death of all in the building, but the dust and dirt continued flying so although the police and firemen rallied

During the evening there was much excitement in the vicinity of Walnut street, which was the more intense be cause it could not be definitely learned for some time what caused the explosion. It was finally ascertained that the saloons in the building had put in the saloons in the building had put in their own electric plants for incandes. cent lights, and had just secured a gasoline engine with which to run the dynamo. The plant got out of fix, and there was a flash, which communicated to the gasoline and caused the explo

The firemen were soon assisted by some expert engineers, who made openings through the basement walls of adjacent buildings, and were recovering some of the victims in that manner Although all possible efforts were made to clear up the place, it is considered that it will be impossible to ascertain the loss of life before this afternoon. The loss in property is quite large.

John J. James of the Salt Lake City Herald was just leaving the Gibson House at the time of the explosion, and, with his heavy grip, was blown into the doorway of an adjoining store. He was knocked senseless. Nolan Davitt was walking along the street at the time of the explosion, and was blown under a street car and killed. Cal Grim, a detective, who worked up the evidence against Scott Jackson and Walling for the murder of Pearl Bryan, is among those known to have been in Drach's saloon at the time. He is now among the victims in the ruins.

As the night passed the scene about the wrecked building became more distressing then ever. Wemen whose husbands and sons had not reached home by 10 or 11 o'clock came down to Fountain square and filled up the space about the government building, where they were weeping and crying about their friends being in the wreckage. There were quite a number of men among these weeping ones. Several men felt confident that their sons were among the victims.

Dryness of the Ground In Southern States Retards Growth of Plants.

Boston, May 5. - The United States department of agriculture issues the following climate and crop service of the weather bureau for the New England section:

The weather for the week ending May 4, 1896, in New England, has been generally pleasant, but cool. Only light showers have fallen in any section, and while the condition of the ground is very favorable for work and the reception of seed on low lands and fields that are naturally wet and late, over much of our district the top of the ground is too dry and seeds fail to germinate as they should. Cool winds have prevailed and several nights have given white frosts; no damage of amount is reported from any section.

There is still some ice and snow in the woods in the north, but farm work has been pushed as fast as possible. In the south a great part of the seeding and considerable planting has been done. Fruit is just coming into bloom, and generally promises well.

Correspondents from Maine report pleasant days, but very frosty nights during the week. Grass starts very slowly, and a warm, copious rain is needed. Frost is still in the ground in many places. There has been little farming done except in sheltered and warm places. One correspondent in Kennebec county reports that the conditions are very favorable so far for the apple Plowing is going on rapidly in all the southern part of New Hampshire, and on intervales and lowlands the dry weather is a benefit, as the land can be worked much earlier than usual. On uplands i is too dry, and rain is needed before seeds will germinate. In the extreme north there is still considerable ice and snow in the woods. On the morning of May 1 ic formed to the thickness of one-quarte inch at West Milan, and the minimum thermometer registered 22 degrees Sharp frosts have been noted all over the state, but no damage has been reported except to an occasional fruit tree which was more advanced than its fellows Grass is improving, but there are few cattle out to pasture yet. Few old eadows have been injured, but in Hills ro county much of last spring and fal edings were winter killed, and som fall seed fields are being replowed. On correspondent in Rockingham county re orts it has been a hard winter for straw erries, some fall set beds being entirely killed by the freezing and thawing. The top of the ground is getting very dry over most of Vermont, and a warm showery spell is needed for the best growth of grass and grain. Cattle are getting part of their feed in the pastures and occasionally a pasture is found that will give plenty of feed to a few head of stock. It is good weather for team work and it is being carried on rapidly-plow ing, hauling dressing, etc., being the work of the day. The nights have given some white frosts, but no damage has been reported. Sheep shearing is being done. Report comes from Addisor county that grass on newly seeded land and also on old meadows was badly killed out during the winter. There was plenty of sunshine in Mas

eral complaint is that seeds are starting slowly, and that the plants that are up are nearly at a standstill. There has been prevailing cool winds, and with the frosty nights and dryness of the surface of the ground, the explanation of the slowness of growth is given. Rhu barb and asparagus are large enough for use in the southern Connecticut valley and in the eastern part of the state, but the last named plant does not push along as usual. Team work has progressed rapidly, however, and a good deal of seed of all kinds have been put in during the week, though some farm ers are waiting for the ground to get well warmed up before putting in seed Raspberries and strawberries wer winter killed to some extent in Worcester county, both in the northern part and in the vicinity of Worcester. The cor respondent in Hampden county reports that the droughts of the past two years are seriously shown in killed-out pastures and mowings. Fertile meadows are looking fairly well, but many spots show the killing-out by ice. Cherry and plum trees are in blossom, and show up well. Pears and apples are on the point of bloom, and while the former promise a scant blossom, the latter are very full of buds. There is no general complaint of damage by the frosts, but the correspondent in Bristol county thinks there may have been some damage to apple buds, though it is not apparent yet. Small fruits appear full of buds in most places.

The temperature averaged quite low in Rhode Island during the week, and the nights have been cool and frosty, and ice formed on lowlands on May 1 and 2. Except slight showers on the afternoon of the 3d, no rain has fallen, and the top of the ground is very dry. Plowing and seeding is well advanced. but little planting has been done in most places. Streams are very low for the furnace, good view of water. For Sale at a Vegetation has made a rather slow growth during the week in Connecticut, owing to the cool nights and prevailing easterly winds. Yet the conditions are Land Co., every day, 11 to 12.30, and should not entirely unfavorable, and the season is considered still ahead of the average. Farm work has been rapidly pushed, and most of the sowing and most CHAS H. JOHNSON, planting is done. The grass looks well on fields, but is slow to start in pastures. and no great amount of stock is yet out. Winter rye looks well. Strawberries North Weymouth Land Co. were much winter killed in parts of Tollard county. In Litchfield county, fruits are full of buds. Pears and some apples are coming out in the warmest sections, and are promising. Peaches are bloom ing lightly in most favored places. Apricot trees are in full bloom in New Haven county. One correspondent in Fairfield county reports that he has not seen a nest of 10 caterpillars this year.

Man and Wife.

(From the Boston Globe.)

The following letter tells a plain, straightforward story, in which every man and woman is interested. Hundreds of just such letters have lately been sent to publishers by grateful people, whose hopeless lives have suddenly been brightened by the wonderful discovery of Prof. Dixi Crosby, of Dartmouth College. No wonder that men like Eugene Low pronounce Puritana "As great a discovery as electricity."

3 Mt. Vernon Place, Charlestown.

To the public:

We know the misery that is caused by stomach troubles, for both my wife and T have been so afflicted with suffering of the worst sort that there seemed no longer any hope of health or even comfort. In fact, my wife's life was despaired of, and I was about to give up active employment.

Mrs. Cale was for a number of years a victim of dyspepsia, which grew more and more severe until she was completely prostrated. She was sent into the country by her doctor, but when she returned she could not stand up without support. For a long time she was unable to eat solid food, and even on a diet of prepared milk she was unable to gain strength or escape suffering. We sought the best advice we could obtain, but the result was failure in every case. When we first tried Puritana we were without other hope and as far as my wife was concerned, I did not believe that she would ever recover. After a few weeks there was a marked change and from that time on her improvement grew more rapid from day to day. The stomach trouble disappeared and her whole system was brought into a healthy condition.

Mrs. Cale belongs to the Daughters of Rebekah and other Charlestown societies, and when she could attend the meetings, and also eat her share of the dainties, it was a great surprise to the ladies who had known of her infirmity. For the first time in years she found that she could eat a piece of New England pie, and now her stomach digests any food.

My own suffering has been so great that I could not engage in any exhausting occupation. The effect of Puritana in my case has been only less wonderful than in the case of my wife. I have received greater benefits from it than from all other medicines and the doctors put together, and recommend it in the highest terms to my

We bless the day when we heard of Furitana, for it has given us new life.

But though our national life has been short, there are no pages in history which are adorned with nobler names than ours. They stand side by side with the names of men of letters and men of arms whom the world has not been willing to forget, although many centuries have elapsed since they lived and labored for the good of their fellows.

It is characteristic of a free country, where all men are born in the purple, to generate many sons who are capable of filling all stations of usefulness and honor. As the mind reverts to the past en such an occasion as this, and the illuswith grave dignity across the stage of memory, we have no cause to be ashamed. #### Milk Registration.

It was left for Milk Inspector Hallowell to discover that the public statutes and city ordinances have been wrongly interpreted concerning registration of milk dealers. Bright Little Tots Which Cheer There is a difference between milk dealers and those who deliver milk from wagons. Heretofore the latter have renewed their licenses annually in May, and the dealers have registered annually. Dr. Hallowell sought the opinion of City Solicitor Blackmur on the registration, and it is his opinion that it is necessary for dealers to register but once, but peddlers must continue to take out licenses annually. Will the price of milk be reduced?

It Rained in Torrents and was Followed by Hail.

One of the severest tempests that we have had for many a day passed over Quincy Tuesday afternoon. Where it came from no one knows, Boston had a little sprinkle and Braintree had none but Quincy had more than enough. It was a few minutes before 2 o'clock when it commenced to rain which rapidly increased Quincy Flyers. The Bike of Bikes, in volume. This was accompanied by bud in volume. This was accompanied by Dud peals of thunder and sharp claps of Sweet Potatoes, 6 lbs. 25 cts. lightning, two bolts of which struck. For nearly an hour it rained hard at times the rain coming down in torrents flooding the streets and rendering unbrellas useless.

Just before 3 o'clock the rain turned into hail and the white pieces of ice soon made the earth have a snow-like appearance. The hail stones fell in a straight line, or many broken window would have The hail stones varied in size from a

LAST DAYS OF HOLMES

The Murderer Said to Have Become Resigned to His Fate.

Learning Litany and Prayers For the Dead.

Another Strong Effort to Be Made to Save Him From the Gallows.

Philadelphia, May 6.—Counsel for Mrs. Pietzel has received a letter from H. H. Holmes offering Mrs. Pietzel a house and lot in Chicago, clear of all encumbrances, and $2000 in cash, if she will aid in getting him a reprieve. Holmes wants his execution postponed until May 18. No attention will be paid to the letter. Saturday, the armor for the battleships

He has been learning the litany and other prayers for the dead for days, and when he mounts the scaffold will die with the Straw Mattings, Carpets, chant of his lips. chant of the Roman Catholic church on Every arrangement has been made for the execution, and all the cards that will be issued are now out. Few outside of the jury and newspaper representatives will be allowed to view the hanging. The instrument of death will be erected in the corridor between the galleries, and the steps leading therefrom used as the approach to the platform.

The prison officials say that Holmes has become very gentle and never loses his calmness. He does not discuss his approaching death, but has become thoroughly resigned to it. There is a growing impression that he will calmly as-cend the scaffold and as calmly meet his death. It is believed, however, that he will make a statement on the gallows, but his counsel, Samuel P. Rotan, does not believe that he will make a sensational scene

Until with the last few days Holme has never seemingly given up hope, if not of a commutation of his sentence, at least of a reprieve, which would postpone the day of his execution. Yesterday he seemed to realize fully that the the Pedler flashes his sentence of the law was to be carried out on the day set, and he allowed his keepers and others who saw him during the day to know that he realized it.

According to one of the officials of the prison, Moyamensing has never contained a prisoner who was so thoroughly disliked by those connected with the prison as is Holmes, nor was one ever he is not forgotten. You put to death there who had so little sympathy as Holmes will have. As a rule, a condemned man usually displays some venir to remind you of little trait of character which wins for him at least the pity of those with whom he comes in daily contact. This is not He knows nothing of true in Holmes' case. Even the other prisoners take occasion to expess their hatred of the murderer and their delight over his coming execution.

BOSTON'S PLAYING.

The Finest Witnessed on the Cincinnati Grounds This Season.

Cincinnati, May 5.-Boston put up the greatest game of ball seen here this year. Barring Harrington's work on third, their fielding was grand, and stick work was done when most needed. Jack Stivetts' curves were very puzzling to the Reds, and the sensational fielding of the Bostons at critical times killed Cincinnati's chances.

How Many Wives?

Boston, May 6.-The interest so suddenly developed in the business affairs of the late John Stetson, and which affairs are now remarkably entangled legally by the death of his wife, has increased manifold by the reported claims of several women, each alleging that she was a wife of Mr. Stetson. The first claimant from abroad was Adah Richnond, the well-known actress, and now t is stated that another very prominent ress has also entered a claim as Mr Stetson's wife, upon the estate. The proating of Stetson's will, which has been ound, is now looked forward to as a step toward clearing up the complicated situation. The funeral of Mrs. John Stetson takes place today from the Little Church Around the Corner, New York city, the body being sent in a special car to that city this morning. The funeral ar was trimmed with lavender ribbons and decorated with smilax, roses and violets. Inside the car the casket rested on a blanket of flowers, mostly roses and

Bicycle Sentiment

Is daily growing. Not to ride a bicycle means to be a trifle out of date. The question then arises, "What wheel shall I ride?" People are tiring of the big prices charged for bicycles, and this alone accounts for enormous sales of wheels. No glory in selling to those who think that anything will do. Our policy is a splendid wheel for a modest price. A full pledged bicycle exhibition at this store, consisting of wheels of known and matchless quality and reputation. These are the popular wheels, and these the popular prices:

Late last night, with the nurging orayer of the priest, the soul of Holme vas ready to go before its maker and b ludged for the acts its owner committed while here on earth. Holmes began the solemn preparation or the salvation of his blackened sou yesterday. He prayed all day, and whe dark came he was visited by the priest in the garb of forgiveness, and the beginning of the end then took place. The murderer kneeled, and with bowed head declared himself unworthy in the eyes of his Maker, and begged for the forgiveness which was granted the penitent thief on the cross.

Holmes began his fast at 12 o'clock last ight, which lasted until this morning, when he partook of the communion. Then for the first time Holmes had be-time a communicant of the Roman Catholic church. The symbolic wafer which was carried on the chalice by the priest was then swallowed through the lips that have lied, and the murderer as then ready, after a breakfast, to be-New England Associagin the devotions immediately preceding the march to the scaffold. These de-vctions, including the recital of the litany for the dead and other prayers for the dying, were mingled at times with the chant of the priest, and the pleadings for forgiveness. He went to the gallows with these on his lips and died with a ers by heart. He went to the gallows prayer of forgiveness just as the last sight of the world faded away forever from his view.

It was learned yesterday that Holmes had, in reality, been the sole agent in bringing Mrs. Pitezel to this city, and that his only object was to have her appear before either the governor or the board of pardons, and, by appealing, secure him a further lease on his life, which was blotted out forever this morn-

then at work darkly conjuring up schemes to save himself from the impending fate on the gallows, and that on of these schemes, worthy of the cunning of only the prisoner himself, was that which included, among other provisions, the bringing of the woman to this city For Latest Local and Vicinity and her final appearance, pleading for the life of the man who had wronged her, and thereby securing to him a longer

Holmes knew when his mind concocted tl at dark scheme that once he had the woman before him he could so play upon her mind as to gain his point. With him it was a game in which the stake was life. He made his moves with precision and care, and planned his actions all in such a way that, as he himself thought, "checkmating" would be impossible. His first move was to bring Mrs. Pietzel here, Had Been Possessed of Hope of This he did, notwithstanding what is said to the contrary. It was he that brought the broken-hearted widow to this city, and on the night of her arrival the wily criminal, in his own mind, chalked up one point, as they say in sporting circles, "to the good," and be-

> Move No. 2 was to get a few minutes' conversation with the woman he had so brutally wronged. He wanted to see her for "just five minutes," he is quoted as having said when told that she was not willing to hold a conversation with him, and then, finally, when he found she would not be led into his trap, he became frantic, and made every inducement to her, and at the last moment pleaded for "just a word."

gan right away to look out for move

Holmes knew that if he could say three words to the woman he would break the Throughout his checkered career, his greatest influence was with women. They melted before him, and they quailed as well as adored him. Mrs Pitezel herself knew this. It was ever stated on good authority that she feared the stories told about his "evil eye," and that was why she didn't go to the prison She knew that if she once saw Holmes behind the bars her heart would again be moved by that strange power which he wielded once over the whole famil that she would be induced to obey him implicitly, and that she would come away willing to go before a pardoning board to plead for the life of the man who had wronged, yet hypnotized her. And this. in fact, was just what Holmes had hoped

Since that time it develops that Holmes' actual intention was to have Mrs. Pietzel plead for his life. That such was the case was shown by a letter which he wrote to her lawyer, Thomas A. Fahy, under date of May 1, and which the lawyer made public for the first time

The letter shows that Holmes all along built high hopes on winning over Mrs. Pitezel to plead his case for him. The wily criminal knew that her words would have more effect than a dozen legal pleaders, and he knew that if she spoke at all, it meant a respite - possibly months more of life. It was not pity for the woman that engendered the thought. It was simply a move in the great game he was playing against awful odds, and when the news of her refusal to see him or have anything to do with him reached him in the darkness of his cell, he knew that the game was lost, and that the

Shawmut Spring Water.

How many people realize the importance of drinking only pure water in large quantities in order to keep in absolutely good health? When we consider that two-thirds of the human body is in the form of water, and that in order to supply the losses from excretion and evaporation it is necessary to drink from one half to one gallon of water. drink from one-half to one gallon of water daily; it is of the utmost importance that it should be of the very best quality, perfectly free from the slightest trace of organic matter.
The Shawmut Spring Water stands second to none as a pure drinking water. Hundreds of families are using it every day. It is an important factor in maintaining health, building up and restoring the organs of digestion to healthy action. Cures Rheumatic, kidney and Bladder troubles, when drugs have proved useless.

Send your order for a 5-gallon sample package. If you don't like it, it costs you nothing. Drink it and you will be satisfied of its sample.

Bagged by Bagg.

New York, May 7.—Chief Bagg of the secret service, for the past month has been shadowing an alleged professional spurious coinmaker. This espionage resulted yesterday in the raiding of a furnished room at 91 East Third street. There the "suspect," James F. Stillman, with a young Greek confederate named Rudolph Kropinsky, were caught in the act of making counterfeit 50-cent pieces. A young variety actress named Dora Lennon, who had lived with Stillman as ris wife, was also arrested. The trio were arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields. Stillman and Kropinski waived examination, and were held in $5000 bail each for the grand jury. An intercepted letter, which the young woman admitted writing to Stillman, showed that she had knowledge of what was going on.

lies in a vault at Holy Cross cemetery. His last confession was:

"Gentlemen, I have very few words to in my execution. I only want to say taking human life consisted in the deaths of two women, they having died peration. I wish to also state, however, that there will be no misunderstandthe lives of any of the Pitezel family, the three children or the father, Ben- At New Bedford-Augusta, 8; New Bedjamin F. to be hanged. That is all." These were almost his last words. The cap was adjusted, a low-toned query, "Are you ready?" and an equally low toned response, "Yes, good-by," and the trap was sprung.

The neck was broken, and there were a few convulsive twitches of the limbs that continued for about 10 minutes. The trap was sprung at precisely 10:12:30 and 15 minutes later Holmes was pronounced dead, though the body was not cut down until 10:45. The crime of which H. H. Holmes, or Herman W. Mudgett, was convicted, and for which he suffered the death penalty on the gallows, was the murder of Benjamin F. Pitezel, one of his part ers in crime and a sharer in the spoils of other murders. Among Holmes' victims, the story of whose slaying was Elsie Kreglo, near Washington, was artrial in Philadelphia, were Emmeline C. Cigrande, a Chicago typewriter; Mrs.

Julia L. Conner and Pearl Conner, her 8plunged into the Potomac, in an attempt year-old daughter; Robert E. Phelps, Alice, Nellie and Howard Pitezel, George H. Thomas, Emily Van Tassell, Nana Williams and Minnie Williams, one of the women he had married. His first victim is said to have been his own son by his first wife, whom he married in long ago Holmes pretended to have be ome repentant, and made a long conhe was "born with a devil in him." Then he wanted to be baptized, and this cere 16, by Rev. P. J. Dailey, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of the Annunciation, In Philadelphia. His "confession," wherein he claimed to have killed 27 persons, was disproved, partly at least, by the appearance of several of the so-called victims; but Holmes' object in making the "confession" was realizedthe obtaining of a sum, said to be $7500, ettled upon the criminal's 18-year-old

Holmes was captured in Boston, in the latter part of 1894, by Deputy Superintendent of Police Hanscom, upon the strength of a telegram from Fort Worth, Tex., where he was wanted for horse stealing and for other charges of larrauding the concern out of $10,000 in onnection with Pitezel's death, the later being insured for this amount, and, Sranish at Campo Florido. as the accused believed horse stealing to be a high crime in Texas, he voluntarily confessed to Deputy Superintendent Hanscom to the insurance phia without requisition papers.

Pitezel on Sept. 12 last, and he was placed on trial on Oct. 28. A verdict of guilty was rendered on Nov. 2, and Nov. 30 he was sentenced to be hanged. Miss Yoke, with whom Holmes was living at the time of Pitezel's death, was an important witness for the commonwealth at the trial, and it was largely upon her evidence that the accused was convicted. After the body had been cut down, it was placed in a plain pine box, the bottom and sides of which were covered with cement. This was done so that the material will harden about the corpse and practically fasten it to the box, preventing any attempt to steal the body On the breast of the corpse lies a small. silver cross, bearing the words, "H. officers are on guard at the vault. Mrs. Carrie A. Phezel, widow of the man for whose murder Helmes was hanged, was seen after the execution. She was too nervous to submit to an interview, but said she could not help feeling relief at the knowledge that Holmes is at last "Out of the way."

Both Mrs. Pitezel and her lawyer place no belief in Holmes' last declaration of innocence. Lawyer Rotan does. After the hanging, he asserted, with uplifted hand, to a group of witnesses: "I believe he died an innocent man." Trust Officials Indicted.

Hurling the Hammer Is Beneficial Exercise-Pugilists' Nicknames. Basket Ball For Women.

James Mitchell, the champion weight thrower, believes that hurling the hammer is one of the best muscle developers known. In a recent communication to the New York World he says:

"Throwing the hammer has long been regarded as an exercise highly beneficial to the development of the upper half of the body. It especially serves to draw the shoulders and ribs into a healthy and natural position, thereby giving the lungs and heart plenty of room to perform their vital functions. These organs are never slow to avail themselves of this rare indulgence, and they soon contribute conspicuously to the health of the general sys-

"To weak chested men and those inclined to pulmonary trouble the sport is of the most benefit.

"The effort of whirling a 16 pound weight around the head and throwing it for a short distance does not involve any great strain on any part of the muscular system, therefore any ordinary individual can freely indulge in the pastime.

In throwing the missile the best method is to get as much impetus as possible upon the body by rapidly spinning round, the arms being held perfectly rigid, with the hammer grasped in the hands. When the greatest impetus is obtained, the hammer should be let go, an extra push being given at the last moment.

The carrying out of this plan pressed the opinion that the ex-presiwould involve an enormous amount of to state in the sketch of his life, pub- that he had merely emphasized his prelished in this session's Congressional directory, that he opposed the nomination of Benjamin Harrison in 1892. Clarkson came out at the same time for Blaine, as did "Boss" Platt. Even Speaker Reed was known to be unfriendly to Harrison, and opposed to his nomination. He had called Harrison an icecart, and gave out an interview to the effect that the country was so full of good men that one term in the presidential chair was enough. What an amusing spectacle it would be to have Clarkson, who is managing Allison's boom; Quay, who runs himself, and Platt, who backs Morton, together with the Pedler flashes his the loyal friends of Speaker Reed, rallyworthless, plated spec- ing to Harrison as the only possible safety! And yet it would tax one's ingenuity considerably to find within relieves you of a $5 bill, McKinley lines another man of sufficient national eminence able to hold together the elements necessary to carry But, though lost to view out such a plan as that outlined. If the Foraker wing of the Ohio delegation could see their way clear to vote their

McKinley. The question now arises whether, in Harrison's candidacy should eventually materialize along the lines suggested, the outlying territory could be held for him against a McKinley stampede. This was the question put to a group of congressmen in one of the cian discovers the defects hotels yesterday. A Vermont member and, by his knowledge of of the house, who did not care to be quoted, gave as his opinion that 60 of refraction, prepares lenses the 78 votes of New England would go that restore your vision to for McKinley the moment Reed was out of the race, and that General Harrison would be as powerless to stem this tide you feel like a new being. as anybody else. A Rhode Island representative said the voting Republican of that state were at heart strongly for McKinley. The delegates, in his opinion, would vote for Reed, if by the time the rollcall had reached the letter "R" the nomination of the Ohio man was not then assured. In case McKinley's nomnation was determined by that time, the ode Island delegates would fall in line and help make the first ballot as near manimous as possible. In the opinion of this member of the house, the Rhode Island delegates will hardly get a chance port, but it is doubtful if the outside ountry would rally to him as against

Outside of New England the sentiment seems much the same. There is now no temper on the part of the people or the delegates to look for anyone else than McKinley, in case their first-declared favorites are bowled out of the contest. Most of the New York dele-gates, especially from the upper part of the state, would go to McKinley in any event, and so would the Iowans. To be sure, there are five weeks yet in which the delegates may be open to argument dency to get into line has thus far been stronger than anything else.

HARRISON WASN'T THERE. Indiana Convention Switched Into Line For Apostle of Protection.

Indianapolis, May 8 .- The Indiana Republican convention instructed its delegates for Major McKinley, with scarcely a show of opposition, and the long impending battle between the McKinley and alleged Harrison forces ended in commonplace peace. The platform embodying the instructions was adopted by a viva voce vote and without divison, the chairman's decision to adopt being received without a challenge General Harrison did not make his eagerly expected speech to the delegates, and did not visit the convention

The platform declares for sound money' favors the use of both gold and silver at a parity, urges bimetallism on an inter-national basis, and condemns the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1. The ticket chosen was as follows: Delegates-at-large, R. W. Thompson, C. W. Fairbanks, F. M. Milliken and Lew Wallace; alternates, R. T. McDonald, Hiram Brownlee, E. O. Hopkins and George L. Knox (colored); electors-at-large, H. G. Thayer and C. F. Jones. The sudden collapse of the anti-Mc-Kinley forces was a surprise alike to friends and foes of the Ohio man. There was little doubt, when the convention met, that instructions would carry, but a warm fight was expected, and a fight, too, in which General Harrison's name ## SUNDAYS

The notable feature of the convention was an ineffectual effort to stampede the delegates in favor of Senator Marsh, as one of the delegates-atlarge against Mr. Blodgett, who was one f the four on the slate agreed upon by the party leaders in the morning. Ex-Judge Carrow was also put forward by the slate smashers as the representative of the younger Democracy, but he also fell outside of the breastworks. #### Proposals Asked for a Grand En largement of Building.

The Board of Managers of the Woodward Fund and Property advertise today for bids for the proposed addition to the present

Something like a year ago plans of an addition were made and bids advertised for and received, but when they were opened the figures were for a sum more than the board thought it should expend, and the matter was dropped.

Since then a new set of plans have been prepared. The addition proposed will be about as large as the present building and will be built upon the south end and will have a main entrance from Hancock street near the centre of the new building.

The land where the addition is to be built is so situated as to give a basement, Miss Mary McAnarney of Summer street | which can be lighted from two sides. In 31x37 feet, a chemical labratory, lecture room, physical labratory and coat and toilet rooms. There will also be a wide ecture room.

The New Wall Papers-Delft and Dresden Effects - Making a Welsh Rabbit.

The predominating styles in the newer wall papers are light and airy in general character and coloring, with a tendency to striped effects. These are a reproduction of Louis XVI styles, and consist of a narrow stripe of some color -blue, pink, green or yellow-on a white ground, with a floral ornament of graceful trailing sprays of small flowers that correspond in color with the prevailing tint of the stripes.

In deference to the prevailing fad for old blue, some excellent designs are shown, either blue on a white ground or vice versa. These are of various shades, from the dark, low tones of the old Dutch tile, called delft, to the delicate pale tints called dresden.

One all over design of the popular hawthorn blossom, with its white and pale pink flowers, is especially dainty and refreshing, the strength of the design coming from its brown branches Newburyport, Mass., May 9.—The and thorns. ### Latest Novelty In Bells.

A wheel of bells is the latest novelty. It is designed for a doorbell or for a dinner gong. At her country place in Chappaqua, Mrs. Clendenin (Gabrielle Greeley) has had a wheel of bells put up at the front door. It is placed with the ball and chain at the right. A slight pull at this chain makes the bells jingle. The wheel is of wrought iron and at the end of each spoke is a small silver bell. When intended simply as a pretty piece of house furniture, for instance a dinner gong, the wheel bell is made of polished wood. The chain of wrought iron is suspended from the wheel over a hinged bracket of carved wood. It springs from a lapis lazuli knob, and the ball at the end of the chain is of lapis

In the Dining Room.

Taste and delicacy rule in the modern dining rooms. It is a recognized truth that quality is of more importance than quantity. In table decorations, as well as in attention to minutiæ, there have been decided improvement. The linen, the centerpiece, the china, those little dishes of crystal that hold almonds, olives and bonbons, the menu and name cards-above all, the unique arrangements of flowers and fruits-all these mark the evolution of the dining table. The quick witted woman is she who takes suggestions from others and upon them makes her own changes and improvements.

Before the Commons.

The house of commons was crowded with members, and the press and strangers' galleries were filled with visitors yesterday, upon the occasion of the yesterday, upon the occasion of the presentation of the colonial estimates. Sir William Harcourt, the leader of the Connection, reminded the government that the government of the covernment of the colonial estimates. Opposition, reminded the government that an inquiry had been promised, with the object of ascertaining whether the British South Africa company was in the hands of fit and proper persons to be entrusted with the administration of the affairs of the company's territory.

In asking the government to make a statement regarding the raid into the Transvaal, Mr. Harcourt said that the Opposition has heretofore not unduly pressed the government on this important matter, but they thought the time had now arrived for the house to be informed of the government's intention in the case. The responsible directors of the British Chartered South Africa company at Cape Town and Johannesburg and Dr. Jameson was only their subordinate. The government, the speaker and to the world.

Continuing, Mr. Harcourt said that the partisans of the company were trying to box, which contained the body, is im pass off on the credulity of the people to protect the people of Johannesburg against outrages. But he could not tian burial, but the services were brief. think of anything more revolting than the low slang of the cryptograms, which showed the true aspect of the affair.

Mr. Harcourt then analyzed the telegrams exchanged between Cecil and Colonel Rhodes, Harris, Beit, Phillips, Jameson and others, just previous to the invasion of the territory of the South African Republic. He eulogized the When we tended the fields of the happy old promptness, decision and courage of Fleming, confined in the Tombs prison Joseph Chamberlain, and dwelt upon the course of the Chartered company, declaring that it compromised Great Britain's reputation. He also said that Cecil decision to the effect that she was en-Rhodes seemed to have been actuated titled to the $85,000 left in trust for her. by greed for power, and remarked that he had noticed with regret the deterioration of the morals of the English press in dealing with the subject. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, in re- case ply to Mr. Harcourt, remarked that recent events had reopened the whole of the great South African question, which had been the grave of many reputations. Sir William Harcourt, he added, had dealt with only one phase of the question. His speech was a powerful indictment, not only of the Chartered company, but of the prisoners at Pretoria and the men undergoing trial in England. He (Chamberlain) could not discuss that part of And not with the pleasure we knew in the days the affair. He could only say he believed there was but one feeling in the house namely, that if the sole object was to get a condemnation of the cryptograms policy, they had indicated that this could be obtained without any further discus-

But many interests were at stake, and developments were being anxiously and carefully watched by foreign nations. Under these circumstances, and in view also of the situation of the prisoners at Pretoria, there were many things which it is undesirable to mention at present and which might be said in the future. The speaker added: "The object of our policy in South Africa is to preserve our position as the paramount state, and, econdly, to engender union and concord between the two races there. The recent raid has jeopardized the first and has delayed the second. The prosperity and happiness of South Africa are dependent upon the realization of the same state of things we attained in Canada, where two races, less closely allied than the English and the Dutch, work fight and live side by side in perfect peace and | years expires August next.

That Snow Plow.

Commissioner Knowlton, when seen this morning about that snow plough at Quincy Adams, said, the fault is with the N. Y., N. H., & H. R. R., to whom the plough was delivered for shipment to Gloucester, and the reason it had not been shipped was because no flat car had been obtained for it, although the agent had written several times for a car. The Commissioner further said that he would have the plough hauled out of the way today if he had to use his own horses to do it, and the railroad would have to pay the bill.

A PLEA FOR THE CHILDREN.

Shall woman's pitying love Comes there today, our hearts to move,

No hopeless, innocent pain? The dull world speeds on its unheading course— No law there seems but force-And to those whose tender hearts would seek To aid the helpless weak
Too oft, with folded hands, sit impotent
Waiting the dark event.

So loud the doubting voices are We scarcely may stir at all, Though at the shock of ruthless war The young battalions fall. Over all lands in vain The toiling worker's pain speaks, with a terrible voice unheard, Its awful Sibyline word. Hardly we dare assuage

The ever growing ills of age, Who, knowing how the lifelong sufferers live, Know, too, how hard the task to wisely give. The homes of healing languish for the gold

The rich, perplexed, withhold.
Since hardly may our minds discern the clew
To separate the false need from the true— So hard to tell if that we strive to do Make not the tangle worse
And bring, indeed, no blessing, but a curse.

One cause there is indeed-

Alas for all the Christian centuries!-Calls clear from childish lives that bleed With daily miseries.
Within a thousand homeless homes today

The sot, the savage, bear remorseless sway—Vile souls and hearts of stone!
With none to heed, the helpless children moan— In life a burden, but in death a gain.

Shall these still suffer? Shall the state's tired

Its dim eye, by a thousand cares, grown blindNo willing helpers find?
These little ones, shall they unaided pine—
Who, fresh from the creative Hand Divine
Bring to our sad, laborious careth Too slow to save from harm.

Bring to our sad, laborious earth Bright memories of their birth; Who 'neath a happier, juster fate May give strong, willing workers to the state! Here no doubt comes; here is our duty plain— Soothe, tender women, soothe their hopeless

And trample, with a righteous anger strong, This thrice accursed wrong!

Topic For the Week Beginning May 10. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-Serving Christ in our homes.-Rom.

The injunctions contained in the pas sage quoted above are a part of some particular precepts laid down by the apostle as following obedience to the all, be innocent. A petition for their general command not to be conformed the renewing of our minds that we may perfect. These injunctions apply equally to all phases of Christian life-life in the church, in society, in business and also to Christian life in the home.

There is no place where a Christian is put so strongly to test as in the home. It is so much easier to give way to the petty annoyances of life in the home weak of intellect, he was allowed to than when the world is looking upon us, and there is such a tendency to think it unnecessary to be as kind and cour teous to the members of our homes as to Not far from Dover lies the town of friends, neighbors or total strangers. 1. Love, "Let love be without dissimulation." Love comes first, because it is the primary grace out of which the other graces commended naturally flow. The bones ness and peace abound when there is

2. Kindness. "Be kindly affectioned one to another" (verse 10). The word here used expresses the affection that exists between parents and children. Kindness is love in action. It is the manifestation of love. In many homes there is love, but it is not manifested. The husband loves his wife, children love their parents, but there is an absence of those little nameless deeds of kindness which speak of the love in the heart. There should not only be love in the home; it should be manifested.

3. Hope, patience, prayer (verse 12). These graces seem intwined together, and if found united in a home will without fail bring joy and blessing to it.

4. Sympathy. "Rejoice with them that do rejoice and weep with them that weep" (verse 15). How lovely is genuine sympathy in the home! How much like Christ is the one who feels as if they were his own!

5. Unity of mind. "Be of the same mind one toward another" (verse 16). How essential is unity of mind, oneness in feeling, interest and object, to the happiness of the home.

6. Peace. Nothing so beautifies home strife, discord and contention. Let us study the things which make for peace

Recommended by the Prosecutor In the Trial of Competitor's Men.

Meets With Approval of Admiral Navarro.

Interesting Testimony Elicited at the Court Martial at Habana.

Habana, May 9.—At 8 o'clock yestertor, belonging in Key West.

The prisoners were Alfredo Laborde. born in New Orleans; John Milton of Kansas; William Kildea, an Englishman, and Elias Bedia and Todoro Mata, both Cubans. Captain Ruiz acted as of nine other military officers. All the accused pleaded not guilty.

In his defense, Laborde firmly declared that he had not written or received the letters and other papers found on board, and that he had not signed the proclamations cartured on board the schooner. The prosecutor then read the penal record of Laborde, showing him to have been a forger, thief and kidnapper, and produced the letters written by him on board the Competitor to persons at Key West, advising them of the arrival of the expedition in Cuba.

Several witnesses admitted that when the men were captured they were not armed and offered no resistance. Despite this fact, however, the prosecutor, Lieutenant Suarez, asked the court-martial to convict the prisoners of filibustering. and to impose the death sentence upon

Counsel for the defense made a long review of the evidence, and demanded the acquittal of Mata. He argued eloquently against the others being sentenced to death, and declared that the evidence showed that mercy should be extended to them.

On May 6 the preliminary examination of the prisoners was ended, and the case was taken to the superior court. Admiral Navarro, as the presiding officer of that court of the navy, declared that in conformity with the orders he issued he appointed Lieutenant Pardo of the Spanish navy to act as counsel for the prisoners, and to defend them at their ter, addressed by United States Consul General Williams to Admiral Navarro, in which Mr. Williams stated he had heard of the capture of the Competitor, an American pilot boat, and that it was supposed that some of the persons captured on board of her were American citizens. Consequently, the consul general requested information as to the antecedents of the prisoners, in order that he might communicate on the subject with the government at Washington. Mr. Williams also referred to the treaty between Spain and the United States bearing on the subject, and requested to know the name of the attor-ney for the defense. While awaiting the action of the marine authorities who were to handle the matter, Mr. Williams protested against the prisoners being tried by summary court-mar-with treaty obligations. In another document, dated April 30 Mr. Williams requested permission to speak with the prisoners against whom proceedings were pending, and a reply was sent Mr. Williams, to the effect that even if they were Americans, they were being proceeded against, and the pilot boat was captured, because they were taking part in an expedition against Cuba, and because the schooner did not carry a flag and landed arms, ammunition, etc., on account of Cuba, contrary to the military and naval laws, and in addition, they appeared only in militari.

pointed out to Mr. Williams, as being contained in his letter, which he commenced by saying that he had heard talk about about the cause, without knowing how they (the prisoners) were treated, and afterward, according to the authorities here, saying that he would proceed to "call attention to the treaty," etc. It was further pointed out that the treaty applied to citizens who had inscribed themselves at the consulate and at the proper government offices. Therefore, the government could not accept Mr. Williams' protest, because he was in error as to the right of the prisoners under the laws, although Mr. Williams was allowed to communicate with, and

Admiral Navarro approved of the death sentence being imposed. The court-martial adjourned for the day shortly after 12 o'clock, without having arrived at a judgment on the cases before them.

A Bible Curiosity.

There is a verse in the Bible which contains every letter in the alphabet except j, and it is said there is only one such. It is the twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra and reads, "And I, even I, Artaxerxes, the king, do make a decree to all the treasurers which are beyond the river that whatsoever Ezra, the priest, the scribe of the hours of labor throughout the United law of the God of heaven, shall require of you it be done speedily."

Strickland vows that the two months of his service were the most rigid mental discipline he has ever gone through. Quite apart from the little fact that the wife of one of his fellow saises fell in love with him and then tried to poison him with arsenic because he would have nothing to do with her, he had to school himself into keeping quiet when Miss Youghal went out riding with Railroad, Old Colony Division. some man who tried to flirt with her, and he was forced to trot behind carrying the blanket and hearing every word! Also he had to keep his temper when he was slanged in "Benmore" porch by a policeman-especially once when he was abused by a Naik he had himself recruited from Isser Jang village, or, worse still, when a young subaltern called him a pig for not making way Thus he served faithfully as Jacob served for Rachel, and his leave was nearly at an end when the explosion came. He had really done his best to keep his temper in the hearing of the flirtations I have mentioned, but he broke down at last. An old and very distinguished general took Miss Youghal for a ride and began that specially offensive "you're only a little girl" sort of flirtation most difficult for a woman to turn aside deftly and most maddening to listen to. Miss Youghal was in the hearing of her sais. Dulloo-Strickland-stood it as long as he could. Then he caught hold of the general's bridle, and, in most fluent English, invited him to step off and be heaved over the cliff. Next minute Miss Youghal held the extraordinary theory that a began crying, and Strickland saw that policeman in India should try to know he had hopelessly given himself away and everything was over.

He said only for putting on a sais' blanket. was too old to take it from Strickland. Then he complimented Miss Youghal on her lover. The scandal of the business never struck him, for he was a tations. Then he laughed again and said that old Youghal was a fool.

Strickland let go of the cob's head and suggested that the general had bettheir names and high official position. So the Nasiban murder case did him 'It's rather like a 40 minute farce,' a wild hurroosh at the club. A sais, kar, put on the disguise that appealed with blanket and head rope, was asking to him at the time, stepped down into all the men he knew, "For heaven's sake lend me decent clothes!" As the up for awhile. He was a quiet, dark men did not recognize him, there were some peculiar scenes before Strickland could get a hot bath, with soda in it, in one room, a shirt here, a collar there, a pair of trousers elsewhere, and so on. He galloped off, with half the club wardrobe on his back and an utter stranger's pony under him, to the house of old Youghal.

The general, arrayed in purple and fine linen, was before him. ### CAR FARES.

While the agitation is going on in relation to a new union station for the accommodation of the several railroads whose present terminals are at the southerly part of Boston, it seems a proper time to call the attention of the people of Braintree, and all others who may in any way be interested in the matter, to the accommodations provided for, and the fares charged the patrons of N. It is generally understood, that when the consolidation of the roads in question took place, one of the agreements between them was, that all improvements commenced shaking with fear at the things he said and provided for by the Old Colony, should be carried to consummation by the N. If certain to add fuel to the fire of popular indignation in Spain. Mr. Williams' attitude, it is asserted, is the subject of general censure in Habana, and is said to be very provocative. El Liberal declares that the Spanish government ought to have sent a squadron to Cuba, in addition to arming all the transatlantic steamboats at its disposal for that service. This newspaper as serts that the steamer Bermuda, belong ing to the Cuban insurgent committee embarked upon the Florida coast 10,000 rifles, six pieces of artillery, three mutrailleures, a quantity of munitions of war and 300 men, the majority of whom were gunners of the United States militia, for the supply of the insurgen forces in Cuba. This embarkation tool place, El Liberal says, in spite of the pro tests of the Spanish consul at Jackson ville, Tex., against allowing it, and the Bermuda left without difficulty or ob struction, and, according to telegram received from Captain General Weyler the expedition has already landed. This report has created a sensation in Madrid and astonishment is expressed by El Liberal at the conduct of the United States in the matter.

All the comments of the press manifest the deep impression made upon th public mind by the action of the United States toward the sentence of the Com petitor captives. A late dispatch from Habana confirms the report that Captain General Weyler has threatened to resign his post unless the sentences are executed. Senor Canovas del Castillo, the pre mier, being asked for an expression of his opinion regarding the matter, said: "The affair must be settled in accordance with the law and existing treaties.

The Heraldo compares the offensiv conduct of the United States consul gen ish consul, who made friendly representations in favor of pardoning the prisoners. Public opinion, says The Heraldo, vehemently opposes American interference. It declares that America's demand applies exclusively to the form of trial, and not to the penalty. It believes that the Spanish government will decide that the matter shall be submitted to the supreme military and naval court. The Epoca also says that the attitude of President Cleveland and Mr. Olney appears to be incredible, and declares that the theory ascribed to Mr. Olney by the New York World deserves no serious reply, because the offense can never be re-

Officer Barry took care of the wheel which proved to be a new one. This morning it was learned that the wheel belonged to Mr. Gillis and one he had for his own use. Mr. Gillis left his wheel in his store when he closed up on Saturday night, and the supposition is that some one entered the back door and stole the wheel which was of an unusually high frame, and being such the party who stole it was unable to ride it or got frightened and left it. At any rate Mr. Gillis has got his wheel back again and will probably put a new lock on his back door.

CAPSIZED IN BAY.

Narrow Escape of Young Men Who Had been Fishing.

Four young men, whose identity is unknown as they refused to give their names, although they belong in Weymouth, had a narrow escape from drowning Sunday afternoon off Houghs Neck.

The men, as it was afterward learned, were returning from a fishing trip and school nine. claimed to have four hundred pounds of fish on board. When off Grape island a sudden puff of wind capsized their boat Ward One. and all were thrown into the water. They clung to the bottom of the boat but one had a hard time of it and was nearly exhausted before he got hold of the overturned to duty Saturday night.

Meanwhile Charles W. Hall, Amos Merritt and others who were sailing about the bay went to the rescue and taking the four unfortunates on board they towed the for a few days with congestion of the brain, overturned boat up the Fore river.

UNWILLING TO RESIGN.

Neither Will Rev. Dr. Lansing Submit to Reduction of Salary.

Will Have Counsel Fight the Case For Him.

Members of the Park Street Church, Boston, Are Now In a Quandary.

Boston, May 11.-Apparently unmind- derangement of fitted with a motor. Where is the Quincy ful of the storm that has gathered in the the female sysecclesiastical sky and is threatening to tem. break in all its fury upon the pastor of the Park Street church, Rev. I. J. Lansing delivered two eloquent sermons yesterday in the presence of many members of the society who are now up in arms against him. His resignation is must be rewhat some of the church people are garded as a after, and it is claimed that this will symptom soon be demanded, and for the second time. The charges will probably be neglect of church work and acting contrary to the wishes of the society in ever it

REV. ISAAC J. LANSING. Yesterday a reporter waited upon Dr. Lansing and asked if he would make a statement concerning the strained relations alleged to exist between himself and members of the church. "You must excuse me from saying anything about the affair today," was his reply. "I shall not discuss the question with anyone now, but may have something to say later."

There seems to be no doubt in the minds of many church officials that the crisis is now at hand. There is a stron element in the society thoroughly de termined that Dr. Lansing shall resign and these people are firm in their beliethat the welfare of the old church de mands it. They have nothing to say in criticism of the Christian manhood of Dr. Lansing, or his ability as a speaker Three years have come and gone since Dr. Lansing accepted the pastorate o the Park Street church. He had fought the fight in Worcester long years ago when as pastor of the Salem Street church he proved his eloquence and worth. Here also an element of dissatisfaction asserted itself. Some say it was because Dr. Lansing wanted to divide his time between his regular church and special meetings in Mechanics' hall of that city. Anyhow, it was about this time in the early '90s that he accepted the call to the Park Street church in

In the early part of his pastorate here considerable unfavorable comment was occasioned by his attack on President Cleveland and the late Governor Greenhalge. These public denunciations wer not to the taste of his people, and many embraced the opportunity of telling hir so. The first real trouble occurred last January, when at the church meeting i was shown that a deficit of $4500 would result during the year unless expenses were cut. It was decided to cut the pastor's salary from $7000 to $4500, but Dr. Lansing refused to accept any such treatment. He also said such action was

Then a committee was appointed to request his resignation, and, according to the statement of certain members, he refused to resign. The matter was then allowed to rest, and a church society meeting called. At this meeting Dr. Lansing presided until a motion was presented calling for the appointment of a committee of five, whose duties should be to request his resignation. He then vacated the chair, but before so doing it is claimed that he made brief speech, stating that he should not resign, neither would he submit to a reduction of salary. The motion was passed without a dissenting voice. A member of the parish stated yesterday that the committee will prepare a letter at once and forward it to Dr. Lansing. None of the opposition feel that he will comply with the request, as it is understood that he has consulted counsel, and has been advised to stick. It is believed that he will claim that the only way he can be removed is by vote of a council called by the society, church and pastor, and, naturally, he will refuse to join in the call.

A Connecticut Tragedy.

Durham, Conn., May 11.-What is believed to be a brutal murder, the result of a drunken quarrel, took place here early yesterday morning. The victim is Mrs. Margaret Murphy, aged 68, and her son Clarence, aged 35, is now under arrest, on suspicion of having inflicted the blows which caused death. Both mother and son had been drinking incessantly for the past 10 days, and, as Clarence Murphy is known to be very violent when drunk, and has frequently before beaten his mother, it is thought they again quarreled.

A May Scorcher.

Boston, May 11.-The city sweltered yesterday in a dry, record breaking atmosphere, which has continued for 24 hours. The weather bureau mercury. yesterday afternoon, registered 94.5 degrees. The hot spell was not local, and southern New England reports showed higher thermometer readings than for My physician said it was the worst case he ever had. My back ached, leucorrhœa very profuse, and I had a severe bearing-down pain. The physicians thought I should never recover, and as the last remedy, they procured your Vegetable Compound. I had not taken more than one-fourth of a bottle, before I was more comfortable. I continued its use, also the Sanative Wash, and Liver Pills. After using four bottles, I was able to be out, and do almost all my work. I think the Vegetable Compound is the only medicine that will cure female complaints, and it will reach the worst cases in a very short time. I know it saved my life."-Mrs. M. Magennis by the members of the church.

Assaulted His Wife.

North Adams, Mass., May 11.—Herman Schroeder, 36 years old, of Mechanicville, N. Y., was arrested here upon notice from the police at Mechanicville, where Schroeder is wanted to answer a charge of murderously, assaulting his wife. He acknowledged that he had attacked his wife with a knife, and he declared that he was drunk and crazed with jealousy. The woman's throat was badly cut, and she is in a critical condi-

Won't Submit to Cutdown.

Lewiston, Me., May 11.-The Androscoggin mule spinners have voted to strike on May 18 against the reduction notice which was posted on Tuesday. They have received assurances of support from the national union that they are well prepared for a strike of long duration. The spinners had proposed that they be given four days' work in a week, and thus curtail production instead of accepting the cut down.

In Memory of His Wife.

Marlboro, Mass., May 11.-The Baptist church has been given a lot of land and the house thereon, on Newton street, by Francis W. Goodale, in memory of his late wife, Nellie Fay Goodale, who was a prominent member of the church. The gift is valued at $4000, and the condition attached to the gift is that the society shall care for the Goodale lot in Maplewood cemetery.

Face Terribly Disfigured.

Manchester, N. H., May 11. - Oscar Johnson was riding a bicycle between this city and Lake Massabessic at a rapid rate when the front fork of the machine broke, throwing him to the ground with terrific force. A passer-by found him, and he was brought to this city. His face was frightfully cut, and the doctors say he will carry the disfigurement through life.

Houlihan Is Dead.

New Britain, Conn., May 11.-John Houlihan, who was knocked out by Patsey Nolan, in the 11th round in a prize fight, in a grove at Farmington, Thursday afternoon, and has since been unconscious the greater part of the time, died early this morning. The officials have the names of the seconds and a number of the participants, who will be

Says the London Times.

Sentences of Competitor's Men May Be Commuted.

Greatest Danger Lies In Intemperate Language of Spanish Newspapers.

London, May 12.-The Times says in an editorial: Spain is well advised in yielding to Mr. Olney's demand for delay. She has thus averted an explosion of popular indignation in the United North Weymouth Land Co. racifically disposed, could have resisted. tences have not been summarily executed, so that Spain is able to avert an States can make a strong case on merely citizens under the treaty) only belongs to residents in Cuba, while, in face of the death sentence, it could not be hoped that irregularities in the trial would be overlooked. If President Cleveland had yielded to the pressure to acknowledge the insurgents as belligerents, the Competitor captives would have been entitled to the privileges of prisoners of war. Therefore, it would be singularly bad policy to give the United States an irresistible reason for conferring upon withheld. Both the Spanish government and press ought scrupulously to avoid neutrality of the United States impossible. Captain General Weyler's attitude could be better understood if he had any success in dealing with the insurgents. Whatever the execution may be, circumstances seems to be rapidly settling the Cuban question, and very unfavorably for Spain.

The Graphic compares the Competitor cases to the Jameson raid, and says: Englishmen can sympathize with the United States, looking at the scandalous analogy collapses when the attitude of the United States to its own raiders is compared with England's to her's. What would Europe have said if Mr. hamberlain had talked to President Kruger as Mr. Olney talked to Spain? We trust, however, that Spain will show clemency to the filibusters, for the knowledge that she will not do so twice may help to put Mr. Olney on his guard and to moderate the enthusiasm of the Florida Cubanopphiles. The Madrid correspondent of The Daily Mail believes that it has already been resolved to respite the prisoners dark, $1.00, $1.25, $1.39, $1.50, taken on the Competitor, the queen regent being especially desirous to avoid complications. The ministers, this correspondent continues, are as one with her, and will do nothing likely to jeopardize the possession of Cuba. In an interview which this correspondent had with Senor Sagasta, the Liberal leader, he refused to discuss whether the men taken on the Competitor were simply smugglers or were fillbusters. but, he said, it was evident that if a pardon were granted to the British prisoners, it cannot be withheld from the Americans.

OLNEY'S PROMPTNESS

May Result In Ultimate Full Pardon of the Fillbusters.

Washington, May 12.-It is stated here on the highest authority that the Spanish minister has advised his government to commute the sentences of the Americans captured on the Competitor, and that there is good reason to believe that his advice will be followed. It is extrial, fairly and dispassionately conducted, they be found guilty. In that event, the sentence of the civil court will probably be carried out without protest from our government.

The state department gave out the following yesterday: "In the Competitor case, it can be authoritatively stated that at the request of the United States, the Spanish government will postpone execution of the death sentences upon American citizens until the views of the United States respecting the application to their cases of the treaty of 1795 and the protocol of 1877 can be presented and

Well-informed officials say their case is in many respects similar to that of ex-Consul Waller in Madagascar, against whom, however, the evidence was more of a circumstantial character, yet he was sentenced to penal servitude for life, subsequently to be fully pardoned upon the energetic insistance of Secretary Clney, whose prompt intervention in the Competitor affair, it is not now doubted will be as ultimately successful.

There is, of course, some danger of complications arising from the intemperate language of the Spanish newspapers, based upon dispatches sent from the United States, and consequent outbreaks of the Spanish populace, but these conditions are offset by the obligations which the existing Spanish gov-ernment is under to President Cleveland's administration for its conserva-vote of both houses of congress, by which the will of the people for recognizing belligerency was proclaimed, no overt action in favor of the revolutionists has come from the executive. In this connection it has probably occurred to the Spanish cabinet that had belligerency been proclaimed three weeks ago, when congress demanded it, the summary sentence of the Competitor's captives would have been utterly precluded by the plainest tenets of international Spain's Policy. The speech declares that Spain has fulfilled beyond measure the promises she made to the Cubans after the first rebellion. The relations with foreign powers, the speech says, are excellent. The correct and friendly attitude of the (South and Central) American republics, in the presence of the Cuban rebellion, it says, serves to prove that each day develops still more the interests binding them to Spain. In the United States, despite the efforts of public opinion in the contrary direction, the States which no administration, however president and his government have not separated themselves from the line of conduct and the loval friendship which have always existed between the two countries since the creation of the reunappeasable quarrel. ### Killed by a Blow.

New Britain, Conn., May 12.-Corone Taintor held an inquest yesterday on the body of John Houlihan, who died from injuries received in a prize fight last Thursday afternoon. No verdict has been rendered yet, but the autopsy showed that Houlihan's death was due to hemorrhage of the brain, caused by the insurgents an advantage hitherto a blow. There were no signs of sunstroke, as was first said to be the cause of Houlihan becoming unconscious. No anything tending to make the continued arrests have yet been made. The police however, have information of about 25 who attended the fight, and it is believed that when the coroner renders his verdict they will be brought into court Patrick Nolan, who struck the fatal 14 inch, 79c. blow, is sick.

WHY?

For several reasons, all good, practicat ones. 1st. Our experience for twenty-five years in selecting and handling TEAS of all kinds, both wholesale and retail, enables us to select goods with merit and reject the spurious so common in the market, and which the inexperienced dealer cannot distinguish. 2d. Our TEAS are bought direct from the importer, and the profits that usually go to the Broker, the Wholesaler, and the Jobber, three or four in all, WE give to our

3d. The large quantity of TEA which we sell enables us to be often in the market as buyer, and any advantage to be had by any cash buyers we get.

4th. Because we can refer you to hundreds of families in Quincy and vicinity who have used TEA purchased from our establishment with satisfaction. 5th. Because we never sold more than at present time and never with better results.

There are more reasons but above will show that we mean business. We will gladly give a generous sample for trial to any lady calling at our store or by sending a note by messenger with name and street number of lady sending same, therwise no samples will be given to children.

Councilman Holt presented a minority report and moved substitution order granting Mrs. Gilpatric a license. In support of his order he said Mrs. Gilpatric did not intend to sell groceries on unday and that she would comply with he law. There should be some place in this remote part of the city where refreshnents could be procured on Sundays. He read a letter from Mrs. Gilpatric agreeing to comply with the law.

Councilman Claffin said he had visited the place and talked with Mr. Gilpatric.

It was a bad precedent, caide & Co. for whenever a man was refused a license his wife would petition and it would go hrough the whole family.

Councilman Phillips,-Mrs. Gilpatric resented the petition as she believed an njustice had been done her husband, and her neighbors feel the same way. He then reviewed the reasons given against Mr. Gilpatric. If the passing of the order would create anything unlawful it would e right to vote against it but when an justice had been done it should be righted. The chairman had stated the seats were filled with loafers and the room full of smoke and there were but two persons in Ward Two who wanted the license, and if this is what he found out in his seven days he did not make very good use of his time. Councilman Sidelinger said it did not make any difference the statement he made about loafers and smoking was true. He had never been there but a few times and on one of these there were four men

Council would make a mistake if Councilman Pinkham thought a they granted a petition to the wife after the Council had refused the husband.

Councilman Claffin said the op ponents do not seem to rest this case on the same grounds as before, but on the family relationship, and that did not seem a valid reason. Suppose the aunts and daughters did come forward and ask for a license they had a right to petition this to a license.

Councilman Field hoped substitute motion would prevail. He was down to Quincy Point Sunday night and looked into this place. It looked clean and neat and on the settee was a lady with a child. At times when a schooner wants to sail in a hurry the captain finds himself out of omething, and it was necessary to have store sell it to him and was no more than a person could do in any of the stores of Quincy. It was a poor and unjust point to make. He had talked with some good people at the Point and had yet to find one who did not say the license should be granted. Councilman Sprague hoped the minority eport would be accepted. The question of accepting the minority

"Disagreeing in our opinions as to whether it was a case for operation or not, the patient decided to have a surgeon from Boston to decide this point. He was removed to the hospital, and the Boston surgeon decided that it was not a surgical case. While the patient was on the table, and as soon as he had been examined by the Boston surgeon, the hospital officer ordered the assistant matron to have the patient sign an application for his admission to the hospital, and also get security that he would pay full hospital rates. "I ask the public what they think of this conduct, demanding security at 11:30 o'clock at night from a man writhing in pain on a hard table in the hospital of the city, in whose government he held a responsible position, by a physician, one of the founders of the hospital, who had given to the patient himself an unqualified opinion that his end was near. The assistant matron proceeded to carry out the directions. The patient signed the application and then the question of security was continued until I myself signed as security. But the cause of such conduct is obvious. Had the patient employed one of the members of the hospital staff, the question of security would have been of small consideration."

New York, May 12.-Henry Cuyler Bunner, editor of Puck, died yesterday at his residence in Nutley, N. J., from consumption. Mr. Bunner was born in Oswego, in 1855. He was educated in a French school in New York City. He soon became connected with the New York newspapers, and for some years was a reporter. In 1877 Swartzman & Keppler issued the first edition of Puck. It was then a German publication. Before long the German edition was supplemented with an English edition, and Mr. Bunner was made the assistant editor. Before long he was in charge as editor. In addition to his work on Puck, Mr. Bunner was a frequent contributor to the leading magazines, and was the author of a number of works.

And Found a Bulwark of Strength and Safety.

C. B. Downs, of the freight department of the Boston & Maine Railroad at Portsmouth, knows what it is to suffer from hunger with food within reach, which he could eat, but not digest. He lives at 39 Daniel Street, and tells his experience in the following words:-When I was 14 years old I began to be troubled with indigestion, which as I grew up became worse instead of better, until I found it hard to keep any food on my stomach. Everything I ate caused me pain and distress, but I did not look like a dyspeptic and so did not get much sympathy. I tried as many as a dozen different things, but they all failed to cure me, and like a drowning man I was ready to catch at any straw offering the least hope of rescue. Then I tried Puritana and was not only relieved by it from the pain, but in a short time completely cured of my indigestion. I could eat sausages without their hurting me, and I found that Puritana had given me a new stomach that would digest any food. I believe that I was the first person in pain and agony. Of course I Itried to get relief, but met with failure after failure until there seemed to be no hope left. At last I was persuaded to give Puritana a trial. The result was marvelous. It not only relieved me, but it made me perfectly well. Instead of being doubled up with pain, Puritana has given me a stomach like an ostrich, that will digest almost anything. There is nothing too strong for me to say in favor of Puritana.

No Estimate of Cost of Court House Asked After Plans Were Made.

Recalled one other instance. Knew expenditures on court B. D. BISBOP, Manager. house would exceed $65,000 considerably, but only expected five per cent. on that > Mr. Story exhibited contracts which Mr. Wait identified, and said were in regular form. At first the vouchers for payments included memoranda of amount of contract, amount paid, balance, etc. On later ones these memorandas were erased, and later omitted. Mr. Wait said he was instructed to erase and omit by the commissioners. Didn't know why.

When asked when the commissioners had reached decision to remodel the whole building he could not tell. Probably prior to 1894. Plans for the whole building were made July 19, 1892.

Copies of the Quincy DAILY LEDGER were then introduced containing advertisements for six different proposals. These were the only contracts advertised except one in Boston Advertiser. Mr. Wait said plans must have been done or nearly so when contracts were advertised. Didn't recall being asked for estimate of cost after plans were made for completing the building. One part was substantially done before other part was started.

Mr. Wait couldn't tell how his account for services was made up. Claimed all payments to him were on account, although most of them did not so read. Believed he had received in all $17,900 and that there was now a balance due.

His partner said a search had been made during the noon recess for the original drawings for the furniture but they could not be found. The specifications referred to them, and number appeared on them. Had not been particular to preserve them as bill had been settled, Admitted pay ment had been made since Jan. 1, 1896. THREE HEROIC QUINCY BOYS.

West Quincy.

On the 3d of May, 1863, at 11 o'clock, Sunday morning, Gen. Sedgwick of the 6th Corps gave orders to storm Fredricksburg Heights. Gen. Newton formed three columns of assault at once.

'The troops received positive orders not to fire, (no matter what resistance they encountered); but to put the enemy out of their works with the bayonet. The Brigade and 16 guns of the Washington Artillery of New Orleans.

The three assaulting columns advanced at once at double quick time and at right shoulder shift arms, making a grand rush for the rebel works.

The centre column led by Col. Johns of works. When within a few yards they restaggered them, and cut down 145 men, including Col. Johns, their commander. They rallied at once under the command of that gallant and fearless soldier Col. Harlow of Abington; up and over the stone wall they go driving the enemy out of their pits with the bayonet; making a grand by sending a note by messenger with name and street number of lady sending same, rush for a redoubt defended by two guns, capturing them before the enemy retired. Especial mention must be made of the gallant and heroic conduct of the color

The Massachusetts 7th national flag was carried well in advance of all others by a Quincy boy, and planted on one of the two guns captured. Gen. ### THE COHEN MYSTERY.

Before Being Burned.

Sharp Instrument.

Detectives Are Supposed to Have Made Some Startling Discoveries.

Clinton, Mass., May 13 .- The mystery surrounding the death of William Cohen, the aged Bolton farmer, who was burned to death at his home near the center of the town, continues to grow, and the government officials state that an arrest will follow within a day or so. Deputy State Fire Marshal Robert E. Molt and State Detective P. F. Murray of Worcester, who have been detailed in the case, have discovered some damagng evidence. They will not state upor whom suspicion falls.

The body was disinterred yesterday afternoon, and Medical Examiner Connor discovered that there was unmistakable proof of some sharp instrument having been used in severing the limbs from the blackened and burned trunk of the victim. Another important discovery is the ax with which the government authorities believe the deed was committed. This instrument was found but a short distance from the spot where Cohen's body was taken out of the debris on Sunday last.

Of course the heat and the mass of New lot of WRAPPERS in light and brick, mortar and embers which fell dark, $1.00, $1.25, $1.39, $1.50, upon it have obliterated every trace of its having been used in killing Cohen, it such were the case, but close proximity to the body is regarded as significant. On Beacon Hill. Boston, May 13 .- The committee of street railways voted to report leave t withdraw on the Boston petitions for ent fares and free transfers. The com nittee also voted that no further legis ation was necessary on the governor' address on street railways, and the rail road commissioners' report, unde which the West End railroad hoped to secure a permanent location and franchise, thus barring out the Boston ele vated road. The legislative committee on redistricting fixed the ratio for the BROOMS, Good Ones, 15c. representative districts, and apport tioned the number of representative among the counties. The average rati for the state is 2336 voters to a district Suffolk county gets 1 additional repre sentative, 53 in all; Worcester county gets 28 representatives, a loss of 1; Middlesex will have 47, a gain of 4; Essex will have 33, a loss of 1; Hampshire wil have 6, a gain of 1; Franklin will have a loss of 1; Barnstable will have 3, a loss of 1. A Serious Outlook. Biddeford, Me., May 13 .- The opera tives in the Pepperell and Laconia mills, where a 10 per cent cutdown wil go into effect May 18, are talking of a strike, unless the directors of the corporations agree to a shutdown for one or two days a week instead of reducing wages. Agent McArthur says that the directors in Boston voted to cut down wages 10 per cent, and if the operative do not see fit to work under this schedul the factories will shut down. These factories employ 3500 people, and it is predicted that if a strike is begun it wil be the bitterest labor trouble ever see in this city. The board of trade met last night to devise some means of preventing a strike in the mills, and a commit tee of citizens was appointed to confer with Agent McArthur to suggest the natter of a compromise. The mer chants anticipate heavy financial losse should the mills shut down for any

Almost a Riot. Lynn, Mass., May 13.—While Perley Walton, a non-union workman at Reed & Costelo's wharf, was returning from work last night, he was met by Willian Nolan, a striker. It is said Nolan at tacked Perley, but, in return for his trouble, was knocked down severa times. The row attracted a crowd of several hundred, who took sides with Nolan, and all began an attack on Perley. As Perley retreated, he drew a re volver, but some policemen happened along and took Nolan and Perley into custody. Perley claims he acted in self

THE BLUES.

Body of Aged Farmer Was Mutilated A Graphic Description of the Dreadful Feeling.

Limbs Were Severed With a what Is Meant by This Form of Acute Misery-Where Doctors Make Mistakes.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way:-

She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached, and back also; has slept poorly; been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head (() dizzy, and heart has beat very fast; then that bearing-down feeling. Her doctor says, "cheer up, you have dyspepsia; you'll be all right soon." But she doesn't get "all right." She grows worse day by day, till all at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established. Her doctor has made a mistake. She has lost faith in him; hope vanishes; then comes the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES. Her doctor, if he knew, should have told her and cured her, but he did not, and she was allowed to suffer. By chance she came across one of Mrs. Pinkham's books, and in it she found her very symptoms described and an explanation of what they meant. Then she wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice, feeling that she was telling her troubles to a woman. Speedy relief followed, and vigorous health returned.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the story recited above is the true experience of hundreds of women, whose letters of gratitude are to be found on file in Mrs. Pinkham's library.

FOOLED THE BOSTONS. Colts Braced Up In the Eighth and Took Game Number Two.

Chicago, May 12.-The Colts fell on the curves handed up to the plate by Sullivan of the Boston team in the eight inning, and when the fusilade was over the game belonged to Chicago. It was a hard one to lose. The visitors seemed to have a perfectly safe lead up to that time, although it was a margin of only one tally.

In Congress.

Washington, May 13.-The animated contest which has proceeded for the last four days in the senate, over a deep water harbor for the southern coast of California, was brought to a close by a compromise between the conflicting interests. An agreement has been reached to dispose of the amendment to the river and harbor bill this afternoon. The house entered upon the contested election case of Rinaker vs. Downing, from the Sixteenth Illinois district. The debate was very spirited Mr. Moody (Rep., Mass.) joined with the Democratic majority in asking the adoption of a resolution for an official recount of the ballots in dispute, and supprted his position with a vigorous speech, in which he declared that the unseating of Downing would be an outrage on the people of the Sixteenth Illinois district, and a stain on the Fiftyfourth congress.

McKinley a "Marker."

Washington, May 13.—At yesterday's session of the A. P. A. council the time was consumed mainly in the consideration and adoption of the report of the credentials committee. Committees were appointed on ritual and paraphernalia, on the report of the executive committee, on political action, on the president's message and on agitation and educational work. It is expected that President J. W. H. Trynor will de liver his annual address today. The chief topic of talk among the members of the council is the recent action of the advisory board in the attack on Major McKinley, and it will be the subject of much animated discussion during the deliberations of the convention.

Unveiling of Hancock Statue.

Washington, May 13.—Ellicott's bronze equestrian statue of General Winfield Scott Hancock, pronounced by critics one of the finest of the sculptured liketon, was unveiled yesterday with appropriate ceremonies. President Cleve land presided over the exercises, mak ing a brief address, and announcing the program to an audience which included representatives of all the official circles, which are to be given every evening and Saturday afternoon of the week beginning May 18, in Tremont Theatre, Boston, are destined to be even a greater success than was anticipated by the most enthusiastic members of the order. Mr. George Lowell Tracy, so well-known as the composer of "Excelsior, Jr.," who is directing the musical parts of the entertainments, promises the best minstrel performance ever given in Boston, one of the novel features being a chorus of 125 strong voices. The finale is a new musical comedy, composed expressly for these performances by the daughter of a well-known member of the Arcanum. Stage Manager Seymour of the Tremont Theatre says the piece is remarkably bright, catchy and well conare to create the characters.

A part of Atlantic's 400 were in the semi-circle on the platform Music half Wednesday night, and the seats on the floor of the hall held the balance.

Those seated on the platform were the black face entertainers, while those on the floor composed about everybody in Atlantic and they laughed, and laughed, and shook and grew fat at the sharp jokes and bright sayings of the four end men.

It was a minstrel show, the first of Massachusetts Bay Colony, No. 162, U. O. P. F., and it was a good one from beginning to end.

Sam Weston, Frank A. Tilton, Dar Haley and Harry W. Read were the end Dow, 1b men. It was no new business for some of the four, for they had been there several McAllister, cf. times before. Frank Tilton and Harry Read are also well known although it was Frank's first appearance locally and some of his many friends on the N. Y., N. H. & Hartford, where he is vard master, came out to see how he looked with a black face. Among those were noticed Superintendent J. C. Sanborn, Paymaster George W. Wilde, Roadmaster, E. H. Bryant, Chief and Murray. Train Dispatcher E. T. Wright, and Conductors Warren A. Page and H. W.

It would be utterly impossible, to tell the jokes and witticisms of these four men but between the several numbers they were thicker than flies in fly time. Some of them were local hits and were good ones. Of the several numbers on the programme it can only be said that the solos were all good and that each number was round and strong. Each soloist no doubt direction, which shows that he must be popular "Wid the ladies." Just before the closing chorus of part

Central Falls, R. I., May 14. - Mrs. Ruth Pendleton, 78 years of age, was fatally burned yesterday afternoon at her home by the explosion of a gasolene stove. She ran out in the yard with her clothes on fire, falling on the steps, setting the woodwork on fire. She was carried into the house in a dying condition. The house was badly damaged by fire.

Prices Jump Upward.

Boston, May 14.—The increase in prices of bolts and nuts in the iron trade, nearly 50 per cent. the past three weeks, is the first evidence of a reported gigantic pool of manufacturers in these goods, the organization of which is now in progress here. The new pool, it is understood, will be managed on the same lines as the nailmakers' association.

An Old Man's Suicide.

Boston, May 14 .- The body of Joseph S. True, aged 60 years, was found stark and stiff in coagulated gore, which had oozed from his juglar vein, in his tenement in South Boston, by police officers, who had broken in to see if everything was all right. ### RUN DOWN AT LAST.

Becker and Cregan, Expert Forgers, Under Arrest at Newark.

Wanted For Crime Which Netted Them $20,000.

Carried on Wholesale Swindling In a Most Systematic Manner.

Newark, N. J., May 14. - Charley Becker, forger and bank swindler, without a peer in the whole world, has been landed behind the bars. James Cregan has been taken into custody with him, and banking house officials all over the world will hear the news with a marked degree of satisfaction. Especially pleasing will it be to the American Bank association of the United States, through whose efforts in employing the Pinkertons these noted criminals have at last been brought to justice.

Becker and Cregan are the last of a noted gang that have been the terror of American banks for years past. Their work has always been gilt-edged and practically impossible to detect by examination of the paper floated. It was their custom to purchase drafts for amounts less than $100 and then raise than $100 and then raise. amounts less than $100 and then raise them to hundreds of dollars and quite often thousands. It was Becker's busithe Pedler flashes his ness to alter the drafts. James Cregan was the man who pu up the money for the expenses in buy ing small drafts or checks to be altered. He also at times acted as middleman be tween Becker and the man who present The competent Opti- ed the forged paper to the bank. Becker has of late been living in New York, and the two men were arrested here as they and, by his knowledge of were preparing to leave for Boston. It was their intention to sail from Boston next Saturday on board the Catalonia. With the arrest of these two men mystery of the famous swindle of the Nevada National bank of San Francisco is cleared up. It will be remembered that in December, 1335, a draft for $22,-000 was deposited in the Nevada Na tional bank to the credit of A. H. Hand who had previously opened an accoun-

On the day after departing, "Hand" drew out $20,000, and it was paid to him in gold, he taking it away in four bags, containing $5000 each. Nearly three weeks afterward, it was learned that the draft was a swindle, having been raised from $22 to $22,000 by most clever work. The authorities were at once notified, and the Pinkertons have been on the track of the men ever since. It was the belief of the authorities that there were several men in the gang, and so it proves to be. In March, Fred L. Stebbins, alias Hand, and Joe McClusky were arrested, one at St. Paul and the other at Minneapolis. Their connection with the 'Frisco job was easily proven. Since this arrest the Pinkertons have been looking for the "penman" and his

Suicide For Love. Auburn, N. Y., May 14.-Charles A. that exist there. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is designed to do this—that is the theory. The facts are these—tens of thousands of people have used the "Discovery." It used to be sold with the understanding that if it didn't cure, it should be returned, and the money refunded. Nobody ever asked for the money, and so that clause was dropped. Thousands of people have written voluntary letters of thanks to its discoverer. A few of these letters have been included in Dr. Pierce's great thousand page book, Common Sense Medical Adviser. Meddington, assistant financial clerk of the state senate, shot himself at the home of William E. Webster in this city yesterday afternoon. Weddington was in love with Miss Belle Webster, and it is thought that his suicide was because she had rejected his proposal of marriage. He had been keeping company with Miss Webster about a year. He went to her house yesterday, and during a talk with Miss Webster threatened to kill himself. She left the room and saw Weddington place a pistol to his head and fire.

New Haven, May 14.-Manager de Sibour of the Yale navy has decided not to accept the invitation for the boat club to attend the regatta in Hamburg next July, and has written the Allgeme-Infter Boat club, who extended the in vitation, his inability to accept. His reason given was that the strain in training for the Henley regatta was so great that the crew would not have sufficient time to recuperate. It is believed, however, the fact that the Hamburg regatta was to be held on Sunday was the chief reason for declining, it being objectionable to the powers that be.

In Jury's Hands. Newport. Ky., May 14.—After 23 days, since the trial of Scott Jackson began, the case was given to the jury. The prisoner, though apparently weary, and during the last three days a trifle crestfallen, has maintained his self-posses-sion to the last. The weather nearly ali the time has been in the 90s. Some of the jury are becoming exhausted, and for that reason it was decided to not give the case to them until this morning.

THE INVESTIGATION.

Chairman Morrell and Contractor Wilcutt on Stand.

Plans for Remodelling Prepared After Mr. Morrell's Election.

Books, Accounts, Etc.

The time at the Norfolk county investigation Thursday afternoon was almost equally divided between Chairman Morrel of the board of county commissioners, and L. D. W leutt the contractor for the court house, and they were sharply questioned by Lawyer Story. Mr. Morrell said there was a balance due the architects. Didn't know how much. Might be $200 to $300. No reason why there had not been a settlement. Bills were taken up separately and considered .including insurance, screens, electrical work, etc. Was no advertisement or written contract for the electrical work. Didn't think either necessary. Billhead and business card of contractor for electrical work did not mention electric work. Had not urged board to accept offer of H. M. Bates & Co., which was $7,000 larger than Franklin bid. Wanted all bids cancelled and readvertised. Didn't have an exhalted opinion of A. B. Franklin.

Franklin's work was unsatisfactory and nis contract was cancelled. Didn't know how Bates came to be selected. In replac ing electrical plant found old engine only good for old iron, and dynamo not salable. Although many receipted bills read as per contract or as per proposals, there were oo contracts or proposals.

Bates lived in Hyde Park and within quarter of a mile of Mr. Morrell.

The granite for the court house was furnished by the Blue Hill Granite Co., a Maine corporation. Would be almost impossible to have gotten granite from a Dover quarry. Mr. Endicott, Mr. Davis Mr. Bates and two others were interested in Maine quarry. I visited quarry with the gentlemen on a vacation trip in 1892. Contract was made in 1894. No written ontract. No competition invited. Couldn't place time of vacation trip in 1682. Didn't know firm went out of business immediately after Norfolk county job.

H. M. Bates did other works under heat-Cou'da't tell what. Bill of ing contract. Cou'd i't tell what. Bill of $4000 was not enumerated. Was work on steam plant. Many alterations necessary.

After May 1, 1896, until October 1, 1896, the City Hall will be closed at 12 o'clock M. on Saturdays. steam plant. Many alterations necessary. When asked why the written contract of Wait & Cutter, the architects, was ignored, Mr. Morrell went into details. In 1891 there was talk of remodelling the court and t was an issue by the Democrats in the election that year. Visited the Middlesex court house with Mr. Wiggin then a member of the board, and there met Wait & Cutter, and they were recommended to us. In 1892 estimates were asked for the two wings, and the contract of $3,300 made on the supposition that it was a $6,500 job. Plans were afterwards enlarged.

Went to Legislature in February 1892 for appropriation. Was apparent the cost would exceed $65,000. In 1893 architect complained that he was doing work not contracted for. Agreed with him that he should have 5 per cent, on cost of altera-ions on front part when made. The board had an opinion from Lawyer Grover May 25 that Wait & Cutter were entitled to additional pay; also from Williams & Copeland.

Questioned by Mr. Story it appeared arge extra payments had been made Wait & Cutter before opinions were obtained, but Mr. Morrell said they had verbal opinions. Decided after election in 1893 to make enlargement. I told the architects they might go ahead on their own responsibility and make plans. Did not consult Mr. Wiggin who was to retire

In Jan., 1894, the architect advertised for oids for enlargement. Appropriation did not pass Legislature until February. Did not advertise in Boston papers.

The old furniture in court house was sold in small lots, transferred to other county buildings, and some was now in cellar. Could not tell what the income was. Supposed the Treasurer knew. Was sold by janitor.

Contractor Wilcutt.

Lyman D. Wilcutt of Cohasset was sworn at 3.40. Was in partnership with his son in 1892. Had had 25 years experience in building.

Mr. Story questioned him some about the Brookline High school which was larger and cost only $195,000, in comparison with the court house which cost $400,000. When asked if he had his books he said e had none. Had destroyed all in March of this year upon final payment on court house. Settlement was in January. Had no check books, stubs, sub-contracts, vouchers or receipts. Contracts with H. M. Bates amounted to $12,000. He didn't select Bates. Left with architect. Bates did plumbing as per contract. Suppose architect invited bids.

Bates did plumbing, heating, electric work, etc. I was interested with Mr. Bates in Blue Hill Granite Co. Have done no business in granite the past year. Have one in New York. Was requested to produce New York contract. Received 10 per cent. on Bates contract. Approved by architect and paid Dec. 4, 1894. Itemized bill rendered Nov. 28,

FULLER IS SUSPENDED

The Clergyman Makes a Dignified Protest

Claiming That He Had Endorsement of Church Authorities In Divorce Case.

Boston, May 15.-Bishop Lawrence as suspended for two years Rev. Samuel Richard Fuller, rector of St. Paul's parish in Malden, the stated reason being that he is guilty of "conduct unbe coming a clergyman." This is the result of the ecclesiastical trial which took place some weeks ago. The finding was announced to a small company that had ome together in St. Paul's church for the purpose of learning what action the pishop would take on the recommenda tion of the court of clergymen who rec mmended that Mr. Fuller be deposed Bishop Lawrence, before reading h finding, asked Mr. Fuller if he desired to offer any reason why sentence should not be passed: whereupon that gentle man presented the following solemn

"I, Samuel Richard Fuller, being sum moned to appear before the bishop of Massachusetts, do hereby protest gainst any condemnatory or disciplin ary sentence being passed upon me, and for the following reasons:

"First-I obtained my divorce by the dvice, in the first instance, of two oishops, namely, my own bishop, Bisho Lawrence of this diocese, and Bishop Clark of Rhode Island.

"Moreover, I obtained the divorce is the manner specifically advised by each of them. This advice was given in writing, and both these letters of advice ar in my possession. "Second—Bishop Hugh Miller Thomp-

narriage, which advice also is in writ ing, stating that I had the canonical an the Christian right to marry, that he ad rised me to do so, and that the church ad no discipline for me if I did. "Third-Bishop Lawrence wrote Bish op Thompson a letter, also in my pos ession, which Bishop Thompson has

"And in this consciousness of integrity

I must stand forever."

At the conclusion of the protest the bishop began the impressive reading o his decision. In effect this was favor able in the first part to Mr. Fuller; that is to say, so far as it related to the al leged violation of a canon of the church n marrying after a divorce had been granted on the ground of desertion. He elieved that Mr. Fuller honestly thought his case had been duly consid ered and adjudged, as required by the canons, and that therefore he was fre rom any moral guilt on this score. But the bishop went on from that to say that, in his judgment, the rector had no acted as a clergyman should, in seeking divorce on the ground of desertion, wher he really had, or claimed to have, evi ence to warrant proceedings for a dif ferent cause, because such action, as he viewed the matter, left hanging over his former wife a cloud which could be re noved, if at all, only by a finding in the rector's favor in a judicial court, after a trial on a formal complaint for the offense recognized by the canon as unquestionable ground for divorce. Boston, May 15.-Banker F. L. Higginson was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Maynard. The case was unontested, both parties agreeing that the testimony should be submitted by depositions, thus keeping the scandal from the public. This event legally closes one of the most sensational epi-sodes that has recently stirred Boston society. The suit directly followed the sudden disappearance of Mrs. Higginon and the simultaneous departure of James W. Smith, a Salem lawyer. Papers were filed by Mr. Higginson seeking legal separation, and after hearing the evidence, all submitted in affidavits, which were kept secret, the judge grant ed the divorce.

PATRON SAINT'S DAY

Celebrated Last Evening by the Wollaston Red Men.

Hodenosaunee tribe of Red Men of Wolaston celebrated its patron saint's day, (St. Tamina's) with a grand council fire at the wigwam on Thursday evening. There were long talks and short talks by past sachems, and talks by great palefaces.

Mayor Adams was present and talked to the braves. His talk was right to the point. He believed that the Red Men and kindred organizations were doing a great work; that they were bringing people closer together; they were charitable as well as social.

The long talk was made by Past Sachem, Hon. Henry O. Fairbanks, who talked on the aborigines, their history and legends. Past Sachem Fairbanks said in part, after reviewing briefly the history of secret organizations: In 1813 the Red Men society was organized, and its aims and purposes were of the same loyal patriotic motto "Liberty, Friendship, and Charity" them here.

I wish to say a few words in regard to St. Tamina. He was a great and noble chieftain. He was called home by the Great Spirit about the year 1685. Tamina was famed for his exploits as a hunter and warrior. From the father of waters to the Great Salt lake in the land of the setting sun, his deeds were recounted at every council fire. He waged for many years a war with his mortal enemy, the Evil Spirit, and during this time his prowess and courage exceeded, if possible, all that is related in song and story of Hercules. He was a great and true friend of the White Man, and was one of the chiefs who made a treaty with William Penn. At the conclusion of Past Sachem Fairbanks' address, Past Sachem William A. Jordan, who was master of ceremonies, presented to him a sash of the order and a Past Sachem's j wel. Mr. Fairbanks very gracefully accepted the gift and made a fitting response. The committee of braves who had charge of the council fire consisted of Hon. Henry Mackenzie, Mr. J. F. McLeod, Mr. T. H Taylor. ·An excellent entertainment was furnished by Prof. Carl Braun, pianst; Mr. Mr. Harry W. Sprague, cornet; Mr. James McTear, violin; Mr. Edward E Bulleck, ten; Mr. Gus Kammerlee, basso; and Mr.

Inflammatory Rheumatism:

OFFICE OF J. F. GREER, COUNTY JUDGE, I Green Cove Springs, Clay Co., Fla. I GENTLEMEN: Twenty-three years ago I was attacked with inflammatory rheumatism. I was attacked by the most eminent physician in the land. I visited the great Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the noted Hot Springs of Arkansas, and many other watering places, always consulting with the local physicians for directions, and finally came to Florida, ten years ago. About two years ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism, was confined to my room for twelve weeks, and during that time was induced to try P. P. Washington, May 15.—The Dupont case, involving the right of Henry A. Dupont to a seat in the senate from the state of Delaware, was taken up in the senate, with a view to concluding the debate and taking a final vote at 5 p. m. today. Mr. Platt (Rep., Conn.) spoke in support of Mr. Dupont's claim. Two speeches against the bill proposing additional restrictions on immigration, by Mr Gibson (Dem., Md.) and Mr. Nelson (Rep., Minn.) were made early in the day. Mr. Caffery (Dem., La.) spoke on the need of action to offset the proposed lesislation by the German reichstag on sugar bounties. ### UNAWARES.

When I was introduced to her, I was standing in the balcony of the swimming tank at Santa Cruz, watching the greenery yellery water beneath and the black human frogs awkwardly gamboling therein. I dislike being introduced to people at or in swimming tanks, but as Mrs. Richbody introduced her I had to be civil. (Mrs. Richbody has a very good cook-much better than the chef at the hotel where I am staying.)

So I found her a chair and we sat cheerfully, and sat down again with a satisfied smile.

Now, I confess, that just for a moment I felt foolish. Never a man, never a child and seldom a woman has made me feel foolish. And this woman had made me feel foolish-for a moment. I was annoyed, and, I fear, showed it, for 162 Hancock Street, I gave a little start (I was so surprised at her audacity, you know), and dropped my lighted eigar into the swimming tank. Now, this was more extraordinary than anything she had said before. That lager beer, love sauerkraut and write volumes on such thrilling topics as Assonantal Rimes for Hors in the old German epic—that a girl so educated should show acquaintance with a belle lettres writer so essentially non-German as Sterne—this was even more remarkable than her impertinent remark about my having said "nothing."

I was proceeding to light a fresh cigar when she interrupted coolly:

"I don't like smoking, Mr. Legend." I looked at her in amazement. "But you are a German," I said.

'Surely all Germans''-"Have you ever been in Germany?"

Now, here she had me again. No, I have never been in Germany, but I struggle, so I evasively replied, "I have been in Sleswick-Holstein."

"That's hardly Germany" (this rather disdainfully).

"I'm glad to hear you confess it," said I. "I've always maintained that mark which the Germans stole.'

The Dog That Got the Ducks.

A good story is told of hunters from Blackie. Washington who went to the coast of North Carolina to shoot ducks.

There were six men in the party, and they had three dogs with them. They hunted in couples, each two having a dog. Shooting was good, and from each of the six couples the sound of guns being fired notified their friends of their success, for they were only a short distance apart.

Each couple was somewhat indig- I've found a joy in sorrow, a secret balm for nant, because whenever a duck fell their own dog failed to get it, one dog seeming to secure almost every one of the wild fowl.

DEATH IN ITS WAKE.

Terrible Tornado Sweeps Through the Town of Sherman, Tex.

Everything In Its Pathway pointed in 1858 by President Buchanan, Laid In Ruins.

Forty Dead Bodies Already Recovered and the Worst Not Yet Known.

Dallas, May 16.—A special to The News from Sherman says: Just a few minstruction and death in its wake, swept for the position he now holds. through the western half of the city, traveling almost directly north. The approach of the whirlwind was announced by a deep rumbling noise, not unlike reverbrating thunder. A flerce and driving rain accompanied it. Late last night it was reported that 40 people have been killed south of the town, in addition to the city's death list. Wagons are unloading the dead and injured all

A newspaper correspondent standing on the north side of the Court Plaza had his attention called to the peculiar appearance of the clouds. They were parted at the lower side, converging into a perfect funnel shape, while a lowlying seething mass of vaporous clouds were rapidly revolving in the rift. The air was suddenly filled with trees and twigs, and the downpour of rain brought with it a deluge of mud. Then the truth dawned upon all that a cyclone was where several people were killed out-

The number of missing is large, and includes a great many children, and it At Louisville — Louisville, 9; Philadelis quite probable that the most of them are dead. It is very conservative to estimate that the list of fatalities will reach 60, while the injured will reach 100. At the latest accounts 50 houses are totally wrecked. Most of them are small cottages, except in Fairview and Washington avenues, where handsome residences also succumbed. The loss will reach at least $150,000, and but little, if any, of it was covered by cyclone in-

About the most graphic description given by any of the injured was that of W. S. Bostwick, who says: "I was at John Irvine's house when I heard the noise of the approaching storm. Just as I looked out, I saw Captain Berges' house blown into the air, and also Mr. Shearer's house. The air was filled with great trees and timbers and every conupon us, and that it could not be long in reaching us. It was a black serpentine cloud, twisting, writhing in the center, but at the bottom it seemed to be moving steadily. I woke up from my stupo, and called out to the family, who were in the house, and asked them not to run out. I feared that we would all be struck by flying timbers. Then came an awful crash, a sense of suffocation, and when it was over the house was gone and myself and family were scattered about the vard and under the debris. It was over in such a short time I cannot give you an idea of how long it was." At 6 o'clock last evening, 12 bodies were lying cold in death in the county courthouse, and as many more were scattered about across the desolated west end of the city. No accurate estimate can as yet be placed on the loss of life and property. The work of rescue and search for the missing goes on.

The Western Union office is over flowed with anxious ones, sending messages and inquiring the fate of their friends and other towns. Every available wagon, buggy and horse is in use by searchers and workers in the field of death. As time grows, later reports of greater loss of life and property arrive. Many stories of miraculous escapes are Express drays, baggage wagons and all kinds of vehicles continue to come in with dead bodies. Around the Moore building the highest excitement prevails and the greatest difficulty is experienced in getting the names of the victims and accurate reports.

The storm struck Sherman without warning on the southwest corner of th. city, and cleared a path 100 yards wide trees, fences and everything went before the terrible force of the cyclone. The negro part of the town suffered the most severely. There are probably 30 negroes in Post Oak creek.

Two Diseases That Cause Their Victims to Be Shunned by Their Fellow-Man.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. GENTLEMEN: I commenced taking P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, last Fall, for Erysipelas. My face was completely covered with the disease; I took a short course of P. P., and it soon disappeared. This Spring I became other course, and I am now in good condition. I consider P. P. P. one of the best blood preparations on the market, and for those who need a general tonic to build up the system and improve the appetite I consider that it has no equal. Will say, anyone who cares to try P. P. will not be disappointed in its results, and I, therefore, cheerfully recommend it.

ARTHUR WOOD, Springfield, Mo. Erysipelas and Scrofula cured by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, surely and without fail.

SPRINGFIELD, MO. GENTLEMEN: Last June I had a scrofulous sore which broke out on my ankle. It grew rapidly, and soon ex-tended from my ankle to my knee. I got one bottle of your P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and was agreeably surprised at the result. The entire sore healed at once. I think I have taken almost every medicine recommended for scrofula and catarrh, and your P. P. P. is the best I have ever tried. It cannot be recommended too highly for blood poison, etc.
Yours very truly,
W. P. HUNTER.

P. P. P. cures all blood and skin disease, both in men and women. Rheumatism, which makes man's life a hell upon earth, can be relieved at once by P. P. P., Lippman's Great Rem-edy. It makes a PERMANENT cure. P. P. P. is the great and only remedy for advanced cases of catarrh. Stop-page of the nostrils and difficulty in breathing when lying down, P. P. P. relieves at once.
P. P. Cures blood poisoning in all its various stages, old ulcers, sores and kidney complaints. Sold by all druggists.

THE WEEK PAST

The people have heard much the week past about county business, and the taxpayers have been disgusted. At the outset many thought that the county commissioners had been extravagant and erected a more costly court house at; Dedham than was necessary. That possibly they had obtained money under misrepresentations, etc. But to put it mildly things look mighty suspicious now. Work was undertaken without an estimate of the cost. Few written contracts were made, and one and he had it on hand six months or a these amounted to little. The commis- year. It was worth $1,100 or $1,200. sioners exercised no responsibility, but allowed the architects to proceed and enlarge and remodel at pleasure at any cost, without any knowledge of what was going on. Mr. John H. Crandon told the Quincy Board of trade many helpful things, which may result for good but he told the representative of the LEDGER, that he believed the Quincy Association had made a mistake in making the board of directors the sole governing power. It takes away all of a man's interest if he has no vote. This may be the reason why the Quincy Board of Trade is not more flourishing.

It surprises many to learn that there are twenty-five churches in this city of Presidents, of granite, and of churches.

At the Birthplace of Golf-Women Who Play Cricket - Mr. Vanderbilt and the Yacht Defender.

Many of the golf enthusiasts of this country put the old town of St. Andrews, Scotland, in their European itinerary for a look at its links. For over 400 years this Scottish place has been famous as the home of golf, and the links are well worth a visit by any lover of the game. They are laid out beyond the town on the bay of St. Andrews, with the Grampian hills in the background. The links have 18 holes, most of them named, as the hole of the Cross, the Ginger Beer hole, the High hole and the Short hole. One of the bunkers is suggestively called Hell, and a beautiful piece of level turf is natu- yesterday. rally the Elysian fields. The Big Annual L. A. W. Meet. Since the League of American Wheel men decided to discontinue the racing classes A and B and in their stead recognize purely amateur and professional racing, the racing board has been urged to make some provision to allow the amateur and professional riders to compete at the national championship meeting in order to fully settle the question of supremacy among the leading racing men. The importance of this suggestion opens her cottage at Houghs Neck on has resulted in the board deciding to allow both classes to meet at the national meet at Louisville in August.

This will give great satisfaction to racing men. During the circuit meets and at local races amateurs frequently equal the competitive records of the professionals, but no chance is allowed them to test their abilities in races. This new rule will give additional importance to the national meet of the has been seriously ill, is reported as being League of American Wheelmen.

According to trustworthy raised and will be ready to start on its reports there never was illegal fishing on a more wholesale and public basis. Thousands of pounds of the best kind of fish have been caught recently, and the singular part of it is that everybody seems to know about it. The fish that motorman on the Quincy and Boston have been secured by the poachers are publicly offered for sale and the violators of the law act as if the law was strictly on their side.

It really is an outrage the way the law is being violated, and the thousands of sportsmen in and about Pittsburg are aware of the fact, and nobody seems to be able to do anything about the matter. -Pittsburg Dispatch.

Cricket In Petticoats.

Young ladies have taken to cricket this season with an avidity heretofore unknown. In the girls' game the usual 2 pound 4 ounce bat is used and the regulation 53/4 ounce ball. In connec tion with fielding, the girls have attained a remarkable degree of efficiency in throwing the ball, which is really a new accomplishment, for woman's lack of skill in this direction dates from time immemorial; but now the unwary ndicated for Sunday and probably Monday, a well directed and accurate throw in

AUGUSTINE H. REED, Assignee,

Said to Have Been Detected In the Stomach of Benjamin Vinal.

Officials Have Little to Say on the Subject.

Will Be Difficult to Determine Who Administered the Drug.

Bangor, Me. May 16 .- An important rumor comes from Winterport, that it has leaked out that the analysis by Professor F. C. Robinson of Bowdoin college of the stomach of the brother of Benjamin Vinal, now in jail at Belfast with his son, each of whom accuse the other of having poisoned the former's brother, has shown the presence of poison.

This cannot be verified, but it is known that Professor Robinson has made some sort of a report to County Attorney Bowden, and, from remarks which have been dropped, it is believed that sensational developments are likely to develop. The hearing in the cases of father and son will take place next week at

County Attorney Bowden was communicated with, but he refused to make any statement concerning the case at this time. He said it would not be best to discuss the case at this time, owing to the fact that he was not ready to publish the disclosures which had been made to

This statement, taken with the remarks which have leaked out, tend to give a sort of confirmation to the rumor that poison has been found in the stoniach of the dead man, in which case it will be a very difficult matter to determine which, if either, of the prisoners administered the deadly drug.

About the Stetson Estate.

Boston, May 16.-Mrs. Emma S. This ps per was established 31 years ago by Mr. Stetson. Tonight the Park theater will be closed by order of Mr. Adams and the remaining one year of its lease will be assumed by somebody else, as Mr. Adams is empowered to so negotiate it. Charles H. Hoyt is named as the probable lessee. The Boston Job Print. which is owned by the Stetson estate, has no incumbrances, and will be conducted by Manager Blaisdell. The new Hotel Savoy, which was closed at Mrs. Stetson's death, is being eagerly sought by would-be lessees

Who Shall Have Goldie?

Providence, May 16.-A hearing was held yesterday in the appellate court, on the petition of Victoria Hope of Boston for the custody of her infant child, known as "Goldie" Hope. After Mrs. Hope had told the story of the child's birth and her subsequent life, her counsel produced an offer of the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Crueity to Children to take charge of the child if it was sent to Boston. Rathbone Gardner said the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, in whose custody the child now was, would deem it a moral murder to give it into the custody of its mother. Several depositions of Boston parties were read, containing more or less serious charges, which Mrs. Hope denied. The court took the papers and withheld its decision.

No Strike at Lewiston.

Lewiston, Me., May 16.-Agent Bean ing the celebration. of the Androscoggin mills posted a notice yesterday that, beginning next Monday, the mill would run 10 hours a day for the first four days of each week, and will shut down the last two, and that the proposed reduction in wages will not be made. This is in accordance with the request of the operatives, that the running time be reduced instead of the wages, and will, accordingly, be accepted by them, and the strike ordered for next Monday will not occur. This decision on the part of the mill owners has caused great rejoicing here, as it was feared that a long and costly strike

Washington, May 16.—All the interest ic the A. P. A. convention is now cenregarding Major McKinley.

The advisory board finished its labors last night. It was reported upon what appeared good authority that the board Newburyport, Mass., May 16. - The had before it two persons who had been sent to Ohio and seen Mr. McKinley, and that they had "received satisfac tery answers to questions propounded to him." No official statement of such proceedings, however, could be obtained. It was reported upon seemingly good authority that the board would re-Port that the executive committee had been misled by the evidence which it used as a basis of the blacklisting of Mc-Kinley; evidence found on investigation to be unreliable and untrustworthy, and that it would further recommend that the order should not endorse or condemn any candidate for presidential honors. Two reports were said to have been drawn up by the board, one brief and to the point, and simply containing the conclusions arrived at, and the other a more detailed affair, giving at length the reasons which governed the members in the action taken.

General Grosvenor of Ohio, who, it was said, had sent to Judge Stevens certain charges against him, and taken other action in connection with the pending McKinley matter before the A. P. A., has sent a letter to The Post of this city, in which he says: "Every publication, in any newspaper. stating that Mr. Hanna or Governor Mc-Kinley or anybody else had telegraphed to me, or written to me, or spoken to me. orally, in regard to any controversy in which Mr. Stevens is interested, or in which anybody else, in that connection, rtle formerly applied only to trials for is interested, is wholly erroneous Equally erroneous is the statement that I have made any charges against Judge Stevens, or sent any communication to the A. P. A. body, attacking him, or that I have in anywise sought to influence or interfere with the action of that body it. I have received no communication, written or verbal, from Mr. Hanna or questing me to do or not to do anything in connection with this matter. ### MAY YET BE BEATEN.

Away From McKinley.

New York, May 16 .- Most of mcKinley's friends and confidential advisers, who have been trying to allay the apprepresent silence, have left the city. The results of their mission have not been encouraging. They have found that the apprehension and opposition was genu-Ine, widespread and not to be easily soothed; and that it was by no means quences of their manipulations, or the Portland, Me., May 16.-Ida Maloon, clamor of the opposition press. The anthe Skowhegan girl who was found swer they have often received is contained in this epigrammatic reply of one banker approached: "I don't want to Peformatory for Women at Sherborn, The testy words of some of the McKinley agents have also indicated their disappointment. Their chief consolation eems to be that, as Mr. Hanna puts it, "We still have the delegates." When they reach home they will probably follow a concerted policy indicated in the statement that Magee has already published in Pittsburg and in their talk here. They will say in substance that the alarm over McKinley's stlence is a mere political trick of Platt, his allies and hostile newspapers; and that in the business and financial community it has been grossly exaggerated. All is very wide of the truth. The monthly payments. business men of New York, irrespective of party-bankers, officers of corporations and merchants-were never more in earnest than they are in the present campaign for sound money. They are more united and more zealous in this cause than they were in the rising against Tammany in '94. They are using every means in their power to advance it. Their letters to their correspondents all over the country, their talk with their clients and customers and to each other, their warnings to poli- | ticulars. ticians, their financial contributions to sound money propagation-all indicate their sincerity and their interest. It is Insurance Commissioner Merrill has the testimony of some of the most expeen named as receiver of the Malden rerienced and most acute observers in this city that the business community John Linguest, 30 years old, was struck has seldom been more aroused or outb, a pile of falling iron in a junk yard spoken in any matter. Their apprehension is not stock-jobbing or foreign interference, or the trickness man of Bar Harbor, Me., shot and ery of bosses or partisan clamor. The mission of McKinley's friends here has not a whit abated it. Rather, their vagueness has increased it, and with this increase has come an impression that McKinley may, after all, be beaten a St. Louis through the opposition of the great financial interests of the east This was the view of Wall street yesterday, and it continues. More significant still, some of the international banking houses have faith enough in it to advise their European connections that Mc-Kinley's chances are visibly declining. But it is to be remembered that this financial alarm has not much affected the masses here, with whom McKinley's tandidacy is strongest.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER

The Dangers of Cycling In a Big City-Ar Italian Padrone's System-The Raines Liquor Law.

[Special Correspondence.]

For the spirit of the living creature was in the wheels.-Ezekiel i, 20. And the wheels like a whirlwind.-Isaiah

These would be good texts if one wanted to preach a sermon on bicycling war in a certain month of May you in New York just now. Then something could have taken just such a ramble as should be put in it about pride going Lieutenant J. M. Ellicott, U. S. N., before a fall and "careless daughters of tells in St. Nicholas that he did, in the destruction" should be asked to give ear county of Kent, which Englishmen to words of admonition. There is need agree in calling the "Garden of Eng- of such a sermon. Not a day passes that land." That big, white man-of-war the press does not record a killing or steamed up the Thames until only 25 maining of some bicycle rider. And distance of the piers at the town of ridden faster than the law allows, for the wheels are "like a whirlwind" all Lieutenant Ellicott says: "We take over the city, from the Battery to Harthe road for Rochester and soon we are | lem bridge. The only wonder is that in a country lane bordered by hawthorn the hospitals are not overstocked with hedges covered with their little bunches | the maimed. And they soon will be if of white flowers, filling all the air with wheelmen and wheelwomen do not learn wisdom from experience and observation.

Dangers of the Wheel.

But some of the recent accidents to sicycle riders were about as impossible of prevention as acts of Providence. 'The accident of Hon, Bourke Cockran is a case in point. His fall was caused yellow with buttercups, all separated by a wheel ahead of him, ridden by a leaf and dumb man, going over, and Mr. Cockran being so close behind there was no time in which to stop, and in consequence he was thrown violently from his wheel and severely hurt, so that he had to be removed to the hospital. It has been stated that a brake neying to Canterbury and merchants might have prevented the collision, but gauze scarfs were unfolded and the young traveling to London, but later famous the use of a brake so suddenly would ladies danced in and out under the rays of as the home of Dickens. The lesson of bicycle accidents At Cobham village is the Leather is plain and trite, but it will bear repeating-always dismount at the slight est apprehension of danger.

An East Side Terror.

But the bicycle army has other difficulties. One rider whose business necessitates his going through a notorious tenement house district twice a week has given up making the trip on his wheel because of the campaign waged against him by small boys. Pieces of Baxter and Miss Sherman. The Children articles of the time and with many por- lath about 4 feet long were studded with sharp pointed nails that projected a quarter of an inch or more from the board. As the wheelman came down the avenue the boys threw these strips of board in the road just in front of his But most interesting of all is a spot wheel, and the result was disaster. "What did you do that for?" "Oh, jus' to t'row you down, you mug!" answered the boy.

Money For Both.

The poor and lowly Italian seems to be getting along these hard times after Italy employs 125 bootblacks to work New York, and his income during the busy season amounts to hundreds of dollars a week. The boys are all Italians, and each of them receives $3.50 a week. In return he must give every evening to the man who hires him all the money made blacking boots during the day. The boys say that they are not even allowed to keep such extra tips as they may receive. One of these little bootblacks who has been in this country only two years told the writer vesterday how he sometimes got ahead of his boss. "I have been working here on this boat for a year," he said. "The boss gives me $3.50 a week, and I give half of that to a woman where I live. I save the rest, and when I get enough I am going back to Italy. Some weeks I make $8 and some weeks I may make $10 and $14. Every night when I get through the boss goes through my clothes and takes all the money I make. He looks through all my pockets and in my hat and my shoes. Sometimes men give me money for myself. If the boss finds it, he takes it. When I make a lot of money, I hide it under a stone in the street when I get off the boat. The boss goes through my clothes, and then I come back and find the money. I have got $100 in the savings bank now. When I get a little more, I am going back to Italy where Republican; Allen and Kyle, Populists. my father is. The women work there,

The men den't have to work so hard." Denunciation Only. The Raines liquor law may be the worst piece of legislation ever devised, but neither its working thus far nor those who are opposed to it have shown it to be so. Already one of the objections to it has been met and swept away. It has been declared flawless so far as constitutional interpretation is concerned. This decision will be taken to the court of appeals, but there is little chance of a change of verdict. So likewise the opponents of the greater New York have made very few arguments against it, their strength having been mostly expended in simple denunciation. The recent meeting in opposition to it was merely made up of violent tirades against Platt. The arrest of Salvation Army Commander Booth-Tucker because he appeared in public in disguise is another instance of the woodenness of the average New York policeman. The so called disguise consisted of false whiskers only, and Commander Tucker wore them merely to enable him to get correct information as to the condition of New York slums. He said: "I have found that everywhere I went some one recognized me, and my mission of getting at facts surrounding the poor was hindered; therefore I put on a disguise. I propose to establish a shelter for the unfortunate men of this city, where a night's lodging can be obtained at as low a price as 2 cents." JOSEPH RUSSELL Highest of all in Leavening Power .- Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Senator Frye Tells of Some of Our Needs.

The Senate Disposes of the River and Harbor Appropriation Bill.

Washington, May 14.-The river and harbor appropriation bill was passed by the senate yesterday, after an unusually stormy experience, lasting many days. As finally passed, the bill makes direct appropriations of $12,000,000, and authorizes continuing contracts of $64,000,000, an aggregate of about $76,000,000. During the debate yesterday the statement was made that this was the largest aggregate for a river and harbor bill in the history of the government. Mr. Gorman sought to secure an amendment to the bill, limiting the contract expenditures to $10,000,000 annually, but the amendment was tabled-Yeas, 40; navs. 23. Mr. Frye, chairman of the commerce committee, closed the debate on the bill by a statement showing the emarkable development of American ommerce and the consequent decrease in freight rates. He said in part:

SENATOR FRYE.

'The commerce of this republic in the last quarter of a century has grown so that it is the marvel of the whole world. It is without parallel in all history. 1 have heard it estimated that anywhere from $20,000,000,000 to $40,000,000,000 worth evening. of domestic commerce is transported every year over the 175,000 miles of our railroad and by over $ 000,000 tons of vessels-a fleet three times greater than be getting along these hard times after that of France and Germany and Italy a fashion. One delegate from sunny and Spain and England combined, engaged in the same business. It is, I say, worker of New England will speak. A for him on various ferryboats around the marvel of the age. Mr. Depew making a speech, recently, declared that our commerce going over our railroads 100 miles, exceeding by 200,000.00 tons the commerce of the whole world."

> Mr. Frye went on to show that a great factor in this increasing commerce had been decreasing freight charges Freight had fallen from 31/2 cents a ton a mile, 20 years ago, to 78-100 of a cent of a ton a mile. The people of the country still demand lower freight rates. The extension of the Erie canal, the project of raising the level of the great lakes, the Nicaragua canal project—these were designed to lower freight rates. The senator traced, in detail, the development of the Mississippi river commerce It was a vexatious and troublesome river, but could the United States refuse to make appropriations for it and let it become a useless river? He outlined the results at Galveston harbor, the Sault Ste. Marie canal, with its commerce greater than the Suez canal, and other great projects. This work could not stop, Mr. Frye said. Low freights had compelled great ships and larger channels. If senators were in touch with the American people, they would understand that there is a demand for improvement on the water ways of the country.

> On the final passage of the bill nine senators voted in the negative, as follows: Bate, Chilton, Harris, Hill, Smith and Vilas, Democrats; Brown, A number of house bills on the calendar were passed during the day, including the bill requiring a year's residence in any territory as a requisite to divorce.

The Republican steering committee of the senate held a brief meeting yesterday for the purpose of considering the order of business outside of appropriation bills in the senate for the remainder of the session, but, without reaching definite conclusion, adjourned until next Saturday. There is a difference of opinion among atorial steering committee as to what at 8.30. should be done with the bill to repeal the free alcohol clause of the present tariff act, but the best information is that the majority of the committee will recommend to the Republican caucus that the bill be passed. Mr. Sherman has renewed his declaration that he will call It up at the first favorable opportunity, but it is certain that the measure will not be permitted to interfere with the consideration of appropriation bills. It may perhaps be considered while come. those bills are in conference. The majority of the Republicans will not support the scheme to load the measure down with general tariff amendments. On the other hand, Messrs. Platt, Chandler and Lodge assert that they will keep up the fight against repeal, and believe that they will be able to defeat it. Immigration, bankruptcy, refunding of the Pacific roads and several other measures are being championed by various senators, but it is not thought that any of these will be taken up, unless it be for the purpose of making speeches while appropriation bills are in conference. Owing to the delay i ing the river and harbor bill, the of the session by mutua rears to have been delayed a week, and the leaders now say that the end will hardly come before June 8. None among the leaders is inclined to believe theses. sion will last longer than that. The house, after one of the hardest

The vote stood 139 to 35, diwided as follows: Yeas, 67 Republic cans, 69 Democrats and 3 Populists: nays, 35 Republicans. The case was debated Tuesday and yesterday until shortly after 5 o'clock. The supporters of the majority report, to unseat Down. ing (Dem.) and seat the contestant, realized that the disaffection on their side was so strong that the minority report would probably be adopted, and theyin augurated a systematic filibuster to gain time to rally their forces. The first test of strength on a motion to adjourn to 139-confirmed their suspicions but they fought valiantly to the end, to went down in the last ditch after star. ing off the final action for four hours The speaker gave them considerable leeway at the beginning of the fight but toward the end he declined to toler. ate dilatory tactics. ### MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Awful Double Tragedy Enacted In a Little Cape Cod Village.

Sadie Hassard Slain by a Rejected Suitor

Who Puts a Bullet Into Himself and Then Jumps Overboard.

Brewster, Mass., May 18 .- "Come out ere; I want to see you," was the peremptory command addressed to pretty sadie Hassard by her pretended lover, Fred Alexander, yesterday. A moment later came the sharp crack of a revolver, and a terrible tragedy had been enacted. The facts leading up to the shooting are

Fred Alexander, the murderer, was about 30 years of age, a rejected suitor of Miss Sadie Hassard, whom he killed. or six months he had been forcing his attention upon her, after she had re-fused his suit two months earlier, and consequence of which refusal Mr. Hassard had ordered Alexander from the house. After this the young man eft town and went to Brockton, at which place he worked for a time, returning ecently and renewing his attention with even more fervor and determina on. Miss Hassard was more unwilling Alexander began to threaten if she did ot accept him. Alexander kept out of Mr. Hassard's sight, in fact the latte ays he did not know of the young man's persecutions, as his daughter did no omplain out of fear that Mr. Hassare ould have him arrested.

Alexander finally became naniacal in his threats, and during the week Miss Hassard sent his father : etter of remonstrance. Mr. Alexande kept watch over his son up till Friday, when he disappeared, and, it is evident ought a hiding place there to brood ove a domestic in the family of Rev. Mr. Dawes, the village clergyman. It was at his home, across the street from the in the tragedy took place. The clergy man and family were in church, while Miss Hassard stood at the window, con versing with her youngest sister Maud whom she had asked to spend the fore noon with her, fearing to remain alone Alexander's threats had made her very timid, and she had intimations that Enddenly the rejected lover appeared at the window, and asked Sadie to step to the door, as he desired to speak to her. She declined. Then Alexander pushed in the window screen, grasping Sadie by the shoulders, pulling her bodily making a fearful threat at the same time. Miss Hassard got up, and darting from Alexander's grasp, ran toward the street gate, screaming with terror. Maud also screamed in her fright, and Alexander, drawing a revolver, told her to keep still, as he would not touch her. Then he followed Sadie, catching he and discharging the 38-caliber revolve into her right breast. She again freed herself from his grasp and ran acros the street, he following and firing, again the ball entering her side below the 11th rib. Miss Hassard screamed with agony as she fell on the sidewalk, expiring in a few seconds. Alexander coolly walked up to the prostrate girl. stooping down to press the revolver muzzle behind her right ear, firing again This ball cut her jugular vein, causing a Teeth extracted absolutely without pain by great flow of blood, while the flash ignited her clothing. Then flourishing his revolver like a maniac, he ran up the street. William Bassett, a witness of this last act, ran for Miss Hassard's father, and with the latter came scores of villagers who had been aroused by the shots.

Pursuit of the murderer was not delayed many minutes, and he was traced to Snow's pond, where on the shore hi hat showed that he had entered the water. His loaded revolver and a pox of 25 cartridges were also found. It was decided to drag the pond, and at dusk the body was found, a hole in the temple showing that he had made death certain. He had used the same revolver to kill himself, and he shot himself twice before falling into the water. He had been fully prepared for the murder, as the two revolvers showed, and he had contemplated suicide, as a package of arsenic in his pocket indicated. His victim had always borne the best reputation, and her family is plunged in grief. A few years ago her brother was accidentally shot and killed, and the family had hardly recovered from that

Pleading For Amnesty.

Boston, May 18 .- A large audience gathered at Music hall last night to manifest its favor of amnesty in behalf of the Irish prisoners of England. On the platform were many distinguished sympathizers with Ireland. P. J. Flatley, who opened the meeting, thanked the gathering for its evident sympathy with the incarcerated Irishmen. Mayor Quincy made an earnest appeal in be half of the city for amnesty for the Irish and Irish-American political prisoners. James F. Egan, who formerly was one of England's prisoners, spoke most earnestly and eloquently of the movement which, resulting disastrously, led to the imprisonment of the men for whom amnesty is sought, to which the audience responded with much sympathy.

May Have Been Done as a Tip to Spaniards.

Spain Still Complains About the Attitude of the United States.

New York, May 18.—The Sunday Advertiser says: There was considerable excitement in Brooklyn navy yard circles Sunday over the industriously circulated report that Uncle Sam, following the example of Johnnie Bull on the eve of probable international complications, has assembled his largest and most powerful fleet in the harbor, as an Hats, Hats, Hats! object lesson to Spain of what this coun try is capable of doing in the event of trouble arising over the Cuban question. It may not be generally known that there are immense quantities of naval stores in the Brooklyn yard, and it may be regarded as significant that Commodore Sicard, Sunday, received an order from the navy department at Washington directing him not to for ward any more stores to the European squadron "until further notice." Naval officers at the yard, while cautious and politic, entertain the opinion that the order directing the cutting off of further supplies from the European squadron, on the face of it, signifies that it may, should the present crisis with Spain become more tense, be recalled to augment the superb fleet at present ly-

It is evident that the ships on foreign stations cannot remain without supplies, and while the European squadron includes only three ships, they are all steel cruisers of the modern type.

The original fine was for $10,000, with one year's imprisonment and banish ment for three years. President Kruger was most favorably inclined, he said, to the proposal to substitute fines for banishment and imprisonment. He wanted all of the prisoners to be out of fail, he said, and he had full confidence that the executive council would endorse his con

Jackson and Walling Remain.

Newport, Ky., May 18.—Seven prisoners escaped jail here Saturday night. They were companions of Scott Jackson, convicted of the murder of Pearl Bryan, with the death penalty attached and his companion, Alonzo Walling, who is to be tried for the same murder. Some prisoner sawed off the hinges of the back CHOICE MILLINERY door of the jail and let the seven her out. Jackson and Walling could have gone with them, but preferred the jail as door of the jail and let the seven men safer than the open country, where they knew they would be lynched as soon as caught on account of the intense feeling against them.

Silver Men's Plans. Washington, May 18.-The impression is growing about the Capitol that the silver men will soon take a position against final adjournment before the national conventions. The movement embraces silver advocates in both houses and of all parties, and there is no doubt that some of the leaders hold the opinion that it will be wise to postpone adjournment until there shall be opportunity to know what position the convention will take on the financial question.

Hayti Is Peaceful.

New York, May 18 .- Steamship Prins Frederik Hendrik arrived yesterday from Haytien ports. Captain Sibbels reports all quiet at the Haytien capital. President T. Simon Sam has made himself very popular throughout the country. He is said to be an able and dignified president. Among the passengers on the steamer was Henry Smyth, United States minister to Hayti, who comes home for a brief vacation.

"Yours is the best display and best assortment of wheels." That's what the people tell us as they return to place their order after looking the Boston market over. At this store you find not a certain kind of wheel claimed to be the best, as is usual the case, but twenty different patterns of the leading and popular wheels to select from.

Then again, it's wiser to place your order with a reliable local agent than have the bother of expressing a wheel to Boston if something you don't understand seems wrong.

Here are wheels selected by us from bundreds of various makes, because they combine what all riders desire, lightness, durability, ease of running, speed and perfect mechanical construction.

P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, Saves a Man From Becoming a Cripple.

Mr. Asa Ammons, a well-known eksonville, Florid afflicted by a terrible ulcer. Medical skill seemed unavailing in stopping the ravages of the terrible disease. The eg was swollen and intensely painful as the ulcer had eaten its way down to the very bone. All medicines and cure, the doctors said the leg must come off. Just when it seemed that Mr. Ammons would become a disabled and a crippled man, he tried P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy, and the result was wonderful.

P. P. SAVES HIS LEG.

"Jacksonville, Fla., July 1, 1895.— Two years ago I had the worst ulcer on my leg I ever saw. It had eaten down to the bone, and my whole leg below my knee, and my foot was swollen and inflamed. The bone was swollen and painful, and discharged a most offensive matter. My physicians said I had necrosis of the bone, and my leg would have to come off. this stage I commenced to take P. P. Late Details of the Havoc Wrought by the Cyclone In Texas.

Kansas City, May 18. - Reports rewhich passed over Marshall and Nemaha counties, Kansas, late last evening, swept over an unusually large tercitory, dealing death and destruction through the two counties. A dispatch from Bern reports that Seneca, the county seat, was struck by a cyclone at 7 o'clock. One-third of the residence portion of the town was destroyed, and five persons were killed and 15 badly injured. The counties' magnificent new courthouse, the town's big schoolhouse and the Catholic church are among the buildings wrecked.

Five hundred of the citizens of Seneca erty loss is estimated at $100,000. The five dead are two children of M Everhes, two children of Mr. Connell and a son of Peter Assemacher.

The cyclone also swept the town of Sabetha and Frankfort, and the reports indicate that many of other smaller settlements have suffered, but up to this hour it has been impossible to get detailed accounts of the damage. The small number of casualties is acof the people fled to their cellars and evclone caves. Reports coming in from Vleits and Seneca say the cyclone was severe at those points. The latest estimate is that fully 100 substantial buildings have been

An Afternoon Tornado.

Concordia, Kan., May 18.-Another cyclone visited north central Kansas yesterday afternoon. It is impossible t gather the details, because the telegrap wires on the Missouri Pacific and Grand Island railroads are down. The cyclon started in the northern part of Clay county, seven or eight miles south of the little town of Palmer, and passed, in a northeasterly direction, through Rile; county and into Marshall and Nemah county. It crossed the Blue river at the function of the Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific railroads, and passed nea the town of Axtell. The little hamle of Rodaville was entirely swept away Several are reported killed there are many injured, but nothing can be learned definitely. At Spring Valley some six miles south of Barnes, th storm demolished a church, in which 150 people were worshipping. Many wer injured. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Mason was badly hurt.

Three dead bodies were found in the storm's path at Justin, a mother an three children lost their lives at Howe. and the corpse of J. S. Morris was found at Gainesville.

The storm swept away the jail in the Chickasaw nation, leaving many wounded, one mortally. At Carpenters' Bluffs five persons were seriously hurt. The wounded are so badly scattered that it is an almost inpossible task to gather their names and the extent of their injuries. In the community five miles west of the town, Mr. Taylor was killed and his wife probably fatally injured. The houses of Messrs. Dennis, Gibbons, were swept away. In this same commun ity eight barns were also destroyed. The citizens held a meeting at th courthouse, and about $2000 was raised One of the first men to go over the track of the storm was C. B. Sale. He told a reporter of the scenes along the track immediately after the blow was over. "I drove hastily to the western part of the town, where my sister lived, to see if they were injured. Of all th horrible sights I ever saw, they were nessed, neither can tongue describe their awfulness. Along West Houston street were strewn the bodies of the injured, and from their lips ascended prayers for pity and help. Passing a wounded woman, shricking with pain and fright, my gaze would fall on the stiffening corpse of her little child, mangled as if some giant had rent it limb from limb. Across the road, the lay, cold in death. Further on was the body of a woman, all cut and bruised and bleeding, the last gasp of breath going out of her body. The gruesomeness of this weird woe was seen, felt and endured as a man only feels some horrible nightmare." H. E. Durham of this city was at the home of Isom Coleman, one mile beyond the Choctaw bridge, east of the city. He states that he stood on the roof of Mr. Coleman's house, and could see for miles around. He saw one section of the storm come from the sout . east, and another from the southwest When about the vicinity of Choctaw bridge, the two sections met with a rorr. He described the storm to be about quarter of a mile wide and 50 yards lo g. The clouds were black, and resembled room could see the effects of the sto n all along its path. Lynn Citizens Angry.

Lynn, Mass., May 18.-Mayor Besson was severely scored at a meeting of the Good Citizenship league held here Satpurpose of devising plans for the better enforcement of the Sunday laws in relation to the opening of drug stores and the sale of newspapers. The committee, which was previously appointed to wait upon Mayor Bessom to see what action he would take on the matter, reported that the mayor did not think it expedient to take any action at present. The report aroused the ire of all the speakers, who denounced the mayor in round terms. It was decided to appoint a committee to secure evidence against violators of the law and make a test case.

Probably Infanticide.

Naugatuck, Conn., May 18.-Miss Nora Hennessey, aged 33 years, is under arrest here on account of circumstances which point strongly to child-murder, as the body of a 2-weeks-old child was found in a trunk in her room. Deputy write Mrs. | Coroner Tuttle viewed the remains and Pinkham, at expressed the opinion that the baby, which was about 2 weeks old, had been dead two months. Coroner Mix will make an investigation. Peter Roach, alleged to be the father, is also under arrest. Miss Hennessey has always en joyed a good reputation.

Cracked His Skull.

Providence, May 18 .- Cornelius Sullivan, a stoker, was probably fatally assaulted aboard the barge Bustle, it is alleged, by Mate Theodore Bensen last evening. Grand Preparations For the Coronation Rapidly Nearing Completion.

Moscow, May 19.-In the first draft of the coronation manifesto, a paragraph provided for the cancellation of warnngs of the censor standing against Rusian newspapers, which, when they amount to three, means the suppression of the paper. Most of the Russian papers have had a couple of warnings hang-ing over their head for years past. This paragraph (in the manifesto) was elimnated at the instigation of certainers Russian press men are naturally dis-pleased, but it remains to be seen if the paragraph will be restored. Criminals and debtors will doubtless be favored, ♠nd political prisoners will also not be forgotten. The impecunious nobility. whose estates are so heavily encumbered, will probably be relieved by reluctions in the interest on their loans. There is also talk of the sons of merchants and manufacturers receiving the same rights regarding the government ervice as the nobility

The welcome given to Li Hung Chang was an original one. A number of small oys in red and yellow silk shirts strewed flowers before him as he nounted the staircase to his residence and his host, the great Russian tea mer-chant, M. Perloff, presented him with bread and salt, on a silver dish, and a saltcellar, ornamented with the Chinese

A hundred thousand persons yesterday awaited the czar's arrival for two hours in the elegantly decorated perron The station was a brilliant spectacle with the glittering uniforms of the com nandants of nearly every regiment The czarina looked charming, in a white ess and bonnet. The czar was plainly lad in the uniform of a captain of in fantry, and with no decorations, in marked contrast with his brilliant suite There were 300 special correspondents n the platform.

Preparations for the grand entry into he city are not yet completed, though they are far advanced. The character of the preparations is most imposing Tverskaja street, along which the czar goes from the Petrovosky palace to the Kremlin on Thursday, Opposite the governor general's residence is a great frame screen, built to mask an unsightly building, used as a guardroom for the troops on official duty at the palace. Near at hand is a watch-tower of the fire department, which was a clumsy and unsightly object, but has been masked from base to top of the tower.

Nearly all of the buildings in Moscow are built of wood and brick, covered in-discriminately with a white stucco, the general effect being that of a wholly white walled city. The outer coloring of the stucco has been almost univer sally renewed and freshened for the oc-Tverskaja street has concentrated within its length much of the preparation. Many houses along the street have been rented, at high rates. for the whole year, merely to secure the essee of a window for the procession on Thursday. The street shows along its length many commodious pavilions set aside for the use of the favored ones. Great iron columns have also been rected along the street's length for a rilliant electrical illumination. Huge ooden obelisks, draped and vividly colored by day and carrying brilliant lights from top to bottom by night, are also features of the decorations.

Electricity is used for the first time in the illuminations for a czar's coronation, and elaborate preparations have been made by the authorities to avail themselves of this new agent. Nearly all the public buildings have their com plete outlines traced by light wooden tric lights and fairy lamps, which show the architectural outlines of the city traced in fire and light. The walls of the Kremlin itself and of the towers of the buildings within are thus outlined against the night sky by electric lights and by thousands of yards of gasripe, perforated at short intervals for

New York, May 19. - Moritz Pront, aged 19, is suffering from hysterical catalepsy at the Beth Israel hospital. He had been unconscious, apparently sleeping, for nearly 25 days, and shows no signs of awakening. He had a slight attack of catalepsy five years ago, the period of unconsciousness then lasting less than 24 hours. Since then he has had three seizures, each of longer duration than its predecessor. Dr. Nelson says that a strong current of electricity has been passed through Pront's body four or five times a day. An attempt to awaken him by starvation had been tried and was unsuccessful. The community is suddenly thrown into a panic of disease, old topers being especially able to imagine an illness whenever there is a chance of securing any beverage that is tinctured with alcohol. It seems very strange that a paid police force does not prosecute such flagrant violations of the law, and not depend upon one of the heaviest tax-payers and busiest of citizens to furnish the evidence with which to convict transgressors. I desire, however, to have it distinctly understood that dealers in malt extracts will be attended to in the near future by a constable who receives no remuneration, provided that the police who are paid for such work do not do their duty.

The chairman of the committee said it has been and will be the purpose of the committee to pursue lines as laid down in statement at close. The precedent quoted didn't reach this case. Mr. Wait was again put on the stand. Didn't know how Bates came to be se lected as a sub-contractor. Didn't remember that he selected him. Gave Mr.

Wilcutt the bills under Bates contract. Had known Bates 8 to 10 years. Didn't recall any business transactions with him previous to Court House. Contractor Wilcutt was recalled and questioned on the granite used. My second contract on Court House was "held up" was when Commission learned I had not figured on Mr. Field's stone at Dover. I intended to use Dover stone but not his stone. Contract called for granite of the same quality satisfactory to Commissioners and architect. At a hearing Mr. Field offered to sell his quarry for $2,000. After investigation I offered him $2,000 for it, but it was declined and I was forced to make contract with Mr. Field for $25,000;

Lawyer Morse began his cross-examination at this point. Mr. Wilcutt said he had been in the business 25 years in various States. Had three distinct contracts. Bids on each were put in. All reputable bidders. Had no help from Commissioners. Contract was awarded to lowest bidder. Mr. Field had been on board previous to 1890. Didn't know he had office with Mr. Wiggin until he went there to sign second contract on court house. Commissioners Morrell and Lothrop had opposed compelling me to use Field's stone. It cost me $2000 more. Wiggin threatened to resign from board if other granite was used. Architect rejected first load of stone from Field's quarry. Said it was not up to specifications. I agreed to recut it if not satisfactory and it was allowed to enter and that was the last of it. Work on court house had been faith fully and economically done. Admitted he was better paid on extras. My bills were scrutinized by architect and commissioners. Not customary to present itemized bills. Architects had tended up as well as on any job. County Commissioners also around, especially Mr. Hall and Tenements, Morrell. Democrats at Harvard Choose Russell as Standard Bearer.

A. P. A. Delegates Say More About McKinley.

Teller's Name Put Forward as Suitable Presidential Timber.

Cambridge, Mass., May 19.-The Republicans were successful in a choice, and Russell was the nominee of the Democrats of Harvard in the bi-partisan national mock convention, held last evening. a single gold standard; the upholding of the principles of protection; restriction of immigration on an educational basis, and the furtherance of civil service reform. It in turn denounces free silver; the present Cuban policy, and all sectarian preferences. The Democrats nominated Carlisle, Bayard and Russell, and on the second ballot, Russell received the nomination, with 109 votes, against Carlisle's 17 votes. The Republicans also had three candidates in the field-McKinley, Reed and Harrison. The first ballot resulted: Reed, 60; McKinley, 55, and Harrison, 8. The second ballot made no change in the votes, beyond reducing McKinley's total by 2. Then came the wildest time of the evening. The Reed and McKinley men stood firm, and yelled themselves Left by will to The Mutual hoarse. ## A Teller Boom Started.

Denver, May 19.-The Rocky Mountain News, in a leading editorial says: The question of Teller as the Democratic candidate for president should at once interest the Democrats of the mountain states. Might it not be worth the effort for Colorado Democrats to organize with the Democracy of its neighboring states to present Teller, should he bear himself at St. Louis as there is right to expect he will, to the southern silver Democrats of the consouthern silver Democrats of the convention, and say to them: "If you will accept him he will have the support of all the mountain region, and we will unite with you in making him the leader of the movement for the restoration to a bankrupted and well-nigh hopeless people of the meney of the constitution, the life blood of commerce, and the wand by the touch of which prosperity will rise and take the country once again in its healthful, invigorating embrace."

It is claimed that, while it has the required properties of ether, chloroform, nitrous oxide gas, it lacks the disagreeable and dangerous qualities of these drugs. It is certainly a boon to suffering humanity to be the administering of sedatives of the old school.—Boston Transcript.

SPURT IN THE EICHTH Netted Enough Runs For the Bostons to Defeat St. Louis.

St. Louis, May 19.-The game between the St. Louis and Boston teams was undoubtedly the best game of baseball that has been played at Sportsman park this season. Hart and Nichols were the opter. They sent for posing twirlers, and each pitched superbly. For seven innings Hart had the best of the argument. In the eighth inning, however, the Bostons got in two hits, and these, coupled with Cross' wild throw, a base on balls to Bannon, and Long's neat sacrifice, netted them three runs and the game.

My Kingdom For a Wheel.

"Yours is the best display and best assortment of wheels." That's what the people tell us as they return to place their order after looking the Boston market over. At this store you find not a certain kind of wheel claimed to be the best, as is usual the case, but twenty different patterns of the leading and popular wheels to select from

Then again, it's wiser to place your order with a reliable local agent than have the bother of expressing a wheel to Boston if someing you don't understand seems wrong. Here are wheels selected by us from hundreds of various makes, because they combine what all riders desire, lightness, durability, ease of running, speed and perfect mechanical construction.

Andover Is Celebrating Her Two Hundred and Fiftieth Birthday.

Grand Procession, Banquets and Speeches.

Citizens Have Latchstrings Out For All Visiting Friends.

Andover, Mass., May 20.-Historic Andover is today celebrating the 250th anniversary of its incorporation as town, and the affair is in every way worthy of the grand occasion. The stores and residences are gayly decorated with flags and bunting, and many of the townsmen are keeping open

One of the features of the day's cele oration was the parade, which was help uring the early morning hours. Peter D. Smith acted as chief marshal, and the procession included the civic and military organizations, town officials chool children, while the business men resented several interesting features Following the parade, a public meet ig was held in the South church, dur g which the oration was delivered by Albert Poor, his address taking the for of a sketch of the town's history from its earliest days.

A poem written for the occasion was read by Mrs. Annie S. Downs, and religious exercises were conducted by Rev Frank K. Shipman.

A public dinner was given under the direction of the committee of fifteen, be neath a large tent, which was erected for the purpose. Professor J. W Churchill of the Theological seminary acted as toastmaster, and many prom nent speakers were also in attendance This afternoon the school children wil e entertained in the big tent, the exer ises being under the direction of J. N Cole, secretary of the committee fifteen. The festivities will conclud with a display of fireworks this evening The town of Andover was actually in corporated on May 6, but after consider able discussion the committee of fifteen having the celebration in charge, determined that the occasion should be elebrated on the 20th inst.

The historic buildings are all open to the public, and the different interesting own relies are brought forth for inspetion. The boom of cannon and tones o the church bells ushered in the day at dawn, while the academy boys are tak ing no small part in the day's proceed

In the opening days of the War of the Revolution the town of Andover as-sumed a determined stand for independence. As early as May, 1770, in view of the affair in King's street, called the "Boston Massacre," the town of Andover voted "to sustain Boston in repelling tyranny and oppression and establishing those rights which they are entitled to as men and as Englishmen. The records of the town fail to show a single Tory among the inhabitants Early in 1775 Colonel James Frye commanded a regiment of Andover minute men, comprising four full companies The summons upon the morning of April 19 was instantly obeyed, and oxen were left standing in the field, and plows in the furrow by the minute men.

The present academy building was built in 1865. The school was first opened for instruction April 30, 1778. Two nephews of General Washington and the sons of Richard Henry Lee were among the first pupils. Josiah Quincy, the first of that name, then a boy of years, was sent here to school. Dr. Holmes here received his instruction which fitted him for Harvard college. Boston, May 20 .- The house, by an almost unanimous vote, submitted a bil providing for free transfers on the West End street railway. The senate insisted upon the bill to repeal the bill permitting the deduction of 5 per cent by insurance companies from the cash surrender value of endowment policies. The special committee on the Norfolk county in quiry continued their labors. In the senate an order was offered to give the committee until May 29. The senate refused a third reading on the bill to permit the town of Brookline to establish and operate a municipal electric lighting plant, and ordered to a third read ing the "libel bills," which lessen the liability in prosecutions for libel.

The crew was called to fire ashore and warned to give the ship a wide berth, and then, with a will and the cool rush of well-trained men, the A bunker full of soft coal had caught fire by spontaneous combustion. Its heart was already a glowing mass, and was momentarily growing more dangerous. While the fire fighters were geting down the midship hatches, a line of men was formed from the eight-inch magazine to the 13-inch on the deck forward, and the canisters of powder was passed rapidly from hand to hand to new quarters, remote from the heat and danger. The magazine grew hot while the men worked, and the walls nearest to the fire plainly showed the effects of the smoldering mass of living coals

Korea Becoming Modernized. Washington, May 20 .- United States Minister Sill, at Seoul, Korea, has informed the state department that a concession to build, operate and maintain a railroad between Seoul, the capital, and Chemulpo, its port, has been granted to James R. Morse for an American syndicate. The Japanese government ut no difficulties in the way, and through their foreign office indicated to Mr. Morse's friends their willingness that the concession should fall to an American syndicate. After much deiberation, and presumably after com munication with his government, the Russian minister at Seoul took much interest in the project. He suggested some changes in the contract, favorable to Korea, but acceptable to Mr. Morse.

Little Ones Without Parents Have Many Kind Hearted Friends.

Boston, May 20 .- The annual meeting England Home for Little Wanderers was held yesterday afternoon. E. M. McPherson, president, occupied the Superintendent Rev. V. A. table, head and back ache, feels tired Cooper, D.D., presented his 10th annual all the time, loses sleep and appetite, report. Three hundred and eighty-six has pains in groins, bearing-down children have been cared for. Two hundred were temporarily cared for. They came from the six New England states and from New Jersey, Illinois, California, Canada and Syria. One hundred and thirty-five have been placed in Christian families; 137 returned to relatives and friends; seven have died. The children have been cultivated in grammar schools. Singing, as a means of cultivation, has been taught one hour a day, five days in the week. Daily devotions, religious and temperance meetings and Sunday schools have been important factors in the moral transformations made in these neglected boys and girls. It is wonderful, says the report, how readily a child takes on goodness. As the flowers drink in the sunshine and the grass the dew, so these children seem glad to receive the truth. The report condemns most emphatically the bringing up of children in institutions until they learn the art of living on charity and lose the noble idea of selfsupport. The demand for children is great on the part of childless American families, and the local orphanages and poorhouses of New England might be emptied of their little waifs if it were not for the maudlin sentiment of unwise, but well meaning, charity workers. The report of Treasurer Willcome from all sources, $28,230.88; leaving a balance in the treasury of $953.06. About $10,000 by legacies have been added to the invested funds of the home. The board of managers elected, representing six religious denominations, was as follows: E. M. McPearson, president; John Carr, vice president; William G. Brooks, treasurer; A. S. Johnson, secretary; Barna S. Snow, John O. Bishop, J. B. Richardson, Alonzo S. Weed, Mrs. C. C. Converse, Miss Sarah B. Fay, Joseph H. Converse, Arthur S.

Wentworth. The missionary agents have been welcomed in hundreds of towns and cities, visiting poorhouses and unhappy homes, supervising children placed in families, preaching 229 sermons among all denominations. The collections resulting from these meetings have been $3,728.06. Children on hand May 1 were

Two New Bishops.

Cleveland, May 20 .- The deadlock in the Methodist Episcopal general conference, over the election of two bishops, was broken by the selection of Dr. Charles C. McCabe of New York and Dr. Earl Cranston of Cincinnati. It was apparent when the delegates assembled yesterday that they were tired of the balloting, and were determined to bring matters to an issue. The ball was set rolling by Rev. C. L. Stafford of Iowa, who moved that the election of bishops be indefinitely postponed. This precipitated a lively discussion, and the motion was defeated. Then Dr. Leonard of Cincinnati moved that in future ballots the name of no candiate be announced who received less than 10 votes. The

At Moscow. Moscow, May 20 .- Crowds of people wait patiently in the streets for hours for a glimpse of the foreign royal personages in the city. When they appear the crowds greet them respectfully, but almost silently. The Russians are not accustomed to indulge in a noisy demonstration. The brilliancy of the scene is sadly marred by the persistent rain. The whole military force were under arms last night for the tattoo, when the arrangement was suddenly cancelled, Frontier Humor by Palmer Cox, 40 cts. owing to the receipt of the news of the death of Archduke Charles Louis of Austria. The vast crowds were greatly disappointed; the troops marched back to the barracks singing.

Joke Proved Fatal. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 20 .-- Fred Palmer, a barber, 24 years old, was sleeping on a couch in the rear of a barber shop kept by his friend, Clarence Wagsewed a strip of cloth attached to a oner, last Thursday morning, when Wagoner and some friends for a joke brass ring around Palmer's ankle, running the thread through and under the skin. Palmer cut the bandage off as soon as he awoke. The following day the leg swelled enormously, and the young man died last night in great pain. It is supposed that the black dye of the thread produced blood poisoning.

Indians Need Chastisement. Washington, May 20 .- Upon the representations of Indian Agent Stouch, at Tongue River reservation, Mon., transmitted through and endorsed by the interior department, the war department has sent orders to General Brooke, commanding the Department of Dakota, to send troops from Fort Custer to the agency to preserve order and stop the killing of cattle by Indians. Probably two troops of the Tenth cavalry will be sent, but General Brooke is allowed to use his discretion on that point.

A NASHUA SENSATION.

Ex-Councillor Blunt Said to Have Committed Many Forgeries.

Poor, as Well as Rich, Are Among the Victims.

Astonishing State of Affairs Disclosed in Settlement of His Estate.

Nashua, N. H., May 21.-The settlenent of the estate of the late Edward O. Blunt has brought to light a state of affairs which has created a great sensation in Nashua. It shows, it is alleged, that Blunt was a forger, and had swindied many Nashua people out of thousands of dollars. Bucket shops and politics are the attributed cause of his downfall. The first inkling of the extent to which the Blunt estate was involved Smith of Hillsboro, who later presented a note for $5500, signed by Blunt and supposedly endorsed by his sister, Mrs. George Holt, but the latter emphatically denies the endorsement. An investigation brought to light several more notes bearing the same endorsement but with the exception of one for $30,000 Mrs. Holt denies endorsing any of them. Notes of this nature to the amount of about $12,000 have been presented, and their genuineness denied by Mrs. Holt. Several of the notes are held by the Indian Head and First National banks.

It is also alleged that Mr. Blunt, as treasurer, had over-issued the Masonic Building association stock to the amount of $1000, which is held as security by Mrs. Mary G. Babcock for money loaned him. He also had charge of Mrs. Bab-cock's bankbooks, and these, it is said also reveal dishonest transactions. Several other parties are said to have been victimized for various amounts. Blunt was a heavy plunger in the bucket shops, and his luck was uniformly bad. In politics he was extremely ambitious and spent a small fortune in the interests of the Republican party of New Hampshire. He had been in the state senate, and was a member of Governor district in Governor John B. Smith's He was one of the widest known Republicans in the state, and in politics he was a political manager, whose shrewdness placed him in the Now is the Time to had previously turned the Nineteenth Democratic senatorial district into a Republican one, winning a notable victory. He had been his party's candidate for mayor, and chairman of the Republican city committee for years, He represented the state in John Stark and Daniel Webster statues. which the state provided, and which last year were placed in the national Capitol at Washington. Mr. Blunt had charge of the ceremonies on the latter ocasion. His wife and sister accompanied him on his trip to Italy. About five years ago he inherited the grocery business, established in 1830, from which his grandfather and father became wealthy. Upon his entrance into business life, he began stock gambling upon an extensive scale, according to the statements of his friends, who repeatedly advised him to stop. He dealt almost wholly in wheat with Boston firms. He is reported to have lost heavily from the start. His estate, estimated at $50,000, soon was swamped, BLISS, and he began borrowing largely. At the last meeting of the Masonic Building association he was succeeded, as treasurer, by George W. Currier. In addition to other transactions on a large scale, he is said to have loaned money to poor residents on money borrowed from wealthier ones, giving to the latter the notes of the former. In many cases the loans of the poor people were repaid, but the notes are still in existence. The Blunt estate is believed to be $25,000 in deficit. He left a wife

New England Briefs. The mayor of Baltimore borrowed money to pay the city's expenses.

There are indications that bicycles will be transported free over western lines. The capital stock of the New England Horse Breeders' association has been increased to $150,000.

The Massachusetts supreme court decided that damage from a fire in a chimney is included in insurance policies. Ferdinand W. L. Knuschke, for 33 years foreman of the Gordon Manufacturing company at Providence, is dead, aged 68 years. A street department composed of school children has began its work at keeping the streets of the North End (Boston) clean.

The dead body of an infant was found in an alleyway at Hartford. It was wrapped in a piece of calico cloth. The police are investigating.

The Fall River (Mass) city council voted to petition the legislature for authority to exceed the debt limit, by a special loan of $100,000 for sewers. Only one of the several cases of supposed rabies, which have been making Everett (Mass.) people anxious, has not been proved to be something else. Henry Thibeau, an employe of the Glen Manufacturing company, Berlin, N. H., was found, under the feet of one of his team horses, with his skull fractured. He died in a few minutes.

If a partner in a firm dies, says the Massachusetts supreme court, the other members of the house are not relieved from carrying out a contract to employ some particular person, unless the business is wound up.

CILL'S CENEROUS CIFT.

Dedication of Vermont Odd Fellows' Home at Ludlow, Vt., May 21.-The dedication of the Gill Odd Fellows' home took place here yesterday afternoon. On their arrival, visiting members of the order and different encampments formed in line at the station and marched through the village to the Gill home on the hill, which overlooks the valley and which can be seen for miles north and south The column was under command of General Peck of Burlington. Following the lodges and cantons were the invited guests and veteran Odd Fellows. At the home 2500 people had assembled when the dedicatory ceremonies begun.

The site of the home is one of the most picturesque in Vermont, and the home which was formerly the Gill summer hotel, is finely appointed in every particular. It was given to the Odd Eellows by J. S. Gill of Boston, after a committee from the grand lodge had deeided to purchase the place in preference to many others which had been offered or sale in the state. The idea of establishing and maintaining an Odd Fellows' home was suggested in 1883, but it was not until H. C. Farrar of Rutland, who, while grand master, first suggested the plan and brought it before the grand lodge in 1895, that a committee was appointed to consider the matter. As soon as this committee was ready to receive offers of sites, a number of towns extended an Invitation to inspect locations. Rut land, Bradford and Ludlow presented the most attractive offers. Although Rutland wanted very much to have the home located there, Ludlow seemed to meet with favorable consideration from the first, and when Mr. Gill offered the beautiful site at about one-fifth of its value, they decided to purchase. Then followed the gift of the estate, which was a surprise to the committee, and the acceptance of which was marked by ex pressions of profound appreciation the part of the grand lodge. A number of improvements have been made connection with the home since it cam into the charge of the Odd Fellow Different lodges of the state have do pated furnishings for the institution The building is now properly furnished ## and ready for occupancy. On Beacon Hill.

Boston, May 21.-The senate judiciary ommittee reported against the house till transferring licensing of theatrical ment in Boston from the board of alder-men to the board of police. The house had passed the bill and refused to reconsider it. The senate will undoubtcdly accept the committee's report. The house ordered the Massachusetts gas bill to a third reading. The amendment for 50-cent gas was adopted. The cominittee on ways and means reported in favor of the senate bill, which appropriates $350,000 for the security and preservation of the Bulfinch portion of the

The Vinals Discharged. Belfast, Me. May 21.—Benjamin and Horace E. Vinal, father and son, who were in jail awaiting trial for the alleged murder of Robert A. Vinal, the father's brother, were discharged, after a hearing, yesterday. Horace told conflicting stories about the crime, chief of which was to the effect that his father had administered poison to his uncle thereby causing his death. He then re tracted this statement, saying he had made it under threat of a man who desired to be revenged upon Benjamir Vinal for an alleged wrong done years ago. To settle the matter, the stomach of Robert Vinal was analyzed, and no traces of poison were found, in consequence of which the prisoners were re-

An Important Capture.

Fall River, Mass., May 21.-Last night the third fire in the block owned by Dennis Callahan occurred, the 15th fire in 17 days, several of which were incen diary. Daniel Sullivan had been seen at fires, and was suspected by newspaper reporters and watched by the police. He was seen to go into the Callahan block last night by two inspectors, and after he left the cellar, smoke came out. Sullivan went home, where he was arrested on the charge of incendiarism.

Will Resort to Arbitration.

Randolph, Mass. May 21.-The demand of the lasters employed by the various firm in this city for an increase of between 1 and 2 cents a pair on certain classes of work, is to be submitted to the state board of arbitration. The manufacturers claim that the condition of trade is too dull to warrant the grant ing of the increase, and one factory will be closed on account of it. Sentence None Too Severe.

Worcester, Mass., May 21.-Judge Gaskill yesterday sentenced Woo Tong, the proprietor of a local laundry, to no less than 16 years nor more than 2 years on two indictments, charging him with rape upon two little girls. Sam Sing, his partner, pleaded guilty to three indictments charging the same offense and will receive sentence later.

Aged Man Commits Suicide. Lexington, Mass., May 21.-George H.

Tower, 72 years old, an old resident of the town, committed suicide, by drowning, yesterday. His body was found at the end of a rope, which had been fastened to a tree. It is thought that worry over financial troubles, on account of which he was unable to pay the taxes on his farm, led to the act.

Under Light Bonds.

Naugatuck, Conn., May 21.-Miss Hanora Hennessey, who was under arrest on suspicion of murdering her 2-weeks old child, which was found in a trunk in her roc , Saturday night, was tried yesterday on a charge of concealing the birth of her child, and held under $40 bonds for trial before the superior court mouth and Williams.

Abstracfs of the Arguments Put Forth by the Young Orators.

Williamstown, Mass., May 22.-The first contest of the Dartmouth-Williams Debating league was held here last evening, and resulted in a victory for Dartmouth. The question was, "Resolved, That the general welfare demands the suppression of the Ottoman empire by the European powers." Williams was represented by John W. Bockes, Damon E. Hall, H. Horace G. Brown. Dartmouth's speakers were Frederick B. Eaton, George A. Greene and Craven Leycock. Professor Bascom of Williams college presided, and the decision of the debate was left to Judge Herrick of the New York supreme court Melvin O. Adams, president of the Dartmouth Alumni, and Judge Dunbar of the Massachusetts superior court. In upholding the affirmative of the question, those who find it convenient to purchase of the Williams men had to shoulder the burden of proof, and they fought hard, wholesome. For sale by all first-class but Dartmouth was relentless in her demand for a substitute for the present condition of affairs in case the Turk should be suppressed. The contest was close one, as was shown by the air of doubt prevailing in the audience unti Judge Herrick gave the decision. Dart mouth won through the calm, practical arguments of her speakers, who laid particular stress on the maintenance of the status quo. John W. Bockes, in opening the debate, said the complete and permanent overthrow of the Ottoman empire was iemanded for the welfare of Ottoman subjects, and for the general welfare. Here was a government of 21,830,000 people, of which the Turks, constituting not ore than one-fourth, excluded all others from participation. The only way was to strike at the root of the evil and that meant suppression.

Mr. Eaton said united action by the European powers for the suppression of regard to the Turko-Armenian question massacres. They had been set on foot by Armenian revolutionists and their vestigated. foreign sympathizers. A large share o the responsibility should also be placed on the European powers, who had always been meddling with the affairs of Turkey.

Mr. Hall said there were four possible solutions to the problem. First, to wait for the Turks to institute reforms; second, for Europe to propose reforms third, for Europe to force reforms upon the empire, and fourth, those failing suppression. The first proposal was absurd, because the Turk had had 800 years to alleviate the condition of his subject races, and had never done so. As to the second propositon, the Ottoman government had repeatedly made tromises of reforms, and had failed to keep them. Hence, suppression was the only proper measure.

Mr. Green said the congress of Berlin composed of the greatest diplomats in Europe, had decided the question upon which the debate was being held. The congress was held right on the heels of the so-called Bulgarian outrages, and there was no hint of suppression. The speaker held that the same conditions held true today, and quoted Lord Salisbury to spuport his position. Even granting that the general welfare demanded the suppression of the Ottoman empire, the concert of the European powers for that purpose was impossi-

Mr. Brown took the position that suppression should be done by the European powers. This should be done by a congress of the powers. This plan had been successfully tried, the congress of Vienna in 1814 and the congress of Berlin in 1878 being cited. As for the plan of partition that could be easily arranged. If Russia was granted a protectorate Left by will to The Mutual over Turkey in Asia, excepting Palestine and the borderland of the Red sea Life Insurance Co. of New if England had Egypt, Cyprus, Palestine and the above mentioned borderland of the Red sea, the only sound New York, the well known claims of both would be satisfied. Constantinople could remain free to the commerce of all nations under the protectorate of Bulgaria.

Mr. Laycock argued there was som extenuation for the porte's broken prom ises of reform. Most of the promises had been literally extorted from him. If Turkey should a suppressed, what then? Should Russia, with its mammoth strength and diminutive conscience control, or should England claim the right to govern, thus precipitating a general European war? The speaker closed nuities he requested should be with a summary of the arguments adduced by the Dartmouth debaters. After the debate a reception was tendered the visitors, which was attended Plymouth, Mass., in 1824.

Boston, May 22.-An elevated railroad bill, incorporating a company with $1,000,000 capital, was introduced in the house. The capital of $1,000,000 is to be divided into shares of $1000 each, and upon approval of the railroad commissioners the capital stock may be increased to $10,000,000. The house killed present action on the bill for a statue to the late Genra! Butler, to be erected in the state house yard, by referring it to the next general court. The vote was 89 to 86. Senator Sanger created a sensation in the senate while the asses ment insurance bill was under consider ation, by saving that an officer of the Massachusetts Benefit association ha sent a prominent business man of Bo ton to the residence of a member of the senate, who is a lawyer, and at that time a proposition was made to this member of the senate that he should accept a re tainer in a matter that the company was interested in, which was to come befor the senate the next day. > A Graphic Description by Sir Edwin Arnold.

Visitors Representing Almost Every Race Under the Sun.

Moscow, May 22.—This city never looked so gay and so joyful, not even on the entry of the late Emperor Alexander, as it did yesterday. Moscow has become immensely richer under protection and prohibitive tariffs. The decorations are more extensive and more reors are incomparatively more numerous. There is much less restraint. The open their names were early announced to the police. It is evident, however, that some precautions were taken, specially chosen men were here and there among the crowds to nelp the police keep order. Sir Edwin Arnold, who came to Moscow on behalf of the London Daily Telegraph, in his dispatch to that paper, describing the scene at the Kremlin, exclaims: "Why cannot one write in colors? There was never anything seen on any stage like the living kaleidoscope of fanciful attire, of fantastic hues and last night from San Francisco. Comembellishments visible around me, particularly in the Oriental element and all the far eastern nations. The officials 1 and 2 will be spent in Cleveland, and on from Khiva wore magenta colored velvet robes, gold embroidered, and sugar ing in Boston. The next day they will loaf hats. China contributes a dazzling group, with flowered, satin frocks and vermillion buttoned hats. Now a bevy Herbert Booth will be in this city June of magnates from Lake Baikal astound 14, when he will be given a welcome at the eye, with fur-trimmed brocade and long red boots. Now I recognize the gray surtout and amber cap strings of the Korean, and cry one of them with a greeting, in Japanese. He politely murmurs: "Truly a great day, and we rejoice to be present."

Some of the Khirgiz tartars then appear in yellow silk and scarlet shawls outdoing all, and at a window of the Gortinnoy Dvor there is a beautiful vision of a Circassian lady in black and orange brocade, glistening with pearls and turquoises. I abandon in despair the poly-chromatic aspects of this point of the pageant.

The Cossacks guard were gorgeously uniformed, and horses with bold and black bandoliers, looking quite fit to pace in front of the czar. After these came upon the scene almost the chief interest for me personally, since I saw gravely and significantly riding along as the vassal friends demurely upon noble Arab stallions, the envelopes. very least among them mounted upon animals covered from crest to haunch with the costliest trappings of silver and gold cloth. Many an Oriental salute was uttered, and many dark hands were reverently folded as these subsplendidly, but perhaps sadly, before us. But these and other parts of the pageant palled before the grand master of ceremonies, borne haughtily onward in such a golden chariot as of old existing in heaven or in classical pictures, holding a wand of gold, tipped with an emerald as big as a walnut. I note that a jured Catholic archbishop of America has been deprecating the abolition of war by arbitration. He would have been consoled by the spectacle I witnessed in the Red square-a dazzling illustration of ATLANTIC, - - MASS, the pomp, pride and circumstance of Length of day-14h. 51m.

Every man is bareheaded, and every woman is waving a handkerchief or violently crossing his loyal bosom in a prayer for the "little father." The czarina also sat all alone, dressed wholly in white, even the jewels, pearls and diamonds, seeming to mar by their color the effect of this pure apparel, which caused her to resemble a marble saint within a golden shrine. Most unmistakable was the affection and loyalty of the crowd, and I saw more than one poor peasant woman's eyes fill with tears of sheer joy to behold this fair lady. One honest fellow fell upon his knees to say his prayers, as though he had seen something divine, till a cossack

A quaint subject of conversation yes terday was that after Wednesday evening's serenade in the courtyard of the Petrovsky palace, the light clouds in the western sky grew into an exact likeness of a great white heraldic eagle, which disappeared in half an hour. The superstitious Russians regard it as an omen of peace and prosperity for the present reign.

The Seal Question Again.

London, May 22.—George N. Curzon, in the house of commons, yesterday said that with the co-operation of Canada and the United States, two professors of natural history will shortly proceed to the Benring sea, in order to study the fur sealing industry. The regulations for sealing in British Cowindows and balconies have been filled lumbia, he said, were, in some respects with spectators, on the condition that contrary to the recommendations of the British commissioners. Steps, he continued, were being taken to inquire into the working and adequacy of the regulations, with the co-operation of Canada, owing to the repeated representations of the United States in regard to the inadequacy of the present regulations for the proper protection of the

ASKING QUESTIONS.

It Is a Woman's Prerogative, and She Uses It.

Timely Questions and Prompt Answers Have Resulted in Great Satisfaction to Many Women.

Sensitive women hate to ask their physicians those delicate questions that only a woman understands, and therefore write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., as she has ever proved their most accurate adviser, and knowing that their letters will be read and answered by one of their own sex. Thousands of such letters have been received within a few months from those afflicted with the various forms of female diseases, and it is needless to say the answers have brought comfort and relief.

A CONFESSION.

In the twilight shadows of an evening in September a woman seated herself in an open window to peruse the

The room was the tidy, correct chamber of a spinster.

Not a feature of the place or its belongings hinted at the thought of a girl

All the literature, photogravure and age of frivolity.

The small writing table, never littered by the moods of young scribes, was correct as usual, and with a Grecian patterned letter opener Eunice Raven cut the leaves of a New York

People said-that is, they had so ventured when in the confidential presence of their dearest friends-that Eunice Raven once had an admirer.

No one knew positively that he actually reached the importance of a "beau," and as Eunice declined to claim any such article surely no one could know better in the matter than the woman herself.

Eunice Raven was a good and unselfish woman in her small world, and ran the sands of life to even measure with out a suspicion of revolt, but there were times when she did rebel, and her rebellion only took her the oftener to her little room over the best parlor, where her Thomas a Kempis and other spiritual condiments were pencil marked

If any one in Palenville had chanced to see Eunice Raven open that New York posted letter, there would have remained no doubt for them that she once had an admirer.

Out from the strangely directed envelope fell a small sized photographone of the old style, with never a bit of polish in the finishing, and nothing but grim featured lineaments depicted.

The face was a strong, manly countenance, with much frank kindness in the smiling eyes and a chin showing well tempered affection.

The picture brought a warm, girlhood glow to the gazer's face, while the light of a sleeping memory, dim at first and quickly deepening, flamed from written, and apparently with effort, crossed and recrossed womanwise.

Within was a second letter unopened, with the date of 19 years resting on its shamefaced surface.

Over the first, leaning toward the light and nerved for something more vaguely feared than discovered, Eunice read with puzzled face.

Over the second she paused, and the dim light of that rekindled memory again filled and glowed upon her.

She trembled with all the agitation of her girl heart aroused Taking it between her wiry fingers, Eunice studied the still unbroken seal. Then aloud she read the date. "If it had come to me then, there would have been no happier day in my life," she said. "Nineteen years from his hand to

She laid the letter down and dropped back in the chair.

It was just such she had maintained in her teaching last session that only a woman with no backbone would assume, and she at once sat erect in the instant correction of such laxity. "Nineteen years too late."

And 19 years the wrong side of matrimony, when one is alone in the world, is little more than single misery.

Her eyes, blinded with hot, angry tears at the cruel, disappointing bitter-Then she read again the fine French correctly and justly the mind of the writer. She tried to be impartial. She tried to judge with the essence of judgment severity. She succeeded in a large, full, teeming measure of mercy. A few tears, and she, the accuser, became the defender. It is often a woman's way. The writer of the letter-now ill, undoubtedly dying-was making confession for relief of soul.

Sister of the man Eunice Raven loved, and who had loved Eunice, she wrote how bitterly she had hated the very name of an unknown sister.

With no father or mother, and an anly brother, who made her entire world, she had thought anything better than to lose his love and care, and when Eunice had come into his life, NO TROUBLE and he had announced his intention of asking to become nearer to him, this was the thing she had done:

"Now, Miss Annie, what ought I to do? Pray for me tonight and tell me when you call me in the morning," finished Eunice.

"Tell you what you ought to do! Why, Miss Eunice, marry him! Just to think, you poor dear, as much as I have liked your quiet way as a boarder, and that bad, too, as I dreaded taking you. You have never given the trouble of a kitten, though. I should miss you more than a hull orphan asylum.'

"Remember, Miss Annie, it is 19 years, and I have not read his letter yet," returned Eunice.

"Not read the letter yet!" exclaimed the gentle little old lady. "Well, you do beat all. But one beau, and never had but one letter, being 19 years coming, and you not read it yet. Land o' love, Miss Eunice, I'm amazed. I should go right up stairs and read that there letter this very minute.'

Fashion In Calling Cards.

The Roman or block letter is becoming more popular as the style of engraving for visiting card plates, while the fashionably thin card of two sheet quality is eminently proper. Cards for both men and women are considerably smaller, and the script engraving is finer in consequence, following more closely the English style than the Parisian, which is large and with flourishes. The block or Roman letter plate is very English, and with those affecting London styles it finds great favor. The price more than doubles that of script engraving. Ladies use the block style now on their cards for teas and receptions, as it admits of the necessary engraving of days within a smaller space than the script and enables a smaller card being used. - Ladies' Home Jour-

The Color of Flames.

You have often noticed the many tinted bars and bands that rise in the shape of "forked tongues of flame" from wood burning in the grate. It is London. ten to one, however, that you never have thought to figure on the cause of the variegated hues presented by flames. To bring the matter quickly to the point, we will say that the many colors are the result of combustion among the different elements of the wood. The light blue is from the hydrogen and the white from the carbon, the violet is from the manganese, the red from the magnesia and the yellow from the soda, which are constituent parts of the wood. -St. Louis Republic.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning May 24. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-Christ's widening kingdom.-Isa. xi

I-10. (A missionary topic.) The kingdom of Christ is a constantly widening kingdom. At first but the grain of mustard seed, it has grown until it has become a mighty tree, whose branches overshadow the whole earth. It is still to extend and widen until He shall reign from sea to sea and throughout the uttermost parts of the earth.

In the Scriptural reference before us we have a beautiful portrayal of the origin and character of the Ruler of the kingdom, and also a graphic description of the kingdom itself. Let us notice: 1. The King (Isa. xi, 1-5), "Then shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse; a branch shall grow out of his roots." As from the root of a tree cut down there may come a fresh branch that will grow and flourish, so from the "stem" or stock of Jesse, cut down and for ages hidden out of sight, shall suddenly come a young, green sapling, destined to reach the fullness of life. Here is the human origin of the Messiah. "The Spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him'' (verse 2). Here is His divine power. He is also described as wise, having both intellectual and moral apprehension; as righteous, judging the poor in righteousness; as powerful, smiting the earth with the rod of His mouth, which is the word of God, the sword of the Spirit, and as faithful. These characteristics of the Messiah bespeak the success and the prosperity of His kingdom.

2. The Kingdom (verses 6-9). It is to be a kingdom of peace, illustrated by the figure of the wild and ferocious animals associating in fellowship with the weak and gentle ones-the wolf and the lamb, the leopard and the kid, the calf and the young lion, "and a little child shall lead them." The animal creation is still to be under the control of man, and his control is to be increased, for the most ferocious beasts are to be led by a little child. Glorious consummation when the gospel of Christ shall bring such peace to the earth! It is to be a widening kingdom. "The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea. 'The waters com-pletely fill the sea. The truth in Jesus shall completely fill the earth. No land so remote, no clime so cold or so hot, no barbarism so rude, no prejudice so strong, but that the gospel of Christ shall cover it with its widening power. Let us rejoice in such a fact. Let us as Endeavor societies and as individual Christians do all in our power to hasten the day when "the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea."

All the members of a large family in Ireland belong to the Christian Endeav or society in its various branches. A young woman Endeavorer of San-

Christian Endeavor has at last entered Italy, the first society having been formed recently in the Scotch Presbyterian church at Florence. A Baptist church in the same city has followed the example of its neighbor.

Calcutta shows a striking sample of Christian Endeavor zeal. The young ladies' society of Christian Endeavor in the Methodist Episcopal church last year distributed more than 2,000 bunches of flowers to the hospitals of the city.

the very successful one of last year. The needs of the hospital are large, as will be seen by the annual report issued this week, and if the institution was free from current debt would require about $10,000 cash annually, or $200 per week.

With a contract between Quincy and Boston all drawn up for signatures, and the pending orders in the City Council, it is very probable that work on a sewerage system for the city will be commenced this year. The LEDGER is still of the opinion that the plan of payment of the cost is not the best, but hopes that may be fully considered, and that work may really be started and that it will be rushed. The health and convenience of our people need a sewerage system, and the development of Quincy depends on it.

The developments at the Norfolk county investigation which have been reported at length in the DAILY LEDGER fully warrant the order for an investigation, and if the County Commissioners escape without an indictment they will be fortunate. Lawyers Storey and Blackmur have been very successful in unearthing evidence, and the developments have not only been a surprise to many, but startling and suspicious if not criminal.

It is evident that City Hall must be remodelled soon to do the business of a large municipality. The need has long been felt of more room and better accommodations. The present structure will be large enough for ten years at least, if properly remodelled, and if the water commissioners, sewerage commissioners, and school committee can be accommodated therein.

enough can be saved in rent to pay a good investment on the money. The work should not be delayed, but the order for a loan should be changed, making it all payable in 1901, when only $14,755 61 matures.

The report of the engineer engaged by the sewerage commissioners is interesting for its estimate of Quincy's population in the future. The figures may seem large, but they are evidently based on a careful estimate and are not far from right. His estimates were: In four years (1890), 28,826; in nine years, 36,782; in fourteen Went After the Proprietor Was Sumyears, 45,990; in nineteen years, 55,385; in twenty-four years, 66,220; in twenty-nine years, 75,660; in thirty-four years, 84,400. Another generation will see Quincy as large as Cambridge or Lowell now are.

-The problem of all times is to keep the laborers at work. If they are earning money, they will spend it. And if the workmen spend money, everyone else gets his share of it. Money hoarded is, practically, lost; but money kept in constant circulation does constant good. For this reason, those who pay the heavier taxes must not regard their tax as lost money. It only goes to the workmen, who, in turn, comes to the taxpayer to buy what he needs, and on which the taxpayer makes 148 59 his profit. When everybody is at work, 105 00 the taxpayer finds his taxes are most easily 360 34 met. So the great problem is to find work, 291 11 rather than workers. "What bridge?" was the interrogatory from the disinterested party. "Why, the Point bridge, of course!"

"Oh, that's about six miles from here,"

was the quiet rejoiner.

For a few minutes the air was blue. The steamer "John Brooks" was hauled up at Nut Island late on Friday afternoon beside the "Old Colony." She was a famous boat in her day, having been built at New York in 1859 for the Portland Steam Packet Co. She is 239 feet long, 31 ft. beam and 10 ft. deep, with engines of 1,000 indicated horse power, and a gross tonnage of 1,011. Of late years she has been engaged in the excursion business.

Counsel For the Estate Not Worried About Outside Claimants

Boston, May 23.-F. S. Nickerson, representing Charles H. Pattee as executor of the Stetson will, appeared in the probate court of Suffolk county yesterday and filed a petition asking that the will be proved and allowed, and letters testamentary issued to him without giving a surety on his official bond.

The petition further cites that John Stetson, Jr., died on April 18, 1896, leaving as a widow and only heirs-at-law Catherine S. Stetson, since deceased, and John Stetson, Sr., father. In accordance with this request, the court calls upon "all heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested" in the estate to appear at the probate court on June 4 and show cause, if any, why the will should not be probated, and

June 4, therefore, marks the beginning of the famous Stetson will contest, if contest there is to be.

To a question as to what he thought the probable outcome of the case would be, F. S. Nickerson, who is now acting as counsel for the estate, spoke as follows: "I do not care to say anything as counsel, but as an individual i can say that there is nothing unusual in the Stetson case. Not in the principle, and only in the method, is there a difference Call and see some in conveying property by will or deed. If Mr. Stetson had deeded his property, I presume no one could have thought of disputing the conveyance.

"The fact that he willed his property to his wife is no unusual thing. wife married him in the prime of life, and devoted herself to him. His relatives were well to do, and what else could be expected than to bestow the property

"So far as the outside claimants are concerned, I know little or nothing about them, personally, though I believe neither of the pretended wives have any claims as such "I can say that Mr. Stetson's will was made exactly in accordance with his desire, expressed for more than a year River, Mass. All the weavers are still prior to its execution. He was particular even about the form, and desired a near copy of the will of Roscoe Conkling as possible. I think there can be no question as to his soundness of mind at the time of the execution. There is an abundance of evidence as to that."

On Beacon Hill. Boston, May 23.-In the house, Mr. Roe offered a substitute bill, making the governor, president of the senate and speaker of the house, a special committee to employ an architect, receive and John Doughty and a man named Johnapprove plans for the reconstruction and preservation of the Bulfinch front of the state house, the plans to be passed over to the state house construction commission for carrying out, at an expense not to exceed $450,000. An Important Decision.

Boston, May 23.-The full bench of the supreme court has handed down a decision which will affect materially the car-All shades of Quincy and other Granites rying of firearms by parading bodies not attached to the regular army or militia. The opinion is the outcome of a long and careful consideration of the case of James A. Murphy, who was arrested for "carrying firearms" (a disabled musket) during a parade in this city. He was convicted both in the lower Housekeeping Outfits and higher courts. The supreme court deided that the verdict rendered by the jury was just. Consequently, Murphy will have to come into court for sentence. The court holds that the right to carry arms as an individual, does not include JOHN H. Disappointment For A. P. A. Lynn, Mass., May 23.—The A. P. A., as occredited in the contest, was badly deteated in this city last night in their attempt to capture a majority of the delegates for the election of a city committee. In only one ward did they succeed in electing one of their number, and this was in ward 1. The caucuses were largely attended, and as the issue was on the A. P. Cleveland, May 23. — The Methodist general conference occupied itself yesterday in electing editors of church papers and secretaries of church societies. Very little remains now in the way of elections. When Rev. Dr. J. M. Resolutions were adopted favoring arbitration, and will be sent to rulers of nations throughout the world. The bishops talked about the selection of their residences, but did not

FAILURES FALLING OFF.

One of the Hopeful Signs Pervading the Business World.

Adication of a Boom Afler the Period of "Between Seasons."

New York, May 23.—Bradstreet's says: The reactionary tendency in prices shrinkage in railroad earnings, the falling off in bank clearings and the fact that the present constitutes the beginning of the between-seasons' period, include the more conspicuous features of the general business situation. On the other hand, business failures have fallen off sharply.

Gross and net railway earnings for the first quarter of 1896 are satisfactory, showing totals enlarged beyond those of last year.

Speculation during the present week has been even narrower and more professional than before. The tone how-ever, has on the whole been steadier and the apprehensive feeling in regard to the political results, as bearing on the currency, has worn itself out. Evidence in fact accumulates that large holders of securities have not been affected by the recent liquidating tendency, but that the latter was confined to the smaller semi-professional bulls. This week's gold shipments have been comparatively small, amounting to $2, 650,000, and in the early part of the week it was understood that the "special orders" for gold from Germany had been filled. There seems to be some uncertainty about this, however, and the existence of a considerable inquiry for exchange would in any event tend to force rates to a level at which gold would move to London, as the record for many years past shows to be a normal proceeding at this season. The market has, however, virtually disregarded the gold movement, and has indeed been but slightly affected by the generally fair crop reports. So far as any speculative interest developed, it was mainly in connection with the manipulation of some of the industrials.

The boot and shoe industry is con spicuous in that demand has revived sufficiently to furnish most factories with orders for some time ahead and to stimulate quotations for hides, leather and shoes.

Warmer weather helps retailers of dry goods, but has not continued long enough to stimulate wholesale demand The iron and steel industries report a moderate increase in request for raw material, but not sufficient to strengthen prices or encourage makers as to an inrease in the output.

General trade throughout the central west has not met anticipations.

Detroit and Milwaukee business intersts are suffering from strikes. Exports of wheat (flour included as wheat) from both coasts of the United States this week amount to 1,950,000 bushels, as compared with 2,754,000 bushels in the week one year ago. Bank clearings aggregate $991,000,000 throughout the United States this week a falling off of 2.7 per cent from last week, and 10.8 per cent from the total in the third week of May, 1895, but an increase of 16 per cent as compared with the corresponding total in 1894. The total number of business failure throughout the United States this week shows a marked falling off from the weekly average during the past four months, being 216, as compared with 263 last week, and with 206 in the like week

Russell Could Unite the Democratic Factions.

Administration Organ So Declares and Advocates Him For President.

Canton, O., May 23.—Senator Quay left Canton yesterday afternoon without giving out the suspicion of a statement. He did not appear to be in a cordial humor, and rather snapped at newspaper men. The outcome of the interriew is not known, as neither Quay nor McKinley would listen to questions. It to much. There was no breach between the men, as McKinley drove the senator

Pittsburg, May 23.—Senator Quay arrived at his home in Beaver, from Canton, O., last evening. An effort was made to induce him to talk, but he refused to say anything further than that his conference with Major McKinley was satisfactory. To the query as to whether he believed McKinley would be nominated, he replied: "I have nothing to say whatever." The senator moment, however, and to a solicitous question as to whether he was still to be considered a candidate, emphatically replied: "O, yes. I am still a candidate for the presidential nomination, and shall be voted for at the St. Louis convention." The senator seemed to think he had said enough, and to further questioning as to what he thought of McKinley's views and record on the financial question and Platt's attack on it, he smilingly said that he had nothing more to communicate. The senator stated that he would come up to Pittsburg to attend to some private business, and would return to Wahington on Monday

Cleveland, May 23.-The Leader publishes, in substance, the following, upon the visit of Quay to McKinley: Quay came to Canton, not as the bearer of messages from any man or group of men, but as the leader of the Republican party in Pennsylvania. He did not come, as he factitiously remarked in Washington, to question McKinley about his attitude on the money question. He was a Republican leader visiting the man who will certainly be the nominee of the Republican party for president. The giving of offices was not considered, nor was the campaign for the nomination discussed, because each knew the campaign to be practically ended. One thing they did discuss was the campaign which McKinley will enter against the Democratic candidate for president. The conference was most pleasant on both sides. The visit of Quay was such as will be made by many other Republican leaders before and after the St. Louis convention.

A TOWER OF STRENCTH.

nificant deliverance that has yet been printed here concerning possible Demo- ocratic county conventions. cratic nominees for the presidency appears in The Times. Its leading editorial advocates Russell as the Democratic nominee, and more than any other newspaper in this city The Times s supposed to be in the confidence of the administration and of influential Democrats of the better sort. The implication is that Russell is, so to say, the legatee of the administration. In its article The Times assumes that | Separate societies to be read by them, his silverite supporters. If the Demostrong in exactly the respect in which and anti-machine Democrats could heartily support him, it believes, and the assembly stood adjourned. professed independents would vote cheerfully for him. "He is one of the easiest of living Democrats," it concludes, "for Rupublicans to vote for." No Democratic newspaper in New York has heretofore declared itself for any one candidate.

The Times says: What stronger name can the delegates from the east present to the Chicago convention than that of William E. Russell of Massachusetts? What more inspiring and uniting candidate can the convention submit to the party and the country? It is time now to talk about the Democratic nominee The Republicans will nominate McKiney. Nothing but a formidable revolt among the sound money Republicans of the eastern states can defeat him, and they appear to lack the courage even to lift up their voices in protest. The election of McKinley beyond any shadow of reasonable doubt will bring us to free coinage, the single silver standard, and another panic. He is the tariff candidate of the east, the silver candidate of the west. The silver men in congress may send to him for signature a free coinage bill without the help of the high tariff men. There can be no new tariff bill sent to him until the support of the silver men has been bought by passing a bill opening the mints to silver. Whosoever does not know that, has been a careless observer of the proceedings of the United States senate.

These disasters, says The Times. can be averted only by the election as the successor of Mr. Cleveland of a Democrat who will defend and maintain the present gold standard. A free coinage Democrat cannot be elected. McKinlev's silver strength, plus his tariff strength, would give him a most overmastering advantage. A sound money Democrat, one who could hold the oldtime Democratic states and capture from the Republican column some of the gold standard states of the east would be elected. No Democratic candidate who cannot do that would have the sightest chance of election. That the 'solid south" may be held true to the Democratic faith, that such states as North and South Carolina and Missouri, which are in an eruptive condition from coinage, may be carried for the Demochimerical proposition. But the south cer arrived.

SPHYNX-LIKE SILENCE, is not McKinleyite. It is most certainly not Republican. Loyalty to party and the habit of party will make powerfully against the newer influences of silver and Populism.

If a serious campaign is to be made. continues The Times, it must be with such a candidate as ex-Governor Russell. He is strong enough with the people to have been three times elected governor of Republican Massachusetts. He is an able man, and worthy to be president. Massachusetts has pronounced for his candidacy. 'The New Hampshire Democrats want him. From inquiries made in New York, it appears that his nomination would be cordially welcomed and supported by everybody who has ever voted the Democratic ticket, from the most austere mugwump to the humblest "regular." Since Mr. Whitney has made it clear that he will not permit the use of his name, there is no other candidate to whom the party can turn with such confidence as to Russell. While his Democracy is beyond question, his cans not believed the conference amounted didacy would win the votes of practi- At New Bedford-New Bedford, 11; Fall cally all those Republicans who could not support McKinley and the silver At Pawtucket-Pawtucket, 12; Brockstandard. Edward Grosse introduced William Steinway as chairman. Mr. Steinway read a letter from Carl Schurz, in which the writer said that the object or which they had assembled had his heartiest sympathy. Mr. Grosse read a long typewritten petition, signed by more than 200 German-American business men, as a proof of the interest taken by German-Americans in the currency question. These men are to form the German-American Bound Money league.

Lippitt. Hobart and Fort.

Washington, May 23.—Yesterday was a day of vice presidential booms. National Committeeman Hobart of New Jersey, and Judge Fort, a delegate to St. Louis, were on the floor of the house, and were introduced by Representative Loudenslanger to many of the members of the chamber. Circulars in the interest of Charles W. Lippitt, governor of Rhode Island, were freely circulated about the city. Lippitt has recently been in consultation with General Grosvenor. It is stated that the gubernatorial election in Rhode Island in April was the first expression of the people of the country prior to the national campaign of 1896. The prominent issue-in the Rhode Island campaign was protection, and Mr. Lippitt carried its standard to victory, with the largest plurality that any candidate for governor ever received in the history of the state.

The obstruction to the measure was withdrawn yes sponse to a call signed by prominent terday, and by the decisive vote of 34 to 20 the senate adopted the motion of Mr. to form a German-American Gold Butter, author of the bill, to proceed with it. The debate on the measure continued throughout the day, and was at times very animated. The Phillips labor commission bill, which was to have come to a vote in the house under the special order, was completely crowded out by the conference reports on the river and harbor and sundry civil bills. The bill will now go over until next week. ## MIDNIGHT BANQUET.

A Grand Menu and Some Interesting Speeches.

Some few months ago the employes of the Quincy & Boston street railway organized a benefit association among themselves, the primary object being to furnish relief to its members, who by sickness or accident were incapacitated from duty.

As the organization grew in membership it was found desirable to have the organization incorporated, and application was made for a charter which has been granted under the laws of Massachusetts, and to celebrate the event the members indulged in a banquet, which was served Friday night at Wilson's hall.

That all members could be present the hour of the banquet was fixed at midnight and at that time something like 43 were seated about the festive board.

In the absence of President Weeks, who was detained at home by illness, Assistant Superintendent Waterhouse presided, and about him at the head table were the following guests. Hon. John F. Merrill, Brainard Dyer, Elbridge F. Porter, John McKnight, Joseph F. Costello, Chief Engineer Peter J. Williams, E. J. Parker, ex-Councilman John P. Bigelow, ex-Representative Charles L. Hammond, Officer Thomas F. Ferguson, W. E. Gardner, private secretary to Superintendent Weeks, John Grady.

A. E. Nash served the banquet and the spread was a tempting one as will be seen by the following menu.

Blue Points on Shell Roast Spring Turkey, Roast Spring Chicken.

Jelly. Fillet of Beef and Mushrooms. Escolloped Oysters. Chicken Salad Lobster Salad.

Banana Fritters. Mashed Browned Potatoes. French Peas. Radishes.

Ice Cream. Vanilla, Chocolate, Strawberry. Frozen Pudding. Roman Punch.

Cakes. Citron, Bride's, Currant, Mixed,

Fancy Cakes. Bananas

Coffee Rolls.

After the good things had been thoroughly enjoyed Chairman Waterhouse rapped for order and called upon Hon. John F. Merrill. Mr. Merrill spoke in a happy strain and briefly outlined the history and growth of the Quincy & Boston street railway.

Mr. Dyer who is a director in the Braintree road spoke of the progress that road was making.

Chief Engineer Williams referred to the genial Dan Moran as one of the oldest men on the road and further said, that when Dan first came to work for the road he was

The remainder of the guests were then called upon in turn for remarks, each of whom responded briefly.

It was two o'clock when the boys shook themselves, and lighting a cigar turned their faces homeward, and the first annual banquet was a thing of the past.

During the evening Brainard Dyer and but he attends to his own Elbridge F. Porter were made honorary necessary. members of the association.

THE HOUSEHOLD.

The Kitchen In Summer-How to Give Swell Luncheon Parties-Making Strawberry Preserves.

Warm weather in the kitchen touches upon a wider subject than the mere banishing of dirt from that important apartment and its store places; it includes the introduction of new methods, fresher life and wholesomer food. In summer we have need to be especially watchful of our larders and the food in them. Little carelessnesses which may be of small consequence in cold weather become of great moment in a warm or damp atmosphere. Milk and butter are both notorious for their faculty of absorbing the taste of whatever is placed near to them. Yet unthinking servants put uncooked meat, fish and even vegetables by their side with impunity. Much waste arises because the food thrown away has become "bad" or 'sour" through this fault alone.

Soup will keep good for many days in the hottest weather if the simple precaution of warming up be taken every day, and milk that has been boiled will be three days before it turns at all sour. Apropos of milk, however, there is no possible excuse for wasting a single drop, for the uses of stale milk are manifold both in cookery and for house cleaning purposes.

Food often becomes tainted when the weather gives no possible reason for it because the dish or cover that it touches is not clean. A very apparently trifling thing is often enough to spoil a great one; hence the value of a strict daily inspection on the part of heads of households

Iced dishes must be cold and daintily dished, the decoration being so carefully managed that, though pretty and artistic, it should not give a suggestion of fingering. Overhandled dishes are an abomination never sufficiently to be condemned. The garnish should never set the beholder wondering how it came there. It should be eatable, like the rest of the dish, and should be appetizing. Impossible colors and fantastic shapes should be avoided. No one wishes to set their teeth in a claggy mess of fried gelatin or be rendered apprehensive of sudden death by pink mayonnaise, purple chaufroix, etc., atrocities introduced when the "colored dinner" or lunch was the whim of the moment.

Careful handling is particularly necessary if green salads are to be the delightful, refreshing, wholesome things we expect in warm weather. Try this way of treating lettuce and see what attention to small details will do: Pull the leaves apart, allowing each to remain whole: wash carefully: then let them lie in very cold water for 15 minutes, after which shake the water off each leaf, placing them in a white mosquito netting bag, and hang in the refrigerator, there to drain quite dry and to become still more crisp.

Putting Away Winter Clothing.

In putting away winter clothing, whether it be in the form of personal as heavy curtains or bedding, it is necessary for one to exercise the utmost care in order to guard against great loss | Briggs went away to Mexico again, from the ravages of moths. No trouble, which he did without making any effort no matter how laborious, should be to hunt them, so far as they knew, and spared, there being much at stake and the consequences being quite too serious to be trifled with in the very least. Heavy curtains, which are used only in more of Mr. Briggs. Then came a ruthe winter time as a protection, and all mor that some jealous Mexican had superfluous bedding, such as blankets fatally carved him, and the extreme and quilts, should be exposed to the sun and air for a few hours, the curtains being well beaten and freed from all dust and the blankets carefully washed. Then they should be neatly folded, wrapped in large cotton sheets and laid away the linen press or storeroom, upon st stantial shelves, which are clean and dry, accompanied by a goodly supply of camphor. -Good Housekeeping.

A Luncheon Party.

According to The Ladies' Home Journal, it is in better form to have a luncheon served at a large table, especially when the guests do not number more than 20, than to have small tables. Decorate your tables with flowers and have the rooms darkened and the gas lighted. It is not necessary to darken the whole house, but only the room in which the it is over the guests usually disperse.

"HANKY PANKY."

A good many years ago I was a rather clever amateur performer of "parlor magic" and, through my liking for it and the purchase of apparatus, became acquainted with a number of professional "magicians," men who in public called their art "prestidigitation" and privately referred to it as "hanky panky. One of the brightest was Charlie Hines, known to the public as Sheik Rustan.

When I first met him, he was accompanied and assisted on the stage by a very pretty woman, "the Princess Gulnare," who in private life had been Mrs. Tom Briggs. The Briggs domestic horizon had been rather confined for her tastes, perhaps a little gloomy by comparison with the footlight world as seen 'from the front," but I fancy she was a little disillusioned already when I encountered her. Mrs. Briggs became Charlie's stage assistant while her husband was away in Mexico as engineer of a railway or mine-I never clearly knew which-and when he learned of it, which was not until several months later, he took the matter so philosophically that it was thought he never would make any trouble about it. He had only expected to be gone ten months when he went away; but, having nothing particular to come back for when his home was broken up he staid in Mexico nearly two years, and it was only on business accounts that he even then returned. Perhaps he would have gone off again without even thinking of the woman who had dropped out of his life or the man to whom she had dropped had he not taken some trouble making advice from Bacchus and when in a sufficiently ugly mood happened to notice an advertising poster bearing pictures of Sheik Rustan and the Princess Gulnare, then performing in town. The stage door keeper tried to keep

behind the scenes. Almost immediately he caught sight of Charlie on the opposite side of the stage just going on to bowie knife. Fortunately it was a long Come, we will be glad to see you. throw across the stage, and though the aim was good and the knife flew point foremost in a most viciously businesslike fashion, its force was so far spent by the time the target was reached that heavy goldfish dish in Charlie's breast pocket, it glanced, darted off to one side and stuck quivering in the floor, without doing any more harm than cutting a long gash in the magician's coat. Before Mr. Briggs could do anything more seized, and to avoid scandal quietly put out of the back door, with an admonition to go and sin no more. Charlie and the they seeluded themselves until Mr. W. Stone, Treasurer of the Ame perhaps thought nothing more about them when he became sober. During the three following years we heard no probability of such a thing, added to its desirability from the point of view held by the Sheik and the Princess, impelled credence in the story. The Sheik Rustan made a great hit in the way he worked up to it greatly increased its effect. When about to perform it, he would expose the two ways in which it was formerly done. In one of those the apparent barrel of the pistol dropped its load into the performer's hand when he pressed a certain spring, and the report when the weapon was fired came from what seemed to be the by the use of bullets formed of plumbago, which were easily crushed by the ramrod in loading, these sham bullets luncheon is served. Two o'clock is the being substituted by sleight of hand for fashionable hour for a luncheon. After the leaden ones. Having fully explained and illustrated those old ways, Charlie would take apart the pistol he was about to use, pass around separately for inspection its barrel, stock and lock, which would, at his request, be put together blemish and not overripe and placing by some spectator. Then a handful of them in a porcelain kettle with their solid lead bullets were offered, from weight in white sugar. Allow them to which one marked by two or three perstand overnight and in the morning sons would be dropped by one of them set them over the range and let them into the barrel on a charge of powder boil steadily for an hour. Not a drop of and rammed home. To assure himself water should be used. The juice from that the ramming had been thoroughthe berries will furnish all the liquid which, he explained, was essential to his safety-he would press the bullet down firmly with the end of his baton, the pistol still remaining in the hands of the person who loaded it. Finally the holder of the weapon was allowed to fire

> He had done the trick successfully at each performance for ten nights. Then his Waterloo came. A big, hirsute cowboy blazed away at him, and his yell of pain mingled with the report of the pistol. The bones of his right wrist had been shattered by the bullet, hopelessly disabling him for life so far as any more

'hanky panky'' was concerned. The cowboy went up on the stage and expressed his sympathetic regret for the unfortunate outcome of the trick, but It is a suggestion from an artist that that, suspecting the withdrawal of the did not deem it necessary to explain a landscape, rather than a single figure marked bullet by the baton, he had slyly slipped another into the pistol. The officers are of the opinion that both men were more or less under the influence of liquor, but their friends deny this.

There is another story, to the effect that Officer Nerney used his weapon in self-defense in the fight, during which he was assaulted and seriously injured, being at present at home suffering from concussion of the brain. It is explained that as the Sunday picnics had become a great nuisance in the town, raiding expeditions on the part of the officers had begun. Deputy Sheriff Briggs, with Officers Nerney, Palmer, Barden, Hamilton and Parker, went out to Robinson's farm to investigate. On arriving there, it is said, Nerney ordered the picnickers to disperse, whereupon several men attacked Officers Palmer and Ner-

Finally, the officers retreated, and Officer Nerney, who was suffering intensely, was driver four miles in a wagon to his home, where For latest Local and Vicinity he was arrested. Fearing that his house might be attacked during the excitement growing out of the tragedy, officers are on guard.

Adams Secures 49 Points to 38 for Thayer Academy.

A better day for athletic sports could not have been had than that of Saturday. It was not too hot, neither was it too cold, and therefore the contest between the Adams and Thayer academies at Lovell's grove had many spectators.

It was the first annual athletic meet in the dual league between the two academies. There were ten events in all and there were a goodly number of entries in each from both academies. Thayer came down with a large number of friends many of whom were ladies, and they carried flags of the school colors, orange and black which they waved lustily to cheer their favorites on to victory.

On the other hand the Adams boys were friends carried flags of the blue and white, and they proved themselves as good Bates, shouters as their friends from Braintree, Paolucci, and in fact everybody was enthusiastic and each event was cheered. It was an D. B. Lincoln, Adams day and while Thayer showed that Baker, they had some good atheletes, Adams Cook, proved its superiority.

AN INTERESTING TALE

Of the Actual State of Affairs as Existing In Cuba Today.

How the Struggle Is Carried on by Both Sides.

Death Alone Can Prevent Cubans Carrying or the Fight For Liberty.

New York, May 25.-A descriptive story of the Cuban revolution is furnished by a gentleman who for two score and started out into the river, when one years was a resident of Cuba. He says that the present rebellion was devised and planned by Cubans in New York. Following its inception, a carefully worked-out propaganda was made and entrusted to many active agents among the best classes in central and eastern Cuba. That a clash with the mother country would follow was certain. "It had to be," said this informant,

"as the first war had given the masses an idea of perfect freedom and the right: of men. While the 1868-1878 rebellion was on, the masses did not understand the employ of Spain in Cuba sided with the former. They held small salaried positions. Since the close of the last war, the very active propaganda of the autonomists has educated the masses Today they want equal freedom for all. "To the blacks in central and eastern Cuba, where they outnumber the whites the new doctrine came as a revelation burned in trying to extinguish the flames.

The solution of th demands, but the long promised reforms Whole regiments of flees and were deferred from year to year, first, for one assigned cause and then under another: that they were being studied or their claims investigated.

"More than 17 years slipped by. The masses in central and eastern Cuba had become restless and anxious. Seno Maury, at one time minister for the colonies, proposed a series of reforms Their discussion gave the Cubans re-Summer Arrangement. Their discussion gave the Cubans rewould become a working reality. Then Senor Abarzuza took the proposed reforms in hand. His modifications so changed their character that their mer-At 4.30 P. M .- Hot Coffee Rolls and its were eliminated. Had they been enacted the old status quo would have

"Waiting seemed vain. Early in 189 were idle. Then on Feb. 24, 1895, a num ber raised the flag of rebellion and demanded Cuba libre, or free Cuba. The standard of revolt was set up in a number of places in eastern Cuba, a rich province, in which the blacks greatly outnumbered the whites. The blacks joined the petty leaders. "Simultaneously, in central Cuba, small parties formed. At that time the movement was not deemed a really serious one. Then it did not indicate as effective rebellion. Many influential reople who sympathized with them held back. However, the small parties maintained their independence and grew in number and strength. Then they had nition and machetes that could be found During the early days of the rebellion the small parties were without leaders of military skill, when Maceo, in Bavamo, gave an impetus to the movement by raising a body of men, who instantly took the field, ready for aggressive work "The Spanish officials, not believing that the movement was serious, so informed the government, and made little of the whole uprising. The Spanish officials did not want any disturbance that would upset their own money-making plans. Later, the rebellion increased, when Spain became alarmed and sent out General Martinez Campos who, instead of granting the long promised reforms, brought soldiers, where," said this informant, "if he had came alone, duly authorized to adjust all the differences, the extension of the rebellion would have been prevented, and a settlement reached. But no, the bad faith of the Spanish government was to continue, they assured each other.

"While the insular events were multiplying, Generals Maximo Gomez and Antonio Maceo arrived with a considerable following. They joined a small party of rebels, under General Jose Maceo, a brother of Antonio. They were joined later by the late Jose Marti, who had been the life and chief organizer of the Cuban junta, or advisory board, in his party landed, and were ambushed by the Spaniards. Crombet was killed in action, the survivors were made prisoners, and today are in the Morro castle at Habana. All the men named had been prominent in the 1868-1878 rebellion. Marti was a Spaniard, Crombet a Cuban, Gomez is a native of Santo Domingo, West Indies; the Maceos are blacks from Santo de Cuba.

"At that time the general rebel ren-dezvous was in the lofty mountains east of Guantanamo, in the extreme east of eastern Cuba. When it became known that Gomez, Marti and Maceo had landed, hundreds of Cubans abandonded their homes and joined them. The recruits were blacks and whites. "Generals Gomez, Marti and the others commenced organizing their commands. They seized horses, supplies, etc. Later, reports came of skirmishes with the Spanish troops. In the early encounters the rebels wanted arms and ammunition. By capturing the regulars they supplied themselves. The Cubans are very crafty and adroit. Often supplies were sent, packed under a whole load of household effects, parrot cages, etc. Often they were sent under the very eyes of the Spanish officials. By this and other methods gradually the rebels were armed. "The rebels foraged for all living supplies. Next they made the owners of states pay a tax on all cattle slaughtered for private consumption. Herds were driven into the mountain fastnesses for future supplies. Then, as now, they had more men than could be Housekeeping armed. The best men were selected and armed as tiradores, or sharp shooters. The men without arms, saving the machete, have cultivated large tracts of pumpkins, sweet potatoes and plantians. Hence a supply of vegetables and meat, as well as corn for the horses. Sugar cane makes excellent fodder for the latter. In a word food supplies and commissariat departments are not lacking. Friends send them salt, etc., and when in need they simply raid a town, taking whatever is wanted.

"Eastern Cuba remains the main center of the rebellion. There, the blacks and their descendants are banded to-gether like the old-time carbonari of Italy. To a man, they stand together as against Spain. The negroes are perfect woodsmen. The vast tropical forests are their home. To Cuba they are what the early day Indians were in the North Amerian continent-a handy and crafty enemy, abounding in skill and endurance, living under circumstances where ordinary men cannot live and maintain health. "The people in central and eastern Cuba who are not openly on the side of the rebels, sympathize with tnem and keep them fully advised of every movement of the royal troops. They constitute themselves into an intelligent corps, in whom the rebels can and do rely. Even the old negresses will not give any information, not even under threats. One and all, male and female, in eastern Cuba deem Spain their common When asked as to the rebel method of attack, the speaker said that it was of the usual Cuban type. "When the rebels are advised that a Spanish column is advancing upon them, they post their sharpshooters in parties of 50, five or six parties of them. First, they engage the advance guard of the royalists, firing from ambush. If crowded too much that party of 50 will fall back, while a new one of 50 will make a flank attack and so they simply harass the Spaniards and expose themselves as little as possible. By this methed, 250 or 300 Cubans will hold a whole column in check. The Cubans are as fertile in experiments in attack, ambushing, etc., as any body of Indians. Their policy is to wear out and exhaust the enemy, at a minimum cost of life, powder and wounds to themselves. In many of the engagements, skirmishes in which the tiradores fall back when outnumbered, such engagements are made to do duty as Spanish victories.

In many instances when the Span ish troops have been taken prisoners after being disarmed and offered their liberty, many of them have entered the rebel ranks. Their poor pay and treat ment under Spanish officers does no make that service attractive. Asked as to the prevalent opinion among the rebels, he said: "They are fighting for liberty or death; conquer or die, is their self-imposed motto. They know full well that they are fighting for their

The reports regarding the bad health of General Gomez he denounced as untrue. The Cuban army is an unpaid organization. Not an officer or man receives any pay. "To repeat," he said, "they are fighting for liberty and for

When asked if there were any Americans in the rebels' ranks, he replied that there were a few. They also have no pay. They run the same risks and unlergo the same hardships as the Cubans. Landing expeditions today, he said, the Cubans have reduced to a science. he steamers lay to at night, outside o the marine league. For sale by all first-class systematic search of the country, seizing systematic search of the country, seizing furnished and delivered promptly and at they used that they expeditions dispatched to Cuba have cessful trips. Thousands of rifles and machetes and tens of thousands of cartridges have reached the rebels, in cluding some cannon, dynamite and stores, all purchased in or near New York city. When questioned as to Spain's wet season campaign, he said that the rebeis most famous generals are Generals June, July and August. They are the wet season months, when annually yetlow fever takes on an epidemic character and kills the unacclimated. From yellow fever the rebels have nothing to fear. Rains, wet and open air are to them one and alike of no importance It pens up their enemies, while the rebels can recruit and get ready for the dry season campaign. The question of belligerency was dis cussed. "Any delay in that line," the Cuban resident said, "will simply proong the war. The rebels say that the will not accept any Cuba under Spanish rule. It must be a free Cuba. If, perchance, the United States intervened and asked for the sale of Cuba to Cubans under an American guarantee that the purchase price would be paid by the rebels, such an arrangement would lead to a cessation of hostilities. Failing recognition as belligerents, they will fight for 10 years."

When asked as to the sentiment in Habana and western Cuba, he said that section was loyal to Spain. Many loyal Spaniards, he added, wanted fuller rights for Cuba. That end of Cuba was as firm in her loyalty to Spain as eastern Cuba was for Cuba Libre. The Cubans were a divided people. Annexation, he said, was not understood, nor would the masses accept it.

When asked as to the report of irregularities by the Spaniards, he regretted that they were only "too true." He said: "Hundreds of Spaniards are sent to Cuba to take official positions. Many were appointed with the clear and tacit understanding that one-half of their gains were to be remitted to Spain to the officials who had secured their appointments. Many a Spaniard purchased his Cuban appointment outright and then proceeded to recoup himself. Some of the officials monthly have sent $1000 to Spain. They deceive their government, Cuba and the people alike. Any deficit in the Cuban budget is made good by an additional tax on Cuban property. If detected, they are dismissed when they return to Spain; but their dismissal does not ostracize them. Far from it; they are subjects for popular sympathy."

This informant made a single exception to official irregularity in Cuba, that of Martinez Campos, who was an honest captain general. He was ousted by the Spanish party, as he would not authorize general killing. The Cubans believe that they will succeed and free themselves from Spain. The whole issue is a plain one to them—freedom or death. The rebel army is officered by whites and blacks. The latter prefer men of their own race. Discipline is rigidly enforced. Any disobedience of orders is severely punished.

A cyclone, accompanied by heavy rain struck Mt. Clemens. Some 30 houses on Front, Butler and Inches streets were blown down, and many of them literally torn to pieces. As yet, no deaths are reported, but many people were injured.

Smallpox Patients Loose.

Elgin, Ills., May 26.—The factory of the Elgin Sewing Machine and Bicycle company was damaged by the storm to the extent of over $100,000. The wind worked havoc among the tents of four smallpox patients just outside the city. Every tent was blown away, and the patients, after several narrow escapes from death from flying debris, succeeded in finding shelter in an old cabin, where they were found. # BUY TEA. Of Boston Branch Grocery. WHY?

For several reasons, all good, practical ones.

1st. Our experience for twenty-five years in selecting and handling TEAS of all kinds, both wholesale and retail, enables us to select goods with merit and reject the spurious so common in the market, and which the inexperienced dealer cannot distinguish.

2d. Our TEAS are bought direct from the importer, and the profits that usually go to the Broker, the Wholesaler, and the Jobber, three or four in all, WE give to our

3d. The large quantity of TEA which we sell enables us to be often in the market as buyer, and any advantage to be had by any cash buyers we get.

4th. Because we can refer you to hundreds of families in Quincy and vicinity who have used TEA purchased from our establishment with satisfaction. 5th. Because we never sold more than at present time and never with better results.

6th. We never give prizes, preferring to give the value in the goods. There are more reasons but above will show that we mean business. We will gladly give a generous sample for trial to any lady calling at our store or by sending a note by messenger with name and street number of lady sending same, otherwise no samples will be given to children. Durgin & Merrill's

Great curiosity has been felt through the town of Hingham, says the Boston Adver tiser, about the action of the steam railroad in laying a middle rail on both of its tracks at the highway crossings. It is stated upon good authority that it is the intention of the company to extend their Nantasket Beach electric service to Hingham within the next few weeks, and that the rails referred to are simply the beginning of a middle rail to be laid all the way from Nantasket Junction. It is expected that this middle rail will serve in place of the overhead trolley, and if the experiment proves successful, it means a great deal to the people on the South Shore Why not Attleboro Shooting Scrape Causing Excitement.

District Attorney Will Take the Matter Up and Investigate the Case.

Attleboro, Mass., May 26.-The Attleboros and the country adjacent to the state line are still greatly agitated over the killing of Michael Connors and Daniel Mountain of Pawtucket, R. I., at Robinson's farm, Sunday. Scores of witnesses to the shooting claim that Officer Nerney did not exercise good judgment, while others say that no other course was left to him after the dispute started. CITY

QUINCY.

THE School Committee of the City of Quincy will, until Monday noon, June 8, 1896, receive proposals for furnishing and delivering about 550 tons White Ash coal, and about 400 tons Lehigh coal. The best quality of screened coal must be furnished in proper quantities and sizes to supply the several school buildings. The bids must include the trimming of the bins.

They will also receive proposals for furnishing and delivering within the school buildings about 25 cords of pine wood and about 10 cords of oak wood. The wood must be of the best quality and must be cut into lengths required by the different schools. Four cords of the pine must be sawed and split. The bids for the pine and the oak wood must be separate.

All the wood and coal for the present buildings must be delivered on or before August 31, 1896. The wood and coal for the two new buildings shall be delivered on

AUCTION SALE LOTS SEASHORE MANET BEACH, HOUGHS NECK,

Memorial Day, Saturday, May 30th, 1896, at 2 P. M

HAVING Received a great many calls for moderate priced lots at Houghs Neck this season, we have decided to offer

Twenty of our Best Lots a short distance back from the shore, at Public Auction on Memorial Day. These are some of the best lots on the whole shore, and you can secure one at your own price. The same easy terms which have made our auction sales so popular in the past will be continued at this sale, viz.:

$5.00 Down and $5.00 a Month until one-fourth the purchase price is paid when you can take your deed and give us a mortgage for the balance, running three years. Interest at six per cent. semi-an-nually on unpaid balances. Taxes paid up to May 1, 1897.

During the last five years, since this property was placed on the market, over 500 lots have been sold, nearly 300 houses built, property values have more than doubled, and the permanent summer population in-creased nearly ten-fold.

During the past year alone, forty-six new houses have been built, Quincy city water has been introduced, insurance rates reuced one-half, and a established on the electric road from Quincy depot. With all these improvements, and better times coming, a big advance in land values is assured during the next few years, and the chance for investing your savings was never better.

It will pay you to attend this sale, and to come prepared to make the first payment on a lot. Regular payments for a few months will secure your deed and the rest is easy. It is the best way to save, and returns are sure, whether you decide to build or not. For plans, and full particulars, call on or address the

"To commission on Dedham court house $100." Under date of June 30, 1894, was a similar entry for $500. These were however charged in the contract book under "sundry pipes and fittings." Witness said this was done to deceive the engineers.

Witness said the $100 was drawn for his own personal use for incidental expenses incurred by him. He also said there was another reason which he declined to make in public but which was afterward brought out, and was that he had drawn more money than he should and to cover this up it was done in the above way. It deceived no one but himself.

The sum of $500 he had paid to A. B. Franklin. Witness said it was an unwritten law for one contractor 'not to in terfere with another. Franklin had had trouble at the court house and when I figured he thought I should allow him my contract price for him.

A recess of half an hour was taken at before the House. .

H. N. > Today, when we look upon grass-grown graves and with hearts sad with agonized memories cover these beds with garlands, proud of our heroes and anguished that they could not enjoy the country that their heroism preserved, we are inclined to give time to memories and dwell upon the past the days when our fathers were the young men, the leaders in the community, yet our reverie is broken, as a line or two of rhyme comes to us out from the open windows of the school-room.

This much in general. The writer of special appeal for the Wollaston schools. Parent's Day at Wollaston.

This is the first public exhibition, given by the schools here since the present master assumed direction. Many are not yet acquainted with him. Perhaps there have been reasonable excuses heretofore yet after Friday these cannot exist. Only physical disability should occasion absence. Charles E. Finch, Jr., was born in Waterbury, Connecticut, spending his childhood and school days in Southington Conn., where he first taught. His natural aptitude for the work and special ability caused him to be sought out and given larger fields of labor. For three years he had been principal of a school in Meriden, where our watchful Superintendent, H. W him to come to Wollaston and take charge of the schools in this ward.

We are fortunate in being able to presen his likeness, which in itself will introduce him to many to whom he is a stranger. If these read his face aright, they will be sure of his cordial welcome, when they find their way to the school, they will see that the man is alive to his work, that he is abreast with the times, mainly, courageous and of clean character, worthy to educate the youth of Wollaston and fitted to inspire the spirit of helpfulness, unity and confidence that is evinced by the teachers who work under his direction and the children under his care.

He is young and in complete sympathy with youth, yet alert to all duties of citizenship and fully alive to the responsibility of his work. He has shown his interest in education in other ways than by his school work, and has prepared special illustrated talks for children, which have been given in various places, entertainingly and instructively. STORY OF A VETERAN WHO WAS NOT FORGOTTEN.

A Sad and Lonely Heart Cheered by Kind Acts of Comrades-The Company Saluted. Tokens of Good Will-Honored Guest at the Feast-The Old Man's Soliloquy.

Morning .- "Oh, here they come! Here they come! Drums a-rollin, fifes a-tootin, and there breaks the whole band into a great swell o' music. Well, they've got a right; they've got a right!

'You've sat here nigh an hour waitin fur 'em, haven't you, Old Ben? An now here they come troopin along, the old martial swing in their steady tramp, an-oh Lord! There's Old Glory jus' as brave an true as ever. My, how she floats! Hooray!

What would you do, Old Ben, without the comfort o' talkin to yourself? The dear Lord knows 'twould be hard lines if you couldn't get somethin consolin out o' that. Some old vets would think it ruther tough bein reduced to havin just themselves fur company, but we're on tol'rable good terms with ourself, eh, old comrade? We've fought some pretty stiff battles together since the war, that's a fact, but we've tried to have good courage and keep on the right side, an we threaten to pull

"Course things would 'a' been very different if that bullet hadn't 'a' stopped at little Ben down there in the Wilderness 'long in 63. Young Ben he kep' close by Hooker all through till one day there come confusion an dismay, an one o' poor Jackson's troopers sent somethin singin right at the heart o' my Ben.

"I say 'poor Jackson,' fur Lord knows I class 'em all together now. And that's a good deal fur me to say-a good deal fur me to say. But I b'lieve white souls with the holy name 'patriot' on 'em went up to the throne o' God out o' northern ranks an southern ranks, an I've got an idee there's a grand Union o' souls up there that no strife o' men nor clash o' arms can ever disrupt or disband-no strife o' men nor clash o' arms can ever disrupt or disband-never.

"But little Ben? Le's see, he were 23 when that last mornin o' all the world seemed to come. There ain't ever been a real bright, old fashioned sunshiny day since then; not one, has there now, Ben? "Ah, this music! It's got the same stirrin old ring that marched some o' us through Georgia an along miles an miles

o' weary trampin elsewhere, the very ring, only it's slower today, a good deal slower, an-oh, Lord, again! Here comes Com-p'ny H. My, how they step off! Anwhy, they're gettin upward o' 50, I should say. Can't be young Ben would 'a' looked like that, can it? Gettin real gray is Comp'ny H, real gray. Lord bless 'em forevermore! They're a good age to lean on a little. Don't look like men to let their old fathers come to want as they go down toward the time for 'taps' to sound. Ah, well, God Almighty's good.

"Hah! What's this? Why, see here, old Ben, one o' these comrades marchin by must 'a' rec'nized you or else took you Left by will to The Mutual fur some one he knew, fur here's a little trim bouquet swung right into your lap as you sit here on the burial lot steps. Now, I'd know that badge in kingdom come. Eh, goin to have coffee and a nice lunch at the armory? All the boys say I must come? Well, that's a good strong arm you offer an old man. Don't see how I can refuse, but I'll have to go slow, my boy-I'll have to go slow."

Evening .- "Back in our room, at the home, Old Ben, all tired out, but pleased for all that, pleased and comforted to the very marrow. "What a cheer they raised, an how their little gifts come flyin spontaneous right at the old man! And at the table, Lord, they'd 'a' given us the whole spread if we could 'a' held it-the whole spread, wouldn't they, Ben?

"Well, we've done our best all this long while to keep our courage up-can't help repeatin that. Mother, she didn't stand it so very long. Bein a woman, she couldn't go out into the world an partly forget her sorrow tryin to engage in busi ness. An then, I b'lieve there's somethin about a mother that loses her only child that's diff'rent in some respec's from any other grief. Once her heart's broke that way she's never quite herself again-never. She may go roun the house smilin an tryin to interest herself in what's goin on an takin up bravely what comes in the way o' duty, but there's a room in he deep heart that's filled with a sacred pres Subscriptions taken for all papers ence, an she lives there a good part o' the rest o' her life.

Come to lead me to a banquetin hall, I a-leanin on his arm. Seems to be somethin familiar 'bout it all, eh, Old Ben?

"Just as you've sat dreamin so many times that there'd come before long a real bright, old fashioned, sunshiny day, when Old Ben, all tired out, would think the long parade—life's toilsome march—'bout over. An then, all at once, out from shinin ranks there'd come a young soldler, strong, glorious with immortal youth, come lookin fur me-me."-Christian In-

TO GO UNINSTRUCTED

But Vermont's Democratic Delegates Are Russell Men.

Silverites Win First Round at Pittsburg.

Fight Over the Financial Plank Grows More and More Interesting.

Montpelier, Vt., May 28.—There were 600 delegates to the Democratic state convention, and all were enthusiastic for Russell, but the delegation will go to Chicago unrettered by resolutions While the party leaders felt the great impulse for Russell, they desired the delegates unrestricted by specific instructions which would fetter the hands of Vermont's representatives at the national convention, compel them to vote for some particular candidate or be untrue to the state's desire, and in doing so jeopardize the party's welfare, in ease something wholly unlooked for made its appearance.

John Senter, secretary of the state convention, read the call to the delegates in Blanchard's Opera House. H. P. Brigham, chairman of the state committee, called the convention to order, and appointed as temporary officers, chairman, Felix M. McGettrick; secretary, J. H. La Fleur; assistants, E. T. McGettrick and K. J. Ceffin.

J. W. Gordon nominated J. H. Jackson of Barre as the candidate for governor and referred to him as the bearer of a good old Democratic name. The nomnation was unanimously made. Ralph Sherwood of St. Albans was nominated for lieutenant governor. Other nominaabout 400 tons Lehigh coal. The best quality of screened coal must be furnished in proper quantities and sizes to supply the several school buildings. The bids must include the trimming of the bins.

They will also receive proposals for furnishing and delivering within the school buildings about 26 cords of pine wood and about 10 cords of oak wood. The wood must be of the best early must be cut in the best earlier and must be cut in the second must be set the best earlier and must be set the best earlier and must be set the best earlier and the best be of the best quality and must be cut into lengths required by the different schools. Four cords of the pine must be sawed and split. The bids for the pine and the oak was withdrawn. Alternates elected: C. F. J. Farrell, Newport. There, was no L. McMahon, Stowe; H. P. Fisher, Vergennes; C. D. Robinson, Waterbury; vention then adjourned until 1:45.

The convention was called together again at 2:30, and Delegate-at-Large Maloney delivered an address, which called forth marked tokens of approval as he arraigned the Republican party and eulogized the opposite party. After this address the committee on resolu-tions, C. H. Davenport, P. J. Farrell, T. H. Brown, J. H. Holton and George F. O. Kimbal' were announced, and the follewing report was presented by Chairman Davenport: We, the Democrats of Vermont, in We, the Democrats of Vermont, in convention assembled, heartily commend and approve the able, patroic and statesmanlike administration of Grover Cleveland. We are especially grateful for his brave and timely Venezuelan message, giving the historic Democratic Monroe doctrine an assured standing in the civilized world, and his hereficence to mandilized world, and his beneficence to man-kind in the formulation of the arbitra-tion principle. We extend thanks to Secretary Carlisle for his conscientious and efficient management of the treasury department. We sympathize with the department. We sympathize with the brave Cubans struggling for their inde-pendence, and extend to them kindly words of encouragement and hope for their success. We demand the main-tainance of a gold standard of value as being for the true interest of all our peo-role, and especially of these who are

We are opposed to the Republican the ry and method of protection, on the ound that it is a criminal misapplicaion of the taxing power of the nation, oroducing monopoly, corruption and ousiness stagnation.

We therefore demand tariff legislation for the constitutional purpose of provid-revenues for the government, and not for fostering trusts, keping always in mind that unnecessary interference with business interests should be avoided. We denounce the Republican party for fostering a secret and un-American or ganization, the so-called A P A whose methods are as cowardly as their mo-tives are despicable. We are proud of the fact that not one Democratic candidate ever received its endorsement.

We demand the replacement of the so-called prohibitory liquor law in this state which is a prolific source of hypocrisy, perjury, blackmail and official corruption, with a stringent license local op tion system, bottomed upon the Demo cratic principle of home rule, which, if adopted, will accomplish all the good which prohibition can achieve wherever prohibition is enforced, and substituting elsewhere a regulation of the traffic in place of lawless free rum and the demoralization that accompanies unenforced

And we denounce the Republican party for, that while in possession of every ju-dicial and executive office in this state it fails to enforce the existing prohibitory law, one of its own making, and maintains it solely for purposes of humbug and partisan plunder. We denounce he Republican misrule which has in creased our state expenses from $279,000 just after the war, to $600,000 at the present time, and is still piling them up, by reckless waste and extravagance, and we demand the return to the Democratic ways of simplicity and frugality which so blessed the state in its early era of prosperity. We demand an end to the multiplication of bureaus and commissions, in whose stagnation abuses and wrongs are inevitably generated. This platform was finally adopted as presented, but before this was done J. J. A fter May 1, 1896, until October 1, 1896.

"Resolved, That the Democrats of Vermont, in convention assembled, demand the full and unlimited coinage of silver and gold into money of redemption at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the approval of any government."

There was a well-defined stir followng this interruption, but the equilibrium of the convention was soon restored when a vote was taken, and Mr. Monahan's resolution was defeated by a good majority. The platform as presented by the committee was then adopted, and at 3:30 p. m. the convention adjourned sine die.

It was long after 10 o'clock when Samuel Dickie, chairman of the national crossing the state line on Sundays, central committee, stepped upon the platform and called the convention to order. There was quite a large attendance, abundantly significant of the growth of the party, which in 1869 cast barely 7000 votes, down to the last presidential campaign, when the total vote cast was nearly 280,000. The Assessors of Quincy always leave the best until the last, and after completing the rounds of the city they are today making us their annual visit. ### THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER.

Briking Demonstration of the Respect Mexicans Have For It.

The respect which our flag commands at home and abroad, on land and on sea, has in the past been often demonstrated No incident to my mind is more striking than that which occurred in Mexico, wher Hon. Joel R. Poinsett of South Carolina was the United States minister at that court. It was immediately following an election which was bitterly fought, and the defeated party was desperate in its disappointment. The excited populace took possession of the artillery barracks and planted be eries along the streets, and the streets nowed with blood. While the firing was going on the widow of a able lot viceroy of Mexico, who lived in the adjoining house to that of our minister, trembling with fear and almost overcome with excitement, sought his home and appealed come known that a large taxpayer here to him for protection. While engaged in assuring her of full protection at his hands a shot was fired at him which passed through his coat and lodged in the shutter of his balcony window.

The maddened mob, as he disappeared, then cried out to fire in the window and break down the gates. At the very moment when passion was running highest and the men had become maddened with desperation, ready to batter down the gates Poinsett directed the secretary of the legal tion to throw out the American flag, which he did, and then the minister and secr tary, in full view of the excited crowstepped forth on the veranda beneath its folds. Instantly the shouts were hushed the fury of the mob began to abate, and the muskets dropped by the soldiers' side which a moment before had been pointed with deadly intent at the home and person of our minister. Dread and awe of the flag quieted the mob. He announced that he was the accredited minister of our gov ernment. The leaders hastily consulted the mob melted away, and guards were home to protect it and him and all wh sought protection under its roof and within its walls.

Why? It represented the dignity and across Sea street with the front wheels power of the United States and commanded nstant respect. When our flag was unfurled it did what an armed force could not have done without bloodshed. It was the voice of command. It represented the power it respected the flag which symbolized it. Let all of us unite in securing continued respect for the glorious old ban-ner and hold fast and true to that spirit which in the past has been quick to resent any insult to it .- Exchange

Too Much For the General.

When the news of General Leonidas Polk's death was received by General Grant, that general said, "Then the most perfect gentleman I ever met is gone. seemed an unspeakable offense to utter an oath or a coarse expression in his presence. His men never forgot this, and the general's dismay may be well imagined when one day he came across two privates havroad. One of the combatants, being still sober enough to recognize the officer, fell back, but the other turned and stared insolently at the handsome old man on his "Sergeant, sergeant, come and put this man in irons," called the general. And the fellow shouted: "Who in h-1 are you, old mule ear? Git off that horse, and I'll lick you for a 10 cent postage stamp! It was too much. General Polk turned and fled.—Philadelphia Times.

If I were asked to express in one word the most dominant characteristic of General Grant, I should say "loyalty." He was loyal to his country, loyal to his cause, oyal to his family, loyal to his friends This trait was in him so well developed ponds, etc that he could not understand the lack of it | which no filter can purify and in others. #### Hundreds of Lives Are Reported Lost.

Reduced to Ruins.

St. Louis, May 28.-Death and destruction reigns supreme in St. Louis and vicinity, as a result of the most terrible storm that ever visited this section of the country. So widespread is the destruction in both St. Louis and East St. Louis that it is impossible to even estimate the amount of damage and loss of Buildings of every description are in ruins, and as a result, hundreds of people are dead and wounded, but until order is restored it will be impossible to make definite statements. Reports are in circulation that seven steamers on this and East St. Louis side of the river have been sunk, with all on board. All the electric lights and trolley wires are the street car lines in the city are at a information can be secured. Btandstill.

The storm broke about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after a most oppressively hot day, and the rain began to fall. It soon developed into a fierce thunder storm, with the wind from the east. A litter later the wind had gained a velocity of 80 miles an hour, driving the rain before it, and tearing loose signs, cornices, chimneys and everything in its way. Many buildings of every description were demolished, and others set on fire by lightning and crossed

Suddenly the it had traversed the distance from the wind veered around to the west and completed the destruction. It is asserted by some of those who have traversed the dawntown part of the city that there are but few buildings in St. Louis that have not suffered in some way from the storm. Travel in every direction is dangerous, because of fallen live wires and debris lying everywhere. The wagonway of the Eads bridge, on the East St. Louis side, is a crumbling mass of mortar and stone, and parts of the the leap was taken with all the fury with tower and pier were also torn away.

At the time the storm struck the town and created such havoc, the accompanying noise was terrific. People were picked up in the streets and dashed to the ground and against buildings as though they had been the merest

One thing which aided the storm in its course of destruction was the valley which separates North and South St. Louis, along which the railroads entering the city from the east and west have their tracks and yards, and through which they have access to the Union station at Twentw-first street. This depression is some 40 or 50 feet in depth, a regular valley, in fact, and had the tornado confined itself to this channel, the loss of life would not have been so for the great destroyer.

An Interested Party Talks About the Adah Richmond Marriage Certificate.

Boston, May 28 .- One of the most sensational rumors yet circulated in the now famous Stetson will case was the report made public yesterday that the will would be contested on the ground that the signature of John Stetson, Jr., was a forgery. This information came from a friend of John Stetson, Sr., and the impression conveyed to the reporter was that Mr. Stetson, Sr., was the one who would make the contest on that ground.

A reporter called at Mr. Stetson's home in Charlestown last night, but the tenerable gentleman could not be seen. The housekeeper said he was suffering from a severe headache, and did not care to talk. Dr. O. G. Cilley, one of the witnesses to the Stetson will, when asked his opinion, replied as follows: "Yes, I think Mr. Stetson, Sr., will contest the will, but it won't be on the ground of forgery. Just what the claim will be I am not prepared to say. The signature, however, is genuine. I propped John Stetson, Jr., up in bed while he signed his name to the document, and I watched him all the time

"Some people think that because I witnessed the will, and was his attending physician also, that I am placed in an awkward position if called upon to testify in a contest case. But it would be well to remember that when I swore to the signature I was not required to give an opinion as to soundness of mind o anything else.

"Now about this Adah Richmon Seems as though someone was looking for a settlement, but I don't see how it can be secured. Iknow Adah Richmond has a certificate; I can produce a woman in 20 minutes who will tell you that John Stetson told her a good many times that he gave Adah a certificate. But that certificate was printed in the old job print office, and filled out by John himelf. It was bluff all around, and Adah wanted it simply to show her friends. "I want to say also that the papers have not yet discovered the 'veiled lady. She was an intimate friend of Stetson for 10 years past, and a widow."

Sir Edwin then discusses the crowning of the empress, and continues: These two moments, and the solemn interval when the czar knelt and prayed silently for his whole people, for his consort and for himself, while his mighty empire before leaving our kitchen, thus ensuring to outside stood erect, chiefly affected me those who find it convenient to purchase of as the more fraught with imperial and their grocer, a loaf of Bread that is clean and human significance. The scene was one of great beauty, as the imperial couple stood awaiting the service which was to proclaim them emperor and empress of all the Russias.

As the emperor and empress entered the cathedral, the choir sang a psalm. The metropolitan of St. Petersburg, as the hymn ceased, stepped forward and handed the emperor a missal, saying: "Gratias Spiritus Sancti sit Semper Tecum, Amen," and bade him read aloud the Orthodox creed, which he did in a voice audible to all. This was followed by the reading of the litany, with prayers for God's blessing upon the czar's government. The choir then sang "God Is the Lord," with the response, "Lord, Save Thy People." The metropolitans of Kieff and St. Petersburg then assisted the czar to don the imperial mantle, made of cloth of gold, lined with ermine, which was presented on two golden cushions by court chamberlains. After donning the mantle, the emperor assumed the diamond collar of St. Andrew, the metropolitan of St. Petersburg saying: "In Nomine Patris et Filli et Spiritus Sancti, Amen." Then, turning to the altar, the czar bowed his head to the prelate of Novgorod, who crossed his hands upon his majesty's forehead, produce in words. and said: "May the Lord anoint him with the oil of joy; may he clothe him with power and place upon his head a crown of precious stones of long life;

At the moment of his taking his seat on the throne, the cunnon of the arsenal thundered forth, the bells rang, and the bands, massed outside, played the national anthem.

The emperor, after merely occupying the throne for a few seconds, rose, and placing the sceptre and the globe on the table by his side, turned to the empress and, taking off his crown, touched her forehead with it. She then knelt before Guests and Subjects Thronged the Streets him on a crimson velvet cushion, when the emperor placed upon her head her own crown, which is surmounted by a large sapphire. The empress likewise received communion, but kneel ing at the sanctuary steps, as women are not allowed within the iconostas. After the communion, the emperor and empress reascended their thrones, their insignia being borne before them, and al of the court dignitaries grouped around them. The czar's chief almoner then re cited the prayers which follow the com munion. The choir then sang the "Ad multos annos" three times. The long ceremony was now concluded by each of the annointed kissing a golden crucifix containing a sacred relic, which was held up by the metropolitan of Kieff.

Amid a salvo of cannon and the clanging of bells, to which were joined the imperial couple, arrayed in their coronation splendor, emerged from the north ern door of the cathedral under a gorgeous canopy, borne aloft by four court chamberlains. The emperor, who still held the sceptre and orb, preceded the empress by a few paces. The imperial party walked around outside the Ivan Veliki, which was surrounded by tribunes filled with guests, and re-entered the cathedral square between the Ivar tower and the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael which they entered, and thence walked to the Cathedral of the Annunciation, several high dignitaries carrying the trains of their mantles. The strains of the national anthem, the joyful pealing of the bells, the thunder of the cannon and the loud, prolonged roar of the people contributed to make it a scene never to be forgotten.

After paying their devotions in the Cathedral of the Annunciation, their majesties placed themselves again under the baldachin, and were escorted to the foot of the red staircase, which the ascended. At the top, their majesties stopped, and turning toward their subjects, bowed. Then they entered the

He advanced with a graceful bow and offered to the czarina a curious bouquet. Directly the czarina's hand touched the nosegay every flower and bud took fire and at the same moment the whole of the Kremlin burst into flame. The thunder of 10.000 voices rent the skies, followed by snatches of song and shrieks of delight as the various figures in fire came into sight, mingled with howls of pain as some unfortunate person was crushed and disabled by the careless crowd. In Congress. Washington, May 27.—The house, by a vote of 165 to 69, passed the bill for the repeal of section 61 of the present tariff law, providing for a rebate on alcohol used in the arts or medicinal compounds An amendment was attached to the bill providing for a joint commission to examine and report on all questions relating to free alcohol in the next session. The opposition to the measure came almost entirely from eastern and New England states. Tariff and finance each came in for a share of consideration in the senate. Mr. Sherman succeeded in having the filled cheese bill taken up, whereupon Mr. Dubois (Rep., Ida.) offered an amendment, adding 75 cents a barrel to the tax on beer. On the question of adopting the amendment the debate became general. The bill and pending beer amendment was displaced at 2 o'clock by the bond bill. Mr. Pritchard (Rep., N. C.) spoke for and Mr. Lindsey (Dem., Ky.) against the bond bill.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 1.

COMRADES: Once more the solemn day is near when we place grateful garlands upon the graves of the honored dead, who fell in battle or perished since the war from disease or wounds received in serving their country. It is fitting at this time to dwell upon the sacrifices they made and the lessons of fortitude and patriotism they taught in their lives and their death. Though generations pass from the stage in varying succession, never can man forget the glorious days of 1861-65. History can but record their great deeds, their unselfishness. Immortal fame was won by the doers, and as the years roll by and fresh garlands replace the withered bloom of past years, the nation raises higher and still higher the honored roll of its gallant defenders.

garlands replace the withered bloom of past years, the nation raises higher and still higher the honored roll of its gallant defenders.

Oh! how dark the days seemed to us in '61, '62 and '63, looking back through the dark vista of years. We see how vital it was that at that time our armies were full of men who loved their native land more than selfish ease. Day by day the darkness of the grave covers one and another of our gallant comrades who rode out of the battle storm when the Angel of Death held high carnival, and soon "mustered out" will be written against the name of the last survivor of the War of the Rebellion, and the Grand Army of the Republic will be known only in history. That our comrades' graves are hallowed spots, worthy the flowers we this day bring as a loving tribute to their loyalty and patriotism. Let us gather around these sacred places and perform this beautiful and touching ceremony while a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of departed comrades. a survivor of the war remains to honor the memory of departed comrades.

WHAT QUINCY NEEDS

Handsomely Entertained.

A small party of the friends of the local Young Men's Christian Association visited the beautiful new building of the Malden Association Wednesday evening. This that the regular three o'clock service on building was dedicated about a month ago, in the country. It is a very attractive building of brick with brownstone trimof years has been the popular butcher at mings, five stories high. Standing on the corner of Pleasant street and Linden avenue. The lot has a frontage of 80 feet and a depth of 170.

The basement includes store cellars, boiler rooms, bath rooms, bicycle P. M. Carriers will make one delivery and storage, bowling alleys, etc.

The first floor is occupied by three large store rooms in the front, and the gymna-> secretary's desk every part can be seen. At the rear of the reception hall is a door leading into the gymnasium gallery which contains the running track and over looks the entire "gymnasiam," which is 38 by 71

On the fourth floor is the entrance to the hall gallery, also four large class rooms. On the fifth floor are the operating and desk rooms for the camera club, also additional class rooms, one for the orchestra, where it will not disturb other parts of the building. Over the gymnasium is a large room for the industrial educational classes, to itself, and unequalled in true merit. so that the noise will not be heard in the

> The cost of this building, including lot and furnishings, was about $97,000. The building throughout was furnished by the Auxiliary at a cost of nearly $6000.

Three hundred and ninety-six persons contributed toward this building. The smallest subscription was $1.00 and the largest $20,000. It is impossible to give in a limited account any adequate idea of the beauty of this building, the mosaic work, the different fire places in each room, the beautiful wood work, stained glass, carved furniture, wilton rugs and carpets, all are in perfect keeping.

It is well worth a trip to Malden any time simply to study the architecture of this building. It is evident that the people of Malden believe in giving the young men rum shop. Secretary Starrett informed the Quincy delegation that in all departments the interest had increased 300 per cent. since they moved into the new building. On this evening the gymnasium was filled with spectators interested in the first gymnastic exhibition. There were not ess than sixty person in the exhibit. At the same time the women's auxiliary was having a sociable and entertainment in the

Many people no doubt will say that it loes not pay to put so much money into a building for young men, but the same persons would point with pride to a jail or court house in Quincy costing twice that amount, and which would cost many thousands to sustain. It is cheaper to keep a young man from getting into evil habits than it is to try and reform him after he is down.

No man or woman whose boy has been saved from a drunkard's grave through the gency of such a building would say it was oo expensive. Scores of homes in Quincy which will otherwise be wrecked might be made happy if the people of Quincy would invest in a building somewhat similar to that erected by the citizens of Malden.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Who are the men that crowd the street? Why do the banners fly?
Why do the drums so mournful sound? Oh, tell me, tell me why!

Those men you yonder see approach Are remnants of the bane That fought and bled for liberty, For their endang'red land!

And where they go you wish to know? They go where buried lie Those heroes who, for love of right, Went forth to bleed and die!

Go, join the noble hearted throng! Give honor to the dead! And strew with flow'rs of gentle May Their peaceful, lonesome bed.

But listen. All we may provide To glorify the brave
Is justice merely, due to them
And to their doleful grave.

shame. Whatever am I to do?" He went down to the postoffice as a matter of form, having nothing to go down for, as the morning mail had already been delivered to him, and it was a good three hours before the evening mail would be in, and as he casually passed two or three remarks to the old postmaster sitting in the back room he fell into two or three ancient jokes with him. "By the way," said Mr. Hinghambotham, "that story of yours makes me think of the first time you told it, just after the war closed. You remember, hey?"

"Well, I don't know," said parson Bean. His mind was not so much upon the story as upon his silent comments.

"Why, you see," said Mr. Hingham-botham, crossing his knees, "this is the way it was: You came in here, and you had had a letter, you know, somebody had sent to you to give Jason Sparks. You remember Jason? He was a likely fellow enough, warn't he? Only his hair was a little mite too carrotty. The minister got his tall length out of the chair into which he had planted himself and reached forward and took the postmaster's rusty penholder.

"Hand us a sheet of paper, will you, Mr. Hinghambotham?" he said briefly. And when the letter was finished Mr Hinghambotham, not being able to see over the parson's shoulder just what was being written, received it after it was stuck together in its envelope and duly stamped, peered at it on all sides and on account of the minister's presence being unable to hold it up between the light and his eyes (a method which he religiously observed with all other postal matter), he dropped it into the box with a sigh.

"Now," said Pastor Bean, turning around and facing him, "if you can gather anything else about Jason Sparks-I have not thought of him for a score of years, or any one else that was in the same company (Company C, you know, & Vermon guards) you just let me know as quick

The Furlough of the Dead. We scatter flowers of every hue Star dropt on petals white and blue, And crimson as the scars and stains Of heroes of the purple plains,

And buds as red

As the soft lips of wounds that bled. Where nature strews fair daisies sweet Above the hearts long ceased to beat, Baptizing them with light and rain,

Can we behold with cool disdain On mounds where sleep the loved of ours? This day let fragrant odors rise Like incense to the radiant skies

From censer cups of blue and gold, Blossoms that burn above the mold Of heroes true To the old flag, red, white and blue. The cemetery's swelling graves Look like a silent sea of waves, Whose billows, standing still, suggest Not the rude storm, but peaceful rest Whom death set free, Whose furlough is eternity.

PROPOSALS FOR Coal and Wood.

QUINCY.

THE School Committee of the City of Quincy will, until Monday noon, June 8, 1896, receive proposals for furnishing and delivering about 550 tons White Ash coal, and about 400 tons Lehigh coal. The best quality of screened coal must be furnished in proper quantities and sizes to supply the several school buildings. The bids must include the trimming of the bins.

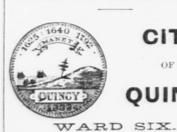

They will also receive proposals for furnishing and delivering within the school buildings about 26 cords of pine wood and about 10 cords of oak wood. The wood must be of the best quality and must be cut into lengths required by the different schools. Four cords of the pine must be sawed and split. The bids for the pine and the oak wood next be considered. wood must be separate.

buildings must be delivered on or before August 31, 1896. The wood and coal for the two new buildings shall be delivered on The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. Address sealed proposals, distinctly marked "Proposals for Fuel," on the outside
